A GREAT LOVE WAS BORN

John Beal, who played 'The Little Min ister,' wins new laurels as 'Laddie,' the Indiana farmer's son who dares to love the talented 'Princess' played by beautiful Gloria Stuart in this RKO-Dadio drama from Gene Stratton-Porter's masterpiece.

For more than a year movie fans have demanded that Edward Everett Horton be made head man of a comedy nstead of popping onto the screen briefly in every second reel to breathe life into pictures featuring less interesting personalities.

'$10 Raise,' the new Fox Film picture which comes next Monday and Tuesday, April 22 and 23, is the answer. Horton is co-featured with Karen Morley in the romance of a Romeo whose pay was enough to live on but not enough to love on. Everytime he goes in like a lion, to the boss' office, he goes out like a light, and the marriage gets indefinitely postponed.

Recent pictures which have won Horton praise, are 'The Merry Widow,' 'The Gay Divorcee,' 'Biography of a Bachelor Girl,' 'The Night Is Young' and 'All The King's Horses.'

The supporting cast is composed of Alan Dinehart, Glen Boles, Berton Churchill, Rosina Lawrence, Ray Walker, Frank Melton and William Benedict.

A love story as thrilling as a romantic dream come true, a drama that is rich in human interest and emotional power, comedy of the laughter-compelling variety, are the ingredients of RKO-Radio's 'Laddie,' hailed as a worthy successor to 'Little Women,' another masterpiece by the same producers.

Based upon Gene Stratton-Porter's world-famous story, 'Laddie' brings to the screen one of the greatest of all romances, of real life or fiction. As a matter of fact, the 'Laddie' romance is true, though presented n the guise of fiction. For Laddie was a brother of Gene Stratton-Porter, and his story is the actual narrative of what happened years ago in Indiana. This absorbingly interesting photoplay enjoys that rare distinction of being the most entertainng sort of drama copied out of the realities of life.

Laddie is the son of Hoosier farming pioneers. His father and mother have struggled to establish their prosperity out of the soil. Into the community comes a noble family, the daughter, Pamela, described as one of the most beautiful of women, dressing in the latest London styles, and making captive Laddie's heart, just as she was the envy of all the feminine hearts. Pamela is the 'Princess,' the mystery of whose coming is later cleared away in one of the most exciting climaxes in films, silent or sound.

Laddie wins his heart's desire, but only after an epic battle, which is actually a fight to establish the nobility of the soil as the peer of the nobility of aristocracy. It is a wondrously entrancing tale, genuine in its every motive, genuine in its every gesture of acting, and background. Calculated to dig deep in to audience emotions, it also has the majestic sweep of a saga of our own American life and country.

John Beal has the lead role, and Gloria Stuart is the 'Princess,' and about these two the producers have placed a perfectly balanced cast. George Stevens directed this RKO-Radio photoplay and Pandro S. Berman produced the picture. Laddie will show at the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, April 24 and 25.

Like a roster of 'who's who' in America's amusement circles reads the list of those who had a hand fashioning 'George White's 1935 Scandals,' coming next Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27 to The New Lyceum Theatre.

George White, whose 15 Broadway hits are history, conceived, produced, and directed the entire show. He picked the 200 breath-taking dancing beauties, and himself appears in the cast.

Jack Donahue,another Broadway favorite, directed the dances.

Charles LeMaire designed the 1,000 costumes.

The six songs in the show were specially composed by Jack Yellon, Herb Mapidson, Joseph Meyer, and Cliff Friend, all known for their song successes.

In the cast are such magnets ot the show world as Alice Faye, James Dunn, Ned Sparks, Lydia Roberti, Cliff Edwards, Arline Judge, Eleanor Powell, Benny Rubin, Emma Dunn.
