NOW AND THEN

EASTER

By ALICE MATHEWS

Easter Lilies are blooming again,
And roses and violets too
Reflect life and health, thus human hearts gain
A bit of the Heavenly view.
After thes harp winds, the snow and the rain,
Behold! Springtime's brightest best day;
The tomb is now empty; the cry of sharp pain
By the risen Christ taken away!
Easter, blessed Easter, now doth impart
A lesson of love, how to grow:
Consder the lilies so pure, weary heart,
And pray for the glory they know!
They toil not, they spin not, yet they illume
With purity rare, sweet and far
The dmness of any great Church, by the bloom
And the fragrance that Love has placed there.

Easter has come and gone. In spite of gray skies, it was a joyous season, and though there were few new Easter bonnets everything went off well. As the Easter season lasts for several weeks we are printing again an Esater poem.

On thing about Easter, it seems to brng so many friends together, friends who do not see one another more than once a year. And the greetings are always bright and cheerful, notwithstanding sorrow and trouble which come to us all.

A very dignified cat walked into a street car that was starting from Mt. Washington a few days ago. She discouraged all advances of her fellow passengers and took her seat and gazed out of the window. Of course no fare was asked of her, but when the round trip was ended, the conductor, thnking she had free rides enough, asked her to get off. She immediately obeyed with the same dignity that she showed when she boarded the car.

There are many jokes told of the party telephone. One young lady, as she was leaving her invalid mother, to go to her work, placed the phone on the bed and said, 'Now mother, this will keep you interested until I get back.'

Napoleon was one of the greatest solders n history. When he was asked what was the greatest essential for the making of a soldier, he said, 'A pair of good shoes.' In his last battle, when he really met his Waterloo, the German solders under General Blucher, came to the ad of Gen. Willington just in time to save the day, and it was said of them that they were well shod.

A certain make of shoe is called after Blucher to this day.

Man and His Shoes

How much a man is like old shoes!
For instance, both a soul may lose,
Both have ben tanned, both are made tight
By cobblers. Both get left and rght.
Both need a mate to be complete,
And both are made to go on feet.
They both need healing; oft are sold
And both in time turn all to mold.
With shoes the last is first; with men
The first shall be last; and when
The shoes wear out, they are mended new.
When men wear out, they are men dead too.
They both are trod upon and both
Will tread on others nothing loath.
Both have their ties and both incline
When polished, in the world to shine;
And both peg out. Now would you choose
To be a man or be hs shoes?

—Unknown.

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a home, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.

B. R. FELLOWS,
ar27 Funeral Director.

NICE SIGNS OLD AGE PENSION

WIL BECOME EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Governor Harry Nice this week signed the old-age pension bill which will mean a monthly contribution, not to exceed $30 for all persons over 65 years of age who are destitute and without means of supoprt.

Under the present set up it is apparent that those who will be among the first to receive old age pension are the aged who are now receiving relief.

At the present time seventeen of the twenty at the Kent County Alms House are over 65 years of age and should be eligible for old age pension. There is a question however as to how they will be regarded by those who will administer the relief. If the old age pension will apply to those at the alms house it will mean a saving of approximately $4,000 a year.

KENT COUNTY WINS HEALTH AWARD

To Receive Plaque Monday for Health Extension Work in County

JUDGED BEST COUNTY IN EASTERN STATES

The United States Chamber of Commerce has just released the information that Kent county has won first place in the Eastern Division of the 1934 Rural Health Conservation Contest conducted by the American Public Health Association and the United States Public Health Service.

This contest differs from the city contest in which Chestertown won first award in its population class in 1931 and honorable mention in 1932 and 1933. The contest in which the recent award is given is a county-wide contest in which full time county health units compete regardless of size. The country as a whole is divided into six divisions and Kent County competes with other health departments in what is known as the Eastern division including the states of Kentucky, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and the District of Columbia. Counties having full time health units can compete where there is a Chamber of Commerce affiliated with the National Chamber of Commerce. Other counties receiving honorable mention in this division were Davidson County, Tennessee; Ohio County, W. Va.; Rutherford County, Tennessee; Washington County, Maryland; Forsythe County, N. C., and Sullivan County, Tennessee.

The purpose of this contest is to stimulate more and continued interest in Public Health work, to eliminate premature deaths and the reduction of economic losses due to unnecessary illness. It seeks to accomplish this purpose by enlisting the active interests of business men in Public Health and by encouraging a more unified and coordinated program on the part of various groups and organizations interested or engaged in the promotion of the public's health. Each participating rural health unit is visited by an expert

CHILD HEALTH DAY MAY 1

DR. KNOX TO HOLD CLINIC HERE

A call for the nation-wide observance of May Day, the first of May as Child Health Day, has been made in a special proclamation by President Roosevelt.

The country-wide celebration of May Day, as Child Health Day, is the outgrowth of a suggestion made eleven years ago by the American Child Health Association. A few years later the plan was given official sanction by an Act of Congress. Because the health needs of the children of each community are of fundamental importance in all activities for public health, Child Health Day is especially sponsored by the Conference of State and Provncial Health Authorities of North America, the official organization of State Health Officers, which constitues the National Committee for the observance. Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, is the Maryland representative on the National Committee and Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, is Chairman of the State Committee for Child Health Day. The committee includes representatives of State, City and County Departments of Health and of Education; State and County Medical Societies; service clubs; and of a wide range of organizations interested in the health and well-being of the children and young people in Maryland.

CLINIC HERE MAY 1

Kent County's part in the Child Health Day program will consist of a pre-school clinic to be personally conducted by Dr. J. H. Mason Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene and chairman of the State Committee for Child Health Day.
