WITH THE OLD age pension bill now a law and suported by State and Federal funds, one of the most immediate uses for pension funds could be their application to those now in the Kent County Alms House. In view of the fact that tax payers of Kent County are paying directly in the pension fund through the sales tax they have a right to expect to be relieved of much of the Alms House burden. Of the twenty inmates of this institution seventeen are over sixty five years of age and should be eligible for pension. If relief agencies are going to consider them amply provided for and thereby not eligible for pension relief it will be in keeping with the present system of heaping the tax burden on those who are struggling to continue in the business life of the community. Immediate action on the part of those in authority should be taken to relieve Kent County of the Alms House burden through application of pension and prevent duplicate taxation on the business interests of the county.

ACCORDING TO A statement made at the Chestertown Rotary by Senator Arthur Brice, guest speaker, Maryland can rightfully expect $26,000,000 as it share of the public works fund set aside for self-liquidation projects. He stated further that the Chesapeake Bay Bridge is at present the only self liquidating project now under consideration in the State. This further adds to our argument that Governor Nice cannot afford to veto the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Bill in spite of the opposition being raised by organized real estate owners on Kent Island.
