NOW AND THEN

THE HOUSE AND THE ROAD

The little Road says Go,
The little house says stay:
And O, it is bonny here at home,
But I must go away.

The little road, like me,
Would seek and turn and know;
And forth I must to learn the things
The little road would show!

And go I must, my dears,
And journey while I may.
Though heart be sore for the little House
That hath no word but stay

Maybe no other way
Your child could ever know
Why a little house would have you stay,
When a little Road says 'Go.'
JOSEPHINE PEABODY

Yes, certainly the little Road says 'Go.'

What a difference the good roads system makes in, our way of living. It has made travel very easy.

Some one was saying some time ago that good roads have revolutionized the mountain people. A few years ago they hardly went from their homes, for the roads were almost impassible. Now they can go as they choose. Another thing is the auto that is every where present making travel a thing of hours when it used to be a thing of days and weeks.

But History tells us that good roads were the ruin of Rome, that the people were so heavily taxed to keep them up that they finally lost heart and failed. Perhaps the little Road says 'Go' too often to this generation and the little house's voice has very little influence.

If the Bay Bridge is to be built, the voice will become fainter and fainter, I guess, and our town will become a suburb of a great city.

May is here with her sunshine and her flowers. The color scheme is changed from the gold of April, with her forsytha jonquils and daffodiles to the lavendar of Wistoria, hanging in graceful clusters from the walls, lilacs, and iris, interpersed with Spirea, and blossoms of pink and white. The trees have come out in full leaf and every prospect pleases those who love to watch the various changes of nature.

Whatever people can say of the President, and there is criticism all around? when one sees the enormous sums demanded for his many projects, yet when one hears his cordial voice over the radio, saying 'My Friends' all is forgiven, and we realize, that while he is building up large taxes for posterity, he is spending the money on conservation of the country's resources which will make it more valuable to those who follow. No one knows what the future has in store. Had some one predicted the radio and air plane centuries ago they would be thought lunatics. Perhaps so much greater things will be developed that our present world of affairs will seem very small to those who come after us.

AT WORLD'S FAIR

Bessie—You said that you were going to encircle the earth before you settled down. Do we have to wait so long before we marry?
Arthur—It won't take long. You're all the world to me.

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a home, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.
We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.
B. R. FELLOWS,
ar27 Funeral Director.

NO ACTION ON BRIDGE

NUMEROUS REPORTS FROM numerous close friends of Governor Nice as to the fate of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge indicate that the Governor apparently does not know what he is going to do about it. Some of these reports state that he will eventually sign the bill, others are that he will not sign it and in the meantime those vitally interested in the project are wondering what is causing the delay. Probably the hold up can be explained in the fact that the bill deprived the Governor of the power to appoint the bridge commission and appointing is one of the things that he is particularly fond of. It may be possible to arrange for a few resignations which would probably solve the whole problem.

POULTRY AND EGGS SCARCE

A scarcity in poultry and eggs in the country is shown by the following reports from the various cities.
Washington, D. C.—Shortage of hens throughout the country is almost certain to result in a poultry and egg famine in 1935. View with alarm meat shortage, new crop of beef will not be available for 3 years.
California—Egg production nearly 50 per cent below five-year average in world"s largest poultry producing sections. No chance for increased production this year. Rapidly advancing prices expected.
Chicago—Last year's drought in middle west now showing serious reduction in receipts of poultry and eggs. Big packers are alarmed over prospect of tremendous shortage this spring and advancing prices next fall.
St. Louis—Poultry and egg packers are making strenuous effort to get storage requirements for next winter. Expect much higher prices.

C. H. S. TO PRESENT PLAY

The tenative date for the Chestertown High School play has been set for Tuesday, May 14th.

APPOINTED COUNTY COMMISSIONER

WAS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR THAT OFFICE IN NOVEMBER

Governor Harry Nice appointed Mr. George T. Williams, of Worton, a member of the Board of County Commissioners for Kent County this week to fill the unexpired term of the late Samuel C. Loller, who died suddenly on April 16th.
Mr. Williams, prominent farmer of the Third District has been active in Republican Politics in the county for a long period of years and was a defeated candidate for that office in November. His appointment apparently carries for 4 years until December 1st, 1938, and will apparently not be affected by the general election in November, 1936.
Mr. Williams qualified for his new office this week and met as a member of the Board at the regular meeting on Tuesday.
The name of Mr. Morris Bramble, of Fairlee, another prominent Republican leader in the county and close personal friend of Governor Nice was mentioned also as a possible candidate for this office, but it is thought in Republican circles here that Mr. Bramble is slated for one of the State appointments.

CHILD'S HEALTH

May 1 is apointed Child Health Day, Kent County has won her laurels as leading in the Health Contests.
A letter from Mrs. Evelyn Harris this morning recalls to our minds the struggle that a few interested teachers led by Mrs. Harris, made for a better baby contest; how after many trials the babies were brought and judged by Dr. J. H. Mason Knox, Jr., the same Dr. who inspects them now. Mrs. Harris encloses a duplicate card of one Barney Reginald Cooper in a contest held at Worton in June, 1914. Childs Health has grown in leaps and bounds in the 21 years since then.
Now there is a clinic every year where babies are examined weighed and prescribed for and the mothers are also looked after. The babies that were judged at that first meeting, have gone out in the world, but it would be a fine thing if they could all meet again.
