

PRIVATE WORLD

Claudette Colbert is starred in the role of a woman doctor in Paramount's 'Private Worlds', the Walter Wanger production coming to the New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, May 13 and 14th.

In her first motion picture appearance since she won the Motion Picture Academy Award for 1934, Claudette Colbert proves her right to that prize and again demonstrates her startling versatility in a role entirely different from her past ones. The picture is Walter Wanger's psychological love drama, 'Private Worlds,' which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, May 3 and 4.

Cast in the leading role of a daring and intelligent picture that sweeps aside all the old illusions about love to show the inhibitions, complexes and repressions that are the true villains of romance, Miss Colbert appears as a trimly efficient, cool and capable woman doctor; a woman seemingly without personal affections but with a great love for the suffering.

Miss Colbert and Joel McCrea are carrying on important scientific work in their posts at a hospital for the insane when the appointment of a new doctor, Charles Boyer, as head of the hospital, disrupts their little world.

McCrea is attached to his quiet and dependent little wife, Joan Bennett, but he is lured from her by Boyer's vampire sister. The antagonism between Miss Colbert and Boyer flares up. Changes in hospital routine causes riots in the danger ward and a serious situation.

Finally Joan Bennett, who has learned of her husband's infidelity, collapses and is faced with a possible loss of her mind. In her desperate and successful efforts to unsnarl the tangle of all their lives, Miss Colbert reveals herself in her true colors. She learns that she has taken refuge from love in the memory of a dead sweetheart and that her apparent hatred for Boyer actually conceals a growing love for him.

Phyllis Bottome's successful novel of the same name furnished the original for 'Private Worlds,' which was skillfully directed by Gregory LaCava.

Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett render particularly praiseworthy performances in roles that give them ample opportunity for real display of their talents. Sam Hinds, Jean Rouverol and Big Boy Williams stand out in minor roles.

A new romantic team, composed of Cary Cooper and Anna Sten, flashes across the screen of the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, May 15 and 16, in the leading roles of Samuel Goldwyn's 'The Wedding Night,' the love story of a New York author and a New England farm girl.

Goldwyn, with his usual skill, and this time aided by Kingfi Vidor, has expertly combined love, romance, excitement, suspense and tragedy into a film that also depicts the ageless and bitter social struggle between the old and the new generations in America.

Cooper, as the young author, proves that he is as competent a love-maker as an adventurer, and Miss Sten demonstrates that she can portray the character of a modern American girl with the same great emotional ability that marked her earlier foreign roles in 'Nana' and 'We Live Again.'

Siegfried Rumann sets out to be a hated character as the stern, cruel father of Miss Sten, and succeeds admirably. Helen Vinson moves with swift, easy steps through the role of Cooper's luxury-loving, fashionable wife, and Ralph Bellamy appears every inch the sturdy plowman and young farmer he is supposed to be.

King Vidor again displays his genius at taking a simple story, one dealing with every-day men and women, and creating from it a dramatic, emotional and long-to-be-remembered motion picture. It is significant that he recently was awarded the League of Nations' gold medal for 'Our Daily Bread,' named as the best motion picture in the world during the past year. 'The Wedding Night,' released through United Artists, should top your must-be-seen movie list.

JAMES G. BECK,

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

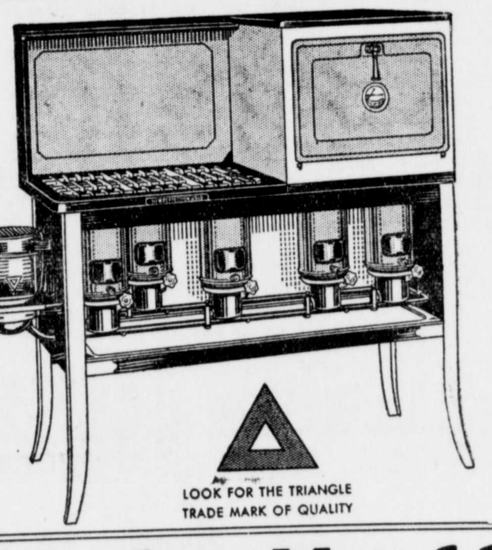

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.
