Several others are planning to attend but have not made definite plans. Betterton Club has not selected its delegate yet.

The Short Course or College Week for women is a week of 'opportunities.' Besides the regular routine, Professor Zanzing of the National Recreation Association will have charge of the music. It is to be known as 'Singing Week.'

The sight-seeing trip to Washington is worth the cost of the full week.

Any one interested in the Short Course see Miss Schellinger, the Home Demonstration Agent. Registrations must be in by June 8th.

CHESTERTOWN WINS CLOSE GAME

Chestertown base ball team won over Church Hill in an extra inning game played at Hopewell last Sunday.

Church Hill lead at the end of the third inning 4 to 1 but was tied by the locals in the seventh. In the tenth Kennedy came home on Timko's outfield sacrifice. Timko and Oliff lead the hitting for the locals with 3 each.

NOW AND THEN

NATURE'S MESSAGE

Down along the winding river
Pussy willows wake from sleep.

Little grasses in the meadows
Through the dark ground gently peep.

Daffodils gay and yellow
Rub their eyes and look around.

Rows and rows of dainty tulips
In their garden beds are found.

Lovely, golden-hearted lilies.
Shed their beauty far and near.

Robin redbreast in the treetop
Sings and sings a song of cheer.

Did you ever stop to wonder
Why they're here on Easter Day?

Every one has some glad message;
Listen, friends, to what they say.

Pussy willows tell of courage.
Little grasses say, 'Be true.'

Daffodillies softly whisper,
'Scatter joy, whate'er you do.'

Tulips bid us live for others.
Lillies say, 'Look up above.'

Robins sing the Easter story
Full of Easter hope and love.

GREATNESS

A gushing girl once approached the vast benignity of Gilbert K. Chesterton and cried out, 'Oh, Mr. Chesterton, it must be wonderful to be so famous that, wherever you go, people know who you are!' The great man shook his head, 'If they don't,' he said despondently, 'they ask.'—'This is Woolcot Speaking.'

Traffic Light: A little green light that changes to red as your car approaches.

Subway motto: The public be jammed.—N. Y. Post.

There is a little poem called 'The Changed Cross.' It tells of one who had a cross to bear. She looked at the crosses of all her friends; for every one has some cross to bear, but she felt that her own was much harder than the others.

One night she dreamed that her Lord came to her and told her to choose her own cross. Many lay before her, some covered with jewels, some with flowers, others were glittering gold, and sparkling diamonds.

She eagerly seized a jeweled one, but its weight was so heavy that she laid it down.

Then she took up the one covered with flowers, but there were briers on it and she gladly laid that back. One by one she tried them but none of them seemed to be the one she wished. She picked up the last one and said 'This, dear Lord, is one I can bear,' Then a light shone upon it and she saw her own dear cross and she picked it up gladly knowing that it suited her better than any other one did.

OH KEEP YOUR TEMPER DOWN!

The story is told of a father who had a very much loved son: but the son was possessed of a very violent temper. So his father devised this plan. Whenever his son gave way to his temper calling people names and throwing things around the father would hammer a nail in a post that stood in the yard, and every time he did a good deed or performed an act of kindness he would draw a nail out. It was a good lesson to his son, and the nails in the post were becoming less and less. Finally his father called him and said, 'I am drawing the last nail out.' But to his surprise his son burst into tears. 'Why, Son, I thought you would be so glad.' But father, the nails are out, but the scars are still there.'

THE PUPPY AND THE 'FRAIDY CAT

When first the kitten spied the dog
She caught her furry breath;
She couldn't run, she couldn't move,
Oh, she was scared to death!
All she could do was stare at him
And shake and wonder why
He didn't make a pass at her—
He didn't even try!

If she had been a braver cat
Who stirred and moved around
She might have crept up on the dog.
And then she would have found
That all the trembling fears she knew
Were so much tommy-rot
The dog, you see, is nothing but
A china flower pot.

Governor Nice Signs Bay Bridge Bill

APPOINTS CHESAPEAKE BAY AUTHORITY

FEDERAL FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR CONSTRUCTION

Governor Harry Nice signed the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Bill Friday afternoon which according to authorities assures the construction of the bridge.

The signing of the bill by Governor Nice opens the door for the construction and apparently the only question now is when construction will start. According to a recent statemtnt by the Governor the way has been paved for construction to start before January 1, 1936.

The only obstacle in the way of the Federal loan was the possibility that the application might interfere with the program of improvement of the Chesapeake and Deleware Canal but this was overcome with the announcement Friday morning that $5,107,000 had been recommended for the improvement of this waterway.

Appoints Bridge Commission

Upon the resignation last week by Messrs. Harrington and Brooks from the Bridge Commission, the way was cleared for Governor Nice to appoint all three men on the Commission which is known as the Chesapeake Bay authority. Following these resignations, Governor Nice has named Mr. Walter Graham, president of the First National Bank of Baltimore as chairman and associate members named were: Messrs. Robert Hopkins, and Ralph Grier, prominent business men of Baltimore. The personel of this committee is considered satisfactory to all interested in the bridge.

DR. BEACHLEY REELECTED PRESIDENT

DR. MEAD GUEST SPEAKER AT ANNUAL MEETING

At the third annual meeting of the Mid-Atlantic Section o fthe American Student Health Association held at the George Washington University Medical School on May 15th, Dr. R. G. Beachley, Director of Health at Washington College, was again elected President for 1935 and 1936. Other officers were Dr. Mary Hague Hodge of Goucher College, Vice President; and Dr. Katharine Chapman, Director of Physical Education of Women at George Washington University, Secretary and Treasurer.

Dr. Mead, President of Washington College, attended and addressed the meeting on 'The College President's Viewpoint on Student Health Activities.'

The Mid-Atlantic Section is one of the divisions of the American Student Health Association which is made up of the Directors of Student Health Services in the various colleges and universities having this type of work.

The annual meeting of the National Association is held in New York each year on December 28th.

The Mid-Atlantic Section, of which Dr. Beachley is President, consists of Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, W. Virginia, and the District of Columbia. The annual meeting of this section occurs at the George Washington Medical School in Washington on the third Wednesday of May of each year.

Appearing on the program this year with Dr. Mead was Dr. Warren E. Forsythe, Director of Student Health at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan; and Dr. Marian Hague Rea, Director of Physical Education of Women at the University of Pennsylvania.

ELECTRIC LINE FOR QUAKER NECK

Mr. H. A. Kratzer, Jr., received a letter this week from the Chestertown Light and Power Company stating that plans are underway for extension of an electric power line to the town of Pomona. This new line will afford electricity to all farm property along that route. A further extension of this line will probably be requested by residents living further down in Quaker Neck.

JURY DRAWN IN STANT MURDER CASE

At the time of going to press the jury had been drawn at Centreville in the trial of Clarence Stant charged with murder of Gilbert Williams at Church Hill on Tuesday evening of last week.

Thirty eight jurymen were called before the panel was selected. The trail started Friday afternoon with Judges Shehan and Knotts on the Bench.

WORK RELIEF HALTED HERE

STATES TAKES OVER COUNTY ROADS

All work relief in Kent County was halted last week which resulted in the laying off of 75 men who had been working on rural school repair and county roads.

Under the new regulations all those who have been working on the work relief program will be required to re-register and their case will be reviewed anew. When the work relief halted approximately sixty percent of the school carpentry work 30 per cent of the painting had been completed.

The relief work is now confined to 150 cases which includes those who are sick, destitute and aged, and at the present time there is no indication when relief work will be resumed.

State Takes Over Roads

The State Roads Commission took over the maintenance of the county road system this week but lack of funds will confine the work to scraping and ditching the roads as there are no funds available for new material.

According to a statement made this week by Mr. Rolph Townshend, a large quantity of slag is needed to put Kent County road system in proper condition.

WASHINGTON TO PLAY DELAWARE TODAY

LOSES TO MARYLAND—DEFEATS LOYOLA

Washington College will play Delaware this afternoon, Saturday. This game will be interesting due to the athletic rivalry of these two peninsula colleges and also due to the home run hitting displayed at the game played at Newark three weeks ago.

Lost To Maryland Wednesday

Billy Nicholson did practically all of the hitting for Washington against Maryland at College Park on Wednesday, getting 3 out of the 5 credited to the team, one of his being a home run. Up until the ninth inning he was the only Washington player to get a hit and in the ninth Berry and Reinhart each got a single. He batted in 2 of his team's 3 hits.

The fourth inning proved Washington's downfall when a tripple and home run scored 4 runs for Maryland. This game made an even brake between the two teams, Washington having won the first game at Chestertown.

DEFEATS LOYOLA 12 TO 0

Washington ran roughshod over Loyola in Baltimore on Thursday to win 12 to 0. The sensation of the game was Billy Nicholson's hitting, he having a perfect day at the bat with four hits and one walk out of 5 times at bat, one of which was a 2 bagger. Tignor, who is noted for committing grand larceny when he gets on base, stole 4 bases during the game.

Jimmie White, making his debut on the mound for Washington held Loyola to five scattered hits while Charlie Berry shone in the infield as well as at bat getting 3 of his team's 11 hits.

By winning over Loyola, Washington and Mount St. Marys stand undefeated in the State Collegiate base ball league.

ATTEND ALUMNI MEETING

The Washington Chapter of the Washington College Alumni Association met on Tuesday evening at Hotel Washington in Washington, D. C.

Doctor and Mrs. Gilbert Mead, Col. H. S. Brown, Dean Jones, Prof. Solandt, Mrs. Fox and Miss Russell attended the meeting from Chestertown.

KRATZER FARM SOLD

The Kratzer farm, located in Quaker Neck on Chester River was sold this week by Mr. Henry Kratzer, Sr., to Mr. F. G. Deer, of Philadelphia. The sale included the old home and outbuildings and most of the farm land. The price was $8,500.

Mr. Kratzer reserved part of the water front for building lots.

All members and friends of the organization are cordially invited to attend.

DISCUSS LOCAL INSURANCE RATES

UNDERWRITER'S REPRESENTATIVE APPEARS BEFORE FIRE COMPANY

Mr. W. H. Hall, representing the Middle Underwriters' Association, appeared before the Chestertown Fire Company Monday Night and discussed he features that regulate the insurance rate in the business section of Chestertown.

The insurance rates for this town is based on a survey made in 1928 and includes many deficiencies that have been corrected since that time.

The deficiencies as of 1928 were principally the water supply and pumping station, water mains, fire plugs and lack of sufficient fire hose. It was pointed out that with improvements already made and those that can be made with very little expense could reduce the rate here at least 10 cents.

Among the larger improvements that involve an expense that is not possible at the present time is 1200 feet more of fire hose, larger water mains and overhauling of valves in water mains.

It is understood that Mr. Hall will return to Chestertown at a future date and check the improvements made since the survey of 1928 with the idea of recommending a reduction in the insurance rates. His visit to Chestertown was at the request of Mr. Henry Kratzer, local insurance agent.
