Buckingham Palace Was Not for Royal Residence

Buckingham palace was not planned as a dwelling place for Britain's kings, observes a writer in the New York Times. It became a royal residence by accident rather than by design. In 1609 James I decided to try his hand at producing silkworms, which were thought to have possibilities in commerce. So he set aside some ground near Westminster for the planting of mulberry trees, upon which silkworms feed. The plan failed, but the ground had become established as a garden, which later became a place for public entertainment and remained a fashionable resort until after the Restoration.

The first house known to have been built on part of the site of the present palace was Goring house, named after Lord Goring. It was later burned and Lord Arlington, who purchased it from Lord Goring's son, built another. This was bought by the duke of Buckingham, who later pulled it down and built a house of brick and stone in Dutch design, called Buckingham house.

Buckingham house first came into royal hands when George III in 1761 bought it for £20,000 from Sir Charles Sheffield (a natural son of Buckingham's) and moved there from St. James' palace. An act of parliament settled the palace on Queen Charlotte in 1775, and it was then known as the Queen's Palace. George IV had Nash rebuild almost the whole of it.

TOLCHESTER COMPANY,

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934, C.M.Co.

LAUGH AT REPAINTING 'Til 1940 . . . Paint With

Lucas Tinted Gloss House Paint

Four to five years used to be dangerously long between house-paintings, but not when you use Lucas Tinted Gloss. Here's how it will protect your house: Every brushful will spread an even coat of metallic and lasting pigments across the surface with a solid coating that weather can scarcely affect. And pure linseed oil will sink into the pores, hold tight, and never dry out enough to flake or chip.

Years from now that surface will be a little thinner but it won't be cracked. It will still serve to protect your home against sun and rain and heat and cold. It will be the most inexpensive paint you ever used.

Tell your painter, "Use Lucas Tinted Gloss." He'll appreciate it. He knows its quality. He knows that it keeps itself clean and white for years. Get a color card today. You'll like the many attractive shades.
