AT THE MOVIES NEXT WEEK

In 'The Informer," from which the RKO-Radio's screen play was adapted, Liam O'Flaherty, the novelist, created a truly amazing character. That character is Gypo Nolan, the primitive, Irish giant who is portrayed by Victor McLaglen and whose titantic downfall is the theme.

Liam O'Flaherty has created out of Ireland's bitter revolution a quasi-fictional being who, stirred by desire, harrowed by fear, torn by remorse, exalted by illusions of grandeur, and haunted by superstition, provides for Victor McLaglen what that actor regards as the greatest role of his career.

The characterization has the virility of the sergeant in 'The Lost Patrol,' yet it is much broader in its dramatic scope, because of the love element vividly combined in it.

'The Informer' w as directed by John Ford, and in the strong cast are Margot Grahame, Heather Angel, Preston Foster, Wallace Ford and Una O'Connor.

'The Informer' comes to the New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, June 17 and 18.

The tinsel glamour is rapidly being rubbed off gangster chiefs and the police and detectives are getting their share of the honors in the new pictures issuing from Hollywood.

Paramount's 'The Glass Key,' one of the latest to de-glorify the underworld 'big shot,' is now coming on Wednesday and Thursday, June 19 and 20 to the New Lyceum Theatre, and stars George Rafte with Edward Arnold and Claire Dodd.

'The Glass Key' is the screen adaptation of Dashiell Hammett's widely read novel of the same name. Hammett, who achieved a measure of fame with his 'The Thin Man' and 'The Maltese Falcon,' was for many years a police reporter and a Pinkerton operative. In matching his wits with the underworld gentry he learned virtually all there was to know about crookdom.

The story revolves about the political master of a big city who cracks down on the petty grafters and criminals in his area. When the brother of the woman he loves dies under suspicious circumstances, the underworld forces combine to pin the blame for the crime on him.

How the politician's friend and counselor upsets the nefarious plans of the conspirators, although he almost loses his life in the performance, is the subject matter of the latter part of the film.

Frank Tuttle directed 'The Glass Key' which also features Rosalind Keith, Ray Milland and Charles Richman.

'Air Hawks,' Columbia's thrilling air romance, is the new film coming to the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22 as part of a double feature show. Ralph Bellamy, Wiley Post and Tala Birell head the cast with Douglass Dumbrille, Victor Kilian and Billie Seward supporting.

Bellamy has a strong masculine role as the head of an air transport company while Miss Birell is in the employ of his enemies who are seeking to put him out of business by a campaign of sabotage against his planes which results in the cracking up of three of them and the death of two pilots.

Bellamy's enemies contrive a death-ray machine and set out to burn all his ships in mid-air. The desperate hunt to find the machine and make it possible for Wiley Post, the famous round-the world flier seen in person, to make his cross-country stratosphere fight in safety fills the production with tense excitement.

If you like action, aviation and romance, this is your film!

'Air Hawks' was directed by Al Rogell, noted as a maker of successful screen dramas.

Riding hard, with guns blazing and hoofs flying, Tim McCoy rides straight into the hearts of action lovers with another screen adventure in Columbia's 'Square Shooter, which coming to the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22 at part of a double feature show.

Every minute of the time that fightin' Tim is on the screen there is action and thrills enough for the most jaded, and romance that is gay and exciting. Jacqueline Wells, a pretty and talented young screen actress, has the feminine lead and enacts her role with verve and zest.

Briefly, the story concerns the efforts of McCoy to win back a ranch inherited from his uncle which a crooked banker has cheated from Tim by forging the will of the deceased. It's a thrilling, exciting battle every minute of the time and is a surefire tonic for whatever ails you.

Others in the cast of 'Square Shooter' are John Darrow, Charles Middleton, Wheeler Oakman and J. Farrell MacDonald. David Selman directed.

Two old settlers, confirmed bachelors, sat in the backwoods. The conversation drifted from politics and finally got around to cooking.

'I got one o' them cookery books once, but I never could do nothing with it.'

'Too much fancy work in it, eh?'

'You've said it Every one o' them recipes began the same way: 'Take a clean dish—' and that settled me.'
