THE SUNDAY EVENING SERVICES

The Ministerial Association of Chestertown takes this opportunity of inviting the people of the Community to the Union Services to be held in the Park each Sunday evening in July and August, and also the first Sunday in September, at 7.30 p. m. These services will be under the direction of the Ministerial Association, each Minister taking charge and preaching the sermon in turn, or securing some one to supply for him. Dr. Litsinger, of the Methodist Protestant Church, will preach this coming Sunday evening, July 7th. Music for the hymns and special selections will be furnished by the Band of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company. Should the weather be rainy, the services will be held in Emmanuel Church.

It is worth while to note the primary objects of these Union services, which are:

1st, The promotion of Christian Fellowship and Unity by a united worship and praise of our Heavenly Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ:

2nd, The Broadcasting the Gospel and Christian Message to many who are members of no Church and who do not frequently attend the Church services:

3rd, Arousing interest in and assistance for the Several Churches or Congregations themselves, which are striving to carry on the Work of Christ in this Community.

We will greatly appreciate your presence and co-operation.

(Signed) The Chestertown Ministerial Association,
Charles L. Atwater, President,
(Rector of Emmanuel P. E. Church.)
Frank White, Secretary.
(Minister of the M. E. Church.)
Wm. H. Litsinger, D. D.,
(Minister of the M. P. Church.)

NOW AND THEN

MILTONS ODE ON HIS BLINDNESS

When I consider how my light is spent
Ere half my days in this dark world and wide;
And that one talent which is death to hide
Lodged in me useless, though my soul more bent
To serve therewith my Maker, and present
My true account lest his returning chide;
Doth God exact day labor light denied,
I fondly ask? But Patience, to prevent
That murmur, soon replies, God doth not need
Either man's works or his own gifts; who best
Bear his mild yoke, they serve him best: his state
Is kingly; thousands at his bidding speed,
And post o'er land and ocean without rest;
They also serve who only stand and wait.

In passing the radio we heard this words, 'Milton was a keen humorist,' We did not have time to hear more, nor to know the name of the announcer. In fact, Milton was, and he is to many people, the author of that sublime work, Paradise Lost and other like poems. We think of him, as a stern puritan, alone in his blindness while his daughters rebelled against reading to him, and writing down his wonderful poems.

But he had had his sight for forty three years and in that time, wrote those most beautiful of poems, L'Allegro, Il Pensarosa and Sycidas with numerous treatieses on Religion and Government. And, although his wife left him after being married to him for a month, because she could not stand the sterness of her husband's way of life, yet she returned and begged his pardon on her knees.

L'Allegro is a perfect gem, it is full of light joyousous. It sings as one reads it. 'Come and trip it as you go, On the light fantastic toe.'

What a difference blindness was then from what it is now. There was no braille, no radio, no typewriter. Now everything is done to lighten their afflictions. And they always have the memory of the beauty which they have seen, and do not have to look upon ugly forbidding things.

July has come to us again. Every thing is fresh and green. In fact no June day, how ever rare and perfect it is, could surpass this July day, the breeze so fresh and fragrant, the sky so blue with white clouds floating by. The Fourth of July is nearing, and every one hopes it will be as fair; Our Nation's birthday: When we hear prophesies of coming evil to our country; of overwhelming taxes to come, of rumors of war any how at the present time it is all right and with Longfellow we can say:

Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, Strong and great:
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate.

It is wrong to be rich, did you know it? Those of very small means can look down upon the millionaires with righteous superiority. 'Share your wealth!' is the cry of the demagogue. But it is rather sad to know that Pierpont Morgan is not to have his yacht this year, that his priceless miniatures have been sold. And it is a sad fact also to know that the women in this country own 80 per cent. of all the wealth. But they, like the people before the Revolution, are rebelling against the taxes and have sent protests to the President. What will they do about it?

Virginian Heads Rotary

Ed R. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va., was elected president of Rotary International at the recent convention of that organization held at Mexico City. The Chestertown Rotary Club was represented at the meeting by Everett S. Lambden, its secretary-treasurer. The new Rotary head is in the railroad commissary contracting business and served as vice-president of Rotary International in 1933-34.

27,800,000 TELEPHONE CALLS MAY

In May operating revenues of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of Baltimore City, serving the State of Maryland, amounted to $1,136,870. Operating expenses, including taxes amounted to $891,778. Net operating income amounted to $245,092.

Taxes in May amounted to $137,694, as compared with $134,865 in the same month in 1934.

Telephone users in Maryland made more than 27,800,000 calls in May which is slightly more than the number made n May, 1934.

There were 208,544 telephones in service at the end of the month, 6,427 more than there were in service in May of last year.

B. SCOTT STOKES DIED SUDDENLY JUNE 29

B. Scott Stokes, son of the late John H. O. and Katherine Friel Stokes, died suddenly June 29, 1935, following a heart attack, on board the Old Bay Line steamer, Governor Warfield, enroute to Norfolk, Va.

Mr. Stokes was educated in the public schools of Kent County and at Washington College, Chestertown, Md. He served with the A. E. F. in France during the World War and in recent years had been superintendent of the Lukens Dredging and Contracting Corporation, of Baltimore, Md.

He had been in Wakefield, Rhode Island, since last December where he was supervising an engineering project of the Lukens Corporation. This project was completed the latter part of June and Mr. Stokes returned to Maryland, June 27, to visit his family before going to Elizabethtown, North Carolina, where the Lukens Corporation had another contact in progress.

After seeing practically all members of his immediate family in Maryland and in Washington, D. C., and many of his friends, Mr. Stokes drove to Baltimore where he took the boat for Norfolk, accompanied by Mr. George W. Lukens, president o fthe Lukens Corporation.

He is survived by three brothers, John F., of Sudlersville, Md., Paul C., of Betterton, Md., Edwin H. O., of Washington, D. C., and four sisters, Mrs. John Teunis and the Misses Christine, Celeste, and Elizabeth Stokes, of Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 1, from the home of Paul C. Stokes, at Betterton, Md., with Requiem Mass at Sacred Heart Church, Chestertown, and interment in Chester Cemetery, Chestertown, Md. The bearers were his three brothers, John F., Paul C., and Edwin H. O. Stokes, his brother in law, John Teunis, of Washington, and Clarence Newsome and George Sutton, of Betterton.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Pleasantville, N. Y., had motored to Kent the day before where they attended a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. D. Makwell, Worton Point, for the benefit of Kent and Queen Anne Hospital. Mrs. Johnson, editor of 'Garden Digest,' under her maiden name of Dorothy Biddle spoke on Flowers.

Besides his widow he leayes two children.

His remains were brought to the Usilton Funeral Home and rested until Monday when they were carried to Woodlawn Cemetery N. Y. C. Burial service was held at 2 p. m. in charge of Rev. Edward I. Campbell, pastor at Pleasantville.

Members of Pleasantville Rotary Club of which Mr. Johnson was a member acted as bearers.

Ralph H. Usilton, Funeral Director.

WILLIAM R. CROW DIES SUDDENLY

William R. Crow, prominent farmer of the Second District, died at his home near Kennedyville Wednesday afternoon following an illness of several weeks. Although in poor health for the past six months, his condition was not considered serious until a week ago when he was taken to a Wilmington hospital. He returned to his home on Wednesday apparently improved in health and was sitting in a chair when he fell over dead that afternoon.

Born in Cecil county in 1868 he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William T. Crow and he came to Kent County 45 years ago where he settled at Prespect Hill near Kennedyville.

He was a vestryman and Treasurer of Shrewsbury Parish and an active worker in that Church. He was a loving and devoted husband and father and a loyal friend to all who knew him.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie N. Crow and seven children, Mrs. Adele Yeoman, Mrs. Edgar D. Lusby, Mrs. James Lusby, Jr., William Rankin Crow, Jr., Roland Cochran Crow, Robert T. Crow and Rebecca N. Crow, also four grandchildren.

Two sisters, Miss Ida V. Crow and Mrs. William A. Bell, and a brother, Mr. Walter C. Crow also survive him.

The bearers were Raymond Simpers, Dr. H. G. Simpers, J. D. Bacchus, Hyland Crew, Herbert E. Perkins and Jacob F. Thompson. Interment in Chester Cemetery.

STATE NEEDS FOR CRIME DETECTION

S. R. COLLINS ADDRESS BAR ASSOCIATION

At the annual meeting of the Maryland Bar Association held at Atlantic City last week, Judge Thomas J. Keating was made Vice President for this Judicial Circuit. Mr. S. R. Collins was made a member of the nomination committee to report at the next meeting.

Mr. Collins addressed the Association, a synopsis of his speech being as follows:

"Nothing in the criminal law is more important than the swift and sure procedure of the law from the time of the commission of a crime until the final passage of judgment. With the nation-wide increase in crime in recent years, the result has, of course been felt in the counties of Maryland. Beginning about the year 1920 and continuing up until 1933 there was a steady and definite increase in the number of criminal cases before the Circuit Courts of the counties of Maryland. The time of the Circuit Courts, juries, and attorneys was largely occupied in the trial of criminal cases. This condition being generally felt, an effort has been made in the past two years to reduce the amount of criminal work in the Circuit

RAPPLEYEA WILL VISIT TOWN

George W. Rappleyea will again be a visitor to Chestertown soon, according to R. Hynson Rogers, Commander of the Chester River Power Squadron.

Mr. Rappleyea was guest speaker two weeks ago at the annual yachtsmen's dinner at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club. He outlined with slides many interesting points in boat handling which are embodies in the Power Squadron Course.

Mr. Rappleyea's experiences in bringing yachts down the Atlantic coast into Baltimore harbor made his speech one of the best ever given at the local club.

GIRLS 41H CAMP

Friday will be visitors and achievement day. Public invited.

NEW YORKER DROWNS AT BETTERTON

Vernon C. Judge, of New York, production manager of the National Broadcasting Company, died of heart trouble while swimming off a yacht which was tied to the Tolchester wharf at Betterton at 10 a. m. Thursday morning.

He was an expert swimmer and while attending N. Y. U. was a member of the swimming team and champion of the University. He hurt his back while at the University which halted his swimming career. He was a graduate of Colgate University and since graduation has risen rapidly in the business world.

He with his wife and a party of friends motored to North East and chartered a yacht from Captain Charles Biddle for an outing on the Bay. Arriving at Betterton the party went in swimming from the yacht and Mr. Judge was suddenly missed. After searching the boat and the beach for him local residents started dragging the bottom around the pier and Mr. Littleton Moore brought the body to the surface with a fishing line. Dr. Atwell and the ambulance crew of the Chestertown Fire Company tried to revive him without success. He is survived by his widow and parents the latter being on a European tour. He was 29 years of age.

BAY BRIDGE HEARING MONDAY

SENATOR BRICE AND A. S. TURNER TO REPRESENT KENT COUNTY

Senator Arthur Brice and A. S. Turner, Jr., will join with the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Authority and the Baltimore Association or Commerce in a meeting with Secretary Ikes at Washington on Monday with reference to the proposed Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The purpose of the meeting, which was arranged by Senator Radcliffe, is to present arguments as to the need of the structure and the sentiment of the people of Maryland for it.

The committee wil present to Mr. Ikes resolutions and endorsements of many civic organizations of Baltimore and the Eastern Shore endorsing the project.

July 1, 1935

Dear Mr. Ewald:

There is not the slightest question in my mind but what a bridge across the Chesapeake Bay will mean much to the Eastern Shore as well as to Baltimore. Everything that can be should be done to bring the people of Maryland closer together. There can be no method as effective as a bridge. From the standpoint of the Eastern Shore this matter should be viewed from the influence it would have on our principal industry; i. e., agriculture. We have no factories, mines or large source of income other than the crops which we produce. It is, therefore, highly important that we possess every facility for placing our goods into every market.

Theb ridge should affect favorably our summer resorts, of which there are quite a few; and no one can deny that the convenience of these resorts to Baltimore, our metropolis, is of major mportance. If there is anything more than I can say or do to assist in this enterprise, I should be pleased to have you tell me.'

Very Truly Yours,
Fred P. Adkins.

CHESTERTOWN LOSES TWO GAMES

LOSES TWO GAMES TO FEDERALSBURG ON JULY 4TH

On July 4th Chestertown met Federalsburg in a two game series. The first game was played at Federalsburg in the morning. Loller was on the mound for Chestertown and yielded on 10 hits but Federalsburg netted Pruns. Chestertown was unable to score.

In the afternoon game at Chestertown Hickey Fountain was on the mound for Federalsburg and was touched for 8 hits. Tenko on the mound for Chestertown gave way to Eddie Harris who pitched a very creditable game. The afternoon contest was a poorly played game the final score being 11 to 2.

COMMISSIONERS NAME WELFARE BOARD

WILL HAVE CHARGE OF COUNTY WELFARE AND OLD AGE PENSION

The County Commissioners at the regular meeting on Tuesday of this week named the Welfare Board as provided in a recent act of the Legislature.

The Board is as follows:
Fred G. Usilton.
A. S. Turner, r.
Mrs. Thomas Cruikshank.
T. H. M. Bramble.
L. B. Russell.
Harry Hill.
G. E. Leary.

Mr. Leary, president of the Board of County Commissioners, represents that body on the Board.

One of the immediate duties of the newly appointed Board who serves with out pay, is to set up the system of handling old age pension in Kent County which goes into effect September 1st.

The old age pension bill, as passed by the recent session of the Legislature makes the giving of pensions by the counties obligatory and sets the maximum at $1.00 per day. Of the per diem payment the State assumes one third and the Federal government one third.

The Welfare Board shall pass on the applications for pension and fix the amount each applicant shall receive.

Among the qualificatons that an applcant must have in order to receive a pension are:

Must be at least 65 years of age at which time application is made.

Must have been a resident of Maryland for at least five years of the past ten.

Must be without means of support and without children who are able to support him or her.

Must not have been an habitual tramp or beggar during the past year.

Must not be a recipiant of aid from any County, State or Federal Institution.

Must not have been found guilty of committing a felony.

With reference to the clause where applicant must not have children who are able to support them; the State law takes effect which compells children to support their parents.

It is understood that at the present time there are approximately one hundred persons now on Federal relief rolls in this county who will make application for old age pension.

Kent County levied $3,000 for the purpose of caring for old age pensions. At the time of the levy there was no way to estimate the total amount that would be required for this purpose.

The new pension law goes into effect September first but it is thought that necessary details will make the first payment due about October 1st.

MURDER SUSPECT STILL AT LARGE

KELLY TERRY VICTIM OF FATAL STABBING AT STAFFORD HOUSE SAT. NIGHT

EIGHT ARRESTS MADE TO DATE

John Ellis, murder suspect in the slaying of Kelly Terry, local telephone lineman who was fatally stabbed at the Stafford House near Chestertown on Saturday night of last week, is still at large.

The murder took place at the regular dance and beer drinking party which is held every Saturday night at the Stafford emporium.

Sheriff Bennett was cballed and upon arrival found Terry dead on the floor and although the dancing had stopped, beer drinking and eating was going on as usual. The Sheriff stated that most of those present were in a half boiled condition. The alleged slayer had made his escape.

A Coroners Jury was summonsed Sunday afternoon composed of Messrs. Cordrey Loud, foreman, Heigh Hill, S. G. Caldwell, William Bennett, Charles Kibler, Hugh Williams, Herbert Ward, Jesse Medders, Lee Gill, Thomas Gale, W. T. Nickerson and William Cooper.

The first witness called was Mrs. Olin Stafford, manager of the Stafford House. Mrs. Stafford testified that Terry had nothing to drink that night but one coca cola. She saw Terry fall but did not see the man accused of doing the stabbing.

The second witness was Mrs. Stafford's husband. He testified that he saw the struggle and heard Terry say, "that man stabbed me." Mrs. Terry said "you stabbed my husband." The witness further stated that he sold Ellis one small beer and later he came back and asked for a man's size glass. He said that is all he sold him. The death occured about 10.15 p. m. and he called the officers from the College Hill Filling Station. He looked for
