RURAL WOMEN'S SHORE COURSE

At the 13th Annual Rural Women's Short Course which ended last week, four Kent County women received certificates for attending four years, Mrs. Elmer Thomas, Betterton Club; Mrs. Hattie Burgess and Mrs. John Wood, Rock Hall Club, and Mrs. Linda Hendrickson, Fairlee Club.

Three prizes were awarded to the county:

1. To the county having the most women attending he Short Course for the first time, Alleganey was first, with 83 women; Somerset, second with 31; Kent third with 25 women and Cecil fourth with 19 women. The chairman of the Rural Women's Short Course committee in the several clubs deserves much credit for the fine showing made by Kent County. These chairmen are: Mrs. Annie Urie, Rock Hall, Mrs. Otto Lassen, Swan Creek, Mrs. T. H. M. Bramble, Fairlee, Mrs. Mabel Carroll, Flatland, Mrs. Elmer Thomas, Betterton, Mrs. Ethel Greenwood, Still Pond, Mrs. E. V. Walbert, Quaker Neck, Mrs. Edgar Pennington, Kennedyville.

2. To the county doing the most library work, Washington county won first place. Washington is the only county in the State of Maryland that has a Bookmobile. Kent County is well started on a fine program in library work for this year July 1st, '35, July 1st, 1935.

3. To the county doing the most in Music Appreciation. Somerset placed first and Kent received honorable mention. Mrs. John Redding is County Music Chairman with Mrs. John Sweetman as Director, furnished through the Adult Education program. Every project has capable women as leaders.

The theme of the Short Course was 'Music and Singing.' Professor Zanzig of the National Recreation Association was the music leader. On Tuesday night eight counties gave 'Musical Moments with American Composers.' Wednesday night Madame Brosius, harpest of Washington, D. C., with Professor Randall Harlan of the College gave a concert. Thursday night Calvert County presented the Bohemian Girl, and Friday night Professor Zanzig gave the Musical festival 'Come to The Fair,' with the women of the classes taking part.

Many ideas and plans are presented so that when the women return to their counties they are filled with ideas of things to do.

Mrs. T. H. M. Bramble, President of Kent County Homemakers' Clubs, presided at the Thursday afternoon session, when county reports and awards were made.

Mrs. Bramble opened the meeting with these remarks:

We look forward with both pleasure and profit to the week that we spend each year at College Park for the Rural Women's Short Course. While the aim and object of our attendance is educational there are many other beneficial advantages, both social and intellectual that we may enjoy. The purpose of education is to stimulate and aroused interest in subjects we do not know, and to help us in some way to improve our methods of every day living. Through the Homemaker's Club we learn how to solve many problems, how to work more efficiently on our farms and in our homes, so as to add comfort and joy to life and, through song, music and flowers to refresh our souls with the finer more lasting things of life. To do this means work and cooperation.

We are not here to play, to dream, to drift,

We have hard work to do and loads to lift

Shun not the struggle, face it, tis Gods gift, Be strong.

With knowledge comes new duties and responsibilities. If we are loyal club members we will not shirk our duties but give unselfishly of our time to the needs of our home, church, school or community. We are most fortunate in having Miss Kellar for our State Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Kellar is beloved by all who have had the privilege of knowing her. Her exceptional qualities of character and executive ability have made her the leader of our Maryland Homemakers' Clubs. Miss Kellar is responsible for our program of the Rural Women's Short Course. She directs our work to conform to the highest standards of living and gives us the inspiration to carry it through. Let us show our appreciation by giving her our wholehearted co-operation in all our club work. As we listen to the reports and greetings of the Presidents of the Homemakers Clubs of Maryland, let us note their accomplishments and resolve that the coming year shall be fuller and richer for us all.

May we carry with us the thought—

'We live only when we serve.'

Living is loving
Loving is giving
Giving is growing
So let us grow.

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a nome, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.

"Nerves" "NERVES" "Nerves"

Dr. Miles NERVINE "Did the work" says Miss Glivar WHY DON'T YOU . TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves." If you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

At Drug Stores 25c and $1.00.

Dr. Watson, Manufacturer Of First Telephones, Dead

DR. THOMAS A. WATSON
© Morris Rosenfeld

Dr. Thomas A. Watson, the man who made the first two telephones, heard the first message transmitted by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor, March 10, 1876, and saw the industry expand until approximately 33,000,000 telephones in sixty countries could be interconnected, is dead.

Dr. Watson, a native of Salem, Mass., was employed in 1875 by Dr. Bell to assist in carrying on his telephone experimental work. Dr. Watson also had the distinction of making the telephones displayed at the Centennial in Philadelphia over which Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, talked. The Emperor on hearing the voice speaking from the other telephone exclaimed, "My God, it talks!" This incident attracted much attention and gave Dr. Bell the inventor further encouragement in exploiting his discovery. Two years later the first telephone switchboard was installed at New Haven, Conn. This equipment was placed in operation on January 28, 1878. So rapid was the operation of the telephone industry that by 1880 there were only nine cities of 10,000 population and one of 15,000 people in the entire United States not served by a telephone switchboard.

Long distance telephone service received its start when a demonstration was given October 9, 1876, between Boston and Cambridge. The distance was two miles and the message was transmitted over a borrowed telegraph line. Further demonstration was made later in the year between Boston and Lawrence, twenty-seven miles, and the next year from Boston to Providence, a distance of forty-five miles. The first long distance line built for the purpose used was operated between Boston and New York. It was placed in service on March 27, 1884.

At the time of Dr. Watson's death, December 13 last, there were about 17,000,000 telephones in the United States, connected with more than 19,000 central offices, operated by nearly 7,000 companies. Transocean service, which now extends to five other continents, was inaugurated between America and Great Britain on January 7, 1927. This summarizes the growth of the telephone industry during the life of Dr. Watson, who had the distinction of hearing the first telephone sentence ever spoken over instruments made by his hands.

ERA OF FULL COLOR DRAMAS HERALDED BY 'BECKY SHARP'

The color era of motion picture entertainment is here, inaugurated with the presentation of 'Becky Sharp' to the world by Pioneer Pictures.

With color, the third essential dimension of complete drama comes to the screen. In silent pictures the screen had but one dramatic dimension, action. In 1928 the second, sound, came to revolutionize motion picture production. Now, in 1935, comes color to transform the neutral shadows of the screen to convincing flesh and life with the intimate beauty of realism in color.

Great artists of the brush have, for centuries, used color to bring the emotions they willed to their canvases. Now is to be seen what the artist of today can do to motion picture entertainment as he brings color to the aid of pantomime and sound, and what can be accomplished in correlating the action to the emotion of hues.

'Becky Sharp' is a Rouben Mamoulian production in the new three component Technicolor. Mamoulian, a great scene stylist, brings not only motion picture experience to his ability, but has a brilliant background of stage production work in New York, in which color was an important element. The composition of hues in the picture is by Robert Edmond Jones, noted specialist in that branch of the stage and cinema art, an example of which was seen in the full-color featurette 'La Cucaracha.'

'Becky Sharp' now in its third week at the Hyprodrome n Baltimore will be shown at the New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, July 15 and 16.
