NOW AND THEN

What is more beautiful than an earth, while they all revolve around when every thing is tinted with the colors of the sunrise, when the grass and flowers are wet with dew which sparkles like diamonds in the early morning. The birds are singing their sweetest songs in thanksgiving for another day. The sky lark sings as it mounts to the sky, the bob white gives his call to his mate and the mourning dove's sweet note is heard. Those who lie in bed miss much that is beautiful in nature.

There were many on the porches and on the bridge last Monday night, watching the eclipse of the moon.

What a wonderful thing is Astronemy, for all the star gazers knew of its coming many days ago. The full moon seemed as though a tiny bit were taken from its side then the shadow grew and grew until it looked like a dark ball in the sky.

As one looks at the heavens and sees the multitude of planets and twinkling stars looking down upon the earth, he feels small indeed. How many of that bright galaxy are hundreds times larger than our own earth, while they all revolve aaround their respective suns just as the earth does around hers.

There are many reminiscences of Foster, the maker of so many southern songs, since the memorial was built to him.

It is told of him as he was busy writing one of them, he said to his brother, "I want the name of a couthern river that has two syllables, I have Pedee but that does not suit." His brother, who had been south, suggested "Suwanee.' Foster eakerly it down and before many days he heard the song sung everywhere. Perhaps in all the country there is not a more appealing song.

THE JOYS OF A SUMMER MORN

The smell of the morning that lurks
y in the ha
The swish of the scythe and the roundelay
Of the meadow lark as he wings away,
Are the joys of a summer morning.

The daisy's bloom on the meadow's breast,
The wandering bees and his ceaseless quest
Of the tempting in the clover's crest,
Are the joys of a summer's morning.

The lowing kine on a distant hill,
The rollicking fall of the nearby rill
And the lazy drone of the ancient mill,
Are the joys of a summer morning.

The feather clouds in a faultness sky,
The new-risen sun with its kindly eye
And the woodland breeze floating by,
Are the joys of a summer morning.

—H. A. W. Wood.

Chestertown and vicinity are to be congratulated on the fact that they have far seeing citizens enough to plant trees around the town. Just think of the increasing beauty of a large avenue of trees shading our streets during summer weather. On looking around it seems that the majority of them seem to be living.

Trees are planted for the generations that are to come, as well as for the comfort of those living at present Let us look out for the health of our trees.

Menchen is writing a book on the English language. He says that there is no need for people who speak English to learn other languages, for whereever one goes there is always some who know the English language. The Rotarians were impressed with this fact on their recent visit to Mexico City. The waitresses, many of whom were graduates of American colleges, spoke good English. English, says Menchen, is easier to learn because of the regularity of its genders and cases.

RAM SALE AT CENTREVILLE JULY 30

The Maryland Stockman's Association and the University of Maryland Extension Service has announced the date for the Annual Ram Sale at Centreville. The date selected is Tuesday, July 30th. Similar sales have been scheduled for Boonsboro on July 19th and at Oakland on September 14.

These Ram Sales have proven important factors in the success of the sheep business, having a definite influence on the quality and value of the lamb crop and wool clip. Sheepmen gather at these sales to talk shop. The sales offer opportunity for selection after comparison and for pricing those selections in line with the selling price of the other rams in the sale. Details of the sale will be announced later.

CHARGED WITH STEALING CHICKENS

Slim Brown, Crestertown colored man is in Kent County jail charged with stealing chickens form the farms of Mr. William Bell and Mr. William McMahan.

According to the exidence Deputies Lesage and Pinder found that Brown had sold some chickens in Chester town which were identified as those belonging to Mr. Bell.

Mr. McMahan saw a man going across his field toward the road with a bag across his shoulder. Jumping in his car he headed him off and the man dropped the bag and ran.

Police Justice John Vickers found Brown guilty at a haring Friday morning and sentenced him to twelve months in the House of Correction.

Brown has a criminal record in the Kent County Court.

THREE BOATS IN OUTBOARD DERBY

MAKE 22 MILE RUN IN 45 MIN.

The outboard motor derby from Chestertown to Crumpton and return was run last Saturday afternoon with three boats in the race.

The Maggie III, driven by Deffibaugh, of Dover, Del. won first place and made the 22 mile run with all its twists and turns in 45 minutes. He crossed the finish line 2 minutes before Bob Harrison, local entry, who finished the race in 47 minutes. The other entry was the Baby Whale, also from Dover.

The two Dover entries have recently competed in both the Philadelphia-Trenton race and the New York Albany race

FIRE DESTROYS CRUMPTON CANNERY

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $75,000

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the cannery of D. E. Foote & Co. at Crumpton early Saturday morning of last week.

The fire had gained such headway when discovered that the entire contents of the building were in full blaze when fire companies from Millington and Chestertown arrived on the scene. Pumping for hours direct from Chester River the two fire companies succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading to nearby property but could not save any of the contents of the building.

Mr. George Phillips, superintendant of the plant, who with his wife occupied an apartment in the building, narrowly escaped with their lives and were unable to save any of their personal effects.

The Crumpton cannery was one of the largest canning establishments on the Shore and had been in operation up until a few hours of the time of the fire It furnished employment to a number of people living in the vicinity of Crumpton and had afforded a market for vegetable crops in Kent and Queen Anne's County. At the time of the fire the cannery was busy canning beans and its destruction is a serious loss particularly at this time when the tomato season is rapidly approaching. It is understood that most of the loss to building and equipment was covered by insurance.

MISS AGUSTA D. CANNON DIES AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Miss Augusta Davis Cannon, age 63 years, died early Friday morning at the Kent and Queen Annes Hospital from complications following an attack of pneumonia.

She formerly taught in the public schools of Kent county and later was book-keeper at a local mercantile establishment.

She is survived by three brothers and one sister, George H., John C. and Foster Cannon and Mrs. John H. Hecker, of Baltimore; also a nephew, John Cannon Hecker.

Funeral services will be held from her late home on High street, Chestertown, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock to be conducted by Rev. Dr. Sexsmith. Interment will be made in Chester cemetery. Marvin Williams, undertaker in charge.

LOCAL HOSPITAL BUSY

Since arrival of Dr. Dick, surgeon at the local hospital, that institution has been busy with operations and other cases.

A dispensary has been established in the building which handled ten cases last week.

Approximately twenty operations have been performed within the past two weeks in addition to a number of treatments of accident cases.

A number of operations have been scheduled for next week.

LOCAL FIREMEN VOTE TO HAVE CARNIVAL

FINANCES NECESSITATE SOME MEANS TO RAISE FUNDS

Due to lack of assurance that sufficient funds will be forth coming from donations to meet the expenses of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company during the coming year, that organization voted to hold a carnival in September if the Park in Chestertown can be secured for the purpose.

The carnival was dispensed with last year because the voluntary contributions assured an income of approximately $1500 for the year. This amount is needed annually for the expenses of the local company and except for last year the carnival has been the only sure means for raising it.

While the services of the fire-fighters is donated, the maintenance of equipment, etc, requires considerable expenditure particularly due to the many country calls. With a few exceptions the donations last year were from residents of Chestertown.

The permission for the use of the Park rests in the hands of the Council of Chestertown and will probably be presented at the regular meeting in August.

NOT WORRYING ABOUT AAA COURT RULING

Farmers of Kent County are little concerned over the ruling by the U. S. Court of Appeals that the processing tax of the A. A. A. program is unconstitutional as the Supreme Court has yet to pass on it.

The local wheat and Corn and hog contracts come directly under this department of the A. A. A. but those who have signed contracts in Kent County feel that the contracts are with the United States Government and therefore secure.

Mr. J. D. McVean, County Agent, said this week that in his opinion there is no question in his mind but that the contracts will be kept and that if there is any question as to the constitutionality of the act is will be reworded without affecting the present contracts.

This Court ruling was handed down about the samet ime that the officials at Washington announced that receips from the processing tax would bring a return to the farmers of 33c a bushel instead of 30c which was paid last year. This 33c bonus applies to 54 per cent. of a three year average which it is estimated will net approximately 20 cents a bushel above the present market value of wheat.

This increase this year will mean about $13,000 additional to the farmers of Kent County.

ACCUSED MURDERER ARRESTED IN SEATTLE

SHERIFF BENNETT MAKES TRIP BY AUTO

Sheriff John N. Bennet received a telegram from the police department of Seattle, Washington that they had placed John Ellis, alias Jack Taylor under arrest. Ellis was arrested in Seattle. Local authorities traced Ellis to that city through a letter mailed to friends in Chester. The letter stated where Ellis was staying and the name he was using in that city.

Sheriff John N. Bennett and his deputy, John Bennett, Jr., left by automobile early Monday morning for the trip across the continent to bring Ellis back to Kent County where he is wanted for murder of Kelly Terry.

Accompaning the Sheriff on the trip was William Bennett and Dr. Reynelds who went along for the trip. The last word received from the party was Wednesday morning when a telegram from him stated that they were in Siox City, Iowa and expected to reach Seattle Thursday night.

Since the Sheriff left a telegram was received from the police department in Seattle stating that Ellis admitted his identity and stated that he was drunk while on a visit to the Eastern Shore and remembered nothing he did from Saturday morning until he arrived back at his home in Chester Early Sunday morning.

PROPONENTS OF BRIDGE TO GATHER IN BALTIMORE

TWENTY EIGHT ORGANIZATIONS INTERESTED

The Baltimore Association of Commerce is apparently going to carry the fight for a Chesapeake Bay bridge to a finish and is not content to accept the recent ruling on the project.

That organization has called a meeting of all organizations, numbering twenty eight, who have endorsed the project, to be held in Baltimore next Tuesday.

The purpose of the meeting is to hear the report of the meeting last week with Secretary Ickes and determine what future action to be taken. The Government has shown a willingness to donate $4,500,000 but has thrown the burden of raising the remaining $5,500,000 back on the State of Maryland.

The organizations which have endorsed the project and who have been invited to send represntatives to the meeting next Tuesday are:

The Baltimore Federation of Labor, the Wholesale Merchant's Association of Baltimore, the Retail Merchants Association of Baltimore, the Baltimore Clearing House, the Motor Truck Association of Maryland, the Automobile Trade Association of Maryland, the Baltimore Canned Foods Exchange, the Meat Packer's Association of Baltimore, the Seafood and Fruit Packing Industry of Baltimore, the Wholesale Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Distributive Industry of Baltimore, the Builders Exchange, the Engineers Club, the Traffic Club, the Maryland Hotel Men's Association, the Real Estate Board, the Lime and Cement Exchange, the Old Town Merchants and Manufacturers Association. REEUSES MANDAMUS FOLLOWING SUDLERSVILLE ELECTION

Chief Judge W. Mason Shehan, and Associate Judges Thomas J. Keating and J. Owen Knotts, on Monday at the non-Jury term of the Circuit Court for Queen Anne's County, handed down a written opinion in the mandamus proceedings instituted as a result of the recent Sudlersville municipal election.

The mandamus proceedings were brought by former Senator Dudley G. Roe against R. Bruce Massey and G. Aldred Walls, judges of the election.

The opinion refused the mandamus thereby leaving the results of the election as they were first recorded with Joseph M. George, Dudley G. Roe and Robert Clendenning, the victorious candidates.

POULTRYMEN ORGANIZING TOURS

TO CONVENE AT COLLEGE PARK IN AUGUST

Groups of poultrymen in the northeaston states, varying in size from 50 to 150 or more, are planning tours to the University of Maryland at College Park ta attend the summer meeting of the Northeastern Poultry Producers' Council, August 14th to 16th, according to word received by Wade H. Rice, poultry specialist of the Extension service. This is the first time that a convention of this organization has been held in Maryland and, in the opinion of Mr. Rice, it will be one of the largest and most important poultry events ever held in the state.

Organizations of poultrymen in 13 states are included in the Council including Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware,, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

The program for the convention includes nationally recognized authorities on practically all phases of the poultry industry, including production, marketing, organization and standardizing of products. According to Mr. Rice, attention will be given certain legislation designed to be of benefit to the industry. One problem along this line, he states, is legislation whereby loss of poultry by theft may be curtailed.

One day will be devoted to a tour of the poultry division of the Research center of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, and the sessions of the conference on Saturday, August 17th, will be held in the auditorium of the Department of Agrisulture guilding in Washington.

A complete program for all sessions and events during the week may be obtained by writing to W. H. Rice, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

CHESTERTOWN WINS OVER CECILTON 7-4

A four-run spree by the Chestertown baseball team sewed up the benefit tilt with Cecilton on the Hopewell diamond last Sunday and the locals went on to win by a 7-4 score. The victory, however, was not without its costs. John Bennett, star shortstop and assistant manager of the club, was injured in a mix-up around second base and had to retire from the game.

Chestertown's four runs were matched by Cecilton in the first half of the fifth but the locals came back in their turn at bat, put a pair runs across and then added another in the seventh. The final count was 7-4.

The regular Sunday evening Vesper Service will be held this week at 7 p. m. in the park, with the Rev. Dr. Sexsmith, former pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, as the preacher. Not only the members of his former charge, but all the people of Chestertown remember Dr Sexsmith most pleasantly, and will wish to hear him and help welcome him again to Chestertown. The Chestertown Firemen's Band will not play this week, but the music will be led by volunteer singers under the direction of Mrs. John Sweetman. The band will furnish the music every other Sunday evening, hence it will be again helping at the service one week from this coming Sunday, July 28th, when the preacher will be Rev. Charles L.
