Drama in a theatre that takes place in front of the footlights, instead of behind, is the story told in Paramount's "Four Hours to Kill," starring Richard Barthelmess and coming on Monday and Tuesday, July 22 and 23 to the New Lyceum Theatre.

Barthelmess plays an escaped convict, hiding in the theatre and waiting for his chance to get the man who squealed on him. In the same audience are others whose life dramas are bound with his,—a cloakroom boy who has stolen to get money, a rich woman planning to run away with her sweetheart, a handsome philanderer who preys on impressionable women.

While police frantically search for Barthelmess, he makes a telephone call that lures his victim to the lobby of the theatre. Then, just as the separate life dramas of the others are rising to their climaxs, he steps from his hiding place and shoots down the man before the eyes of an aghast audience.

How the criminal is caught and the tangled lives of the others straightened out furnishes the climax to a thrilling drama.

Norman Krasna's "Small Miracle" the hit of the current Broadway season, furnished the original from which "Four Hours to Kill" was written.

Directed by Mitchell Leisen, "Four Hours to Kill" features Joe Morrison, Helen Mack, Gertrude Michael, Dorothy Tree, Roscoe Karns and Ray Milland in its supporting cast.

Tapping a Virgin source of screen material, RKO Radio presents "The Arizonian" starring Richard Dix as an exciting cinema account of frontier marshal's activity in curbing the renegades who infested the west in its young stages of formation and settlement.

Historical figures like Wild Bill Hickok, Bat Masterson and Wyatt Earp were once involved in the fierce conflict between the police and bandit factions. Notable peacemakers of history, they blazed away with six-shooters risking life and limb to preserve order and establish equity.

A composite of these characters is played by Richard Dix. He portrays Clay Tallant, an itinerant bandit chaser enroute to California. He halts at Silver City, Arizona, to visit his brother and encounters a graft and outlaw-ridden community. When the unscrupulous sheriff's machinations involve his kin and sweetheart, he dons the marshall's badge, reforms a notorious killer and purges the town. Blood is shed on the streets of Silver City, but the West had to be fit for peace and progress.

Richard Dix's role in "The Arizonian" has been likened to his in "Cimarron." As Yancy Cravat, it will be remembered, Dix characterized a pioneer who regulated an Oklahoma community at the point of a gun. Critics say that "The Arizonian" offers Dix as the public likes him, a strong character with a sense of righteousness.

"The Arizonian" is distinguished in its supporting cast. Margot Grahame and Preston Foster, who appeared in "The Informer," have prominent roles in this production. Louis Calhern, Willie Best, Ray Mayer and J. Farrell MacDonald are also among the cast. Charles Vidor directed from a scenario of Dudley Nichol's story, under the supervision of Cliff Reid.

"The Arizonian" will be shown at the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, July 24-25.

Fascinating insights into the detective work of the Department of Justice men and a tender love story are deftly combined in Paramount's "Men Without Names," which comes on Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27, to the New Lyceum Theatre.

Fred MacMurray, Madge Evans, David Holt, the new child prodigy, and Lynne Overman feature the cast of this new film on the exploits of Uncle Sam's detectives.

In the film, Fred MacMurray, one of the department's agents, is sent to a small Kansas town where money stolen in an armored car hold-up is making its appearance.

Posing as an aviation promoter, he makes the acquaintance of key figures in the mystery, learns that the mob is somewhere in the vicinity, and is being shielded by the local banker.

MacMurray sends out a call for aid. Lynne Overman answers the call and between them they proceed to get the evidence and track down their prey.

As the ring closes in about the mob, they become desperate. Overman is killed in the line of duty. MacMurray attempts to come to his aid, but he, Madge Evans, whom he has come to love, and her little brother are trapped by the gangsters.

In a dramatic, rapid-fire climax, the gangsters are apprehended, the prisoners released and the film brought to a happy conclusion.

Ralph Murphy, who has an enviable reputation for the production of thrillers, directed "Men Without Names." The picture features J. C. Nugent, Leslie Fenton and Herbert Rawlinson in the supporting cast.

Kennedyville took one of the longest games ever played on the Shore from Cecilton in an 18 inning uphill fight. Kennedyville came from behind twice to score, once in the 7th and again in the 15th, to finally win out in the 18th. Both Anderson and Loller hurled great relief ball after relieving Timco and Weatherow in the 7th. Loller had the best of the overtime innings, allowing only 2 hits in 11 innings while Anderson allowed 7. Loller was also a hitting star getting two singles and a double to keep his club in the game.

After Cecilton was put out in order in the 18th, Bennett for Kennedyville singled with one man down and went to second on Weatherow's poor throw to the infield, he scored when Webb threw Spencer's slow roller over Smith's head at first to win the game.

On Sunday Clayton, Del., took the Massey & Galena boys over for their first Sunday defeat this year. Failure to hit in the pinches was the cause of the up-county team's downfall. The summary follows.

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a home, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.

What is the yardstick for a cigarette...

Take mildness for one thing—how does it measure up for mildness?

Chesterfields are milder—not flat or insipid, of course, but with a pleasing flavor.

Then take taste for another thing—does it have plenty of taste?

Chesterfields taste better—not strong but just right.

In other words, They Satisfy—that's my yardstick for a cigarette.
