29th Division to Camp Aug. 17th to 31st

Local Medical Detachment to Join in Greatest Assembly of Troups Since Last War

The Medical Detachment of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, will join with other National Guard troups and regular army troups in the greatest assembly of troops along the Atlantic Seaboard since the World War.

The 29th Division, under the command of General Milton A. Reckord, which comprises all National Guard Troups of Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, and part of Pennsylvania will encamp in the Indiantown Gap—Mt. Gretna area in Pennsylvania.

In addition to the 29th Division, Regular Army and National Guard Troops, totaling the entire 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Corps Areas and including 80,000 troups will be encamped at the same time in a section of the country reaching from Mt. Gretna to Northern New York.

The local medical detachment, comprising 30 men will be under the direct command of Lieutenant Herman Blackway, and indirectly under the command of Major Frank B. Hines who has been assigned as Regimental Surgeon of the First Infantry.

The local detachment will get their first real taste of war time maneuvers as the Division will make their own camp, build their own streets and live in the equipment which they carry with them. They will leave Chestertown in two large Army trucks and in addition to the two officers above named there are four other officers in various parts of the State, including Lieutenant Joseph Franklin, of Cumberland, assigned to the detachment.

The National Guard automatically becomes the first line of defense in time of war and represents the only complete units that can immediately be put into action. The regular army units are skeletonized and used for training purposes.

The entire assembling of troups will be under the command of General Noland of the 2nd Corps Area.

Among the officers of the District of Columbia who are holding permanent positions in the 29th Division is Lieutenant-Colonel Carey Jarman, formerly of Chestertown.

FIRE DAMAGES CHESTERTOWN HOME

Fire of an unknown origin seriously damaged the house on north High Street occupied by Mr. Charles Porter and family, early Sunday morning.

There was no one home at the time of the fire and it was descovered by neighbors who smelled smoke sometime before the fire was descovered.

When local firemen arrived at the scene the fire was apparently confined to the first floor but it suddenly broke out in the third floor and roof. Pumping through two lines of three inch hose from the new plug at the milk station the fire was soon brought under control but not until the entire contents of the building were damaged.

The damage to the building was estimated at $350 which was covered by insurance. The Porter family lost all of their clothing and the furniture was materially damaged. The contents were partly covered by insurance.

FIREMEN ABANDON CARNIVAL IDEA

The question of whether the Chestertown Volunter Fire Company would have a carnival this summer for the purpose of raising funds for the maintenance of the company during the coming twelve months, was brought up for vote again last Monday night and the vote was 24 to 4 against having it.

The vote followed an appeal by the President of the Company, Mr. W. L. Fowler in which he pointed out the many disadvantages of a carnival and the duty of the community to support the fire company through means other than a carnival.

The previous vote to have a carnival included the provision that the park could be used for the carnival grounds. The use of the park has long been a point of contention at carnival time.

Just what plan of raising money for the fire company will be adopted is still indefinite but whatever it is, it should have whole hearted support.

BASE BALL GAME SCHEDULED

TO CELEBRATE ELECTRIC LINE COMPLETION

MOVING PICTURES, SPEAKING AND FIRE DEMONSTRATION

MAY EXTEND LINE FURTHER IN QUAKER NECK

Pomona is planning a gala celebration on a date yet to be set, probably during the week of August 11th, to celebrate the completion of the electric line from Chestertown to that town.

The celebration, which is under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Pomona School, will consist of a demonstration by the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company, speaking by local business men and Mr. Krewatz, State Engineer in charge of the promotion of rural electrification, and a free moving picture show.

This is the first community in this section that has taken advantage of the Federal rural electrification program and no doubt agriculturists from all sections of the county will attend the celebration to see how it is done.

After starting the line to Pomona the plans were changed making it a three phase line instead of a single phase line. This was done in order to provide for a heavier load and indicates the possibility of extending the line to include other sections in that part of the county.

GRIER WRITES ON BAY BRIDGE

The following article, written by Mr. Ralph Grier, a member of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Authority, appeared in the Salisbury Times this week and was sent as a special article to the Transcript.

The apathy apparent on the lower Eastern Shore concerning the proposed bay bridge construction is due to a lack of understanding of the provisions of the legislative act which creates the Bay Bridge Authority, Ralph H. Grier asserted today.

Mr. Grier, a member of the three-man Bay Bridge Authority, sought to clarify in an interview the points he believes may have precipitated this misunderstanding.

"The impression prevails that the bridge authority is to pay the companies $1,200,000 for their lines," Mr. Grier said. "The act established that amount as the absolute maximum, but the amount to be actually paid the companies will be based upon an audit of their business for the five-year period 1930 to 1934, both inclusive, and the inventory of equipment. This figure may be considerably less than the maximum allowed by the legislature.

"Operation of the Matapeake ferry will be continued, for the act stipulates 'It is hereby declared to be the specific intent and policy of this act that the ferry service between Annapolis and Matapeake shall not be discontinued at any time'."

As to location of the proposed span between Sandy Point and Kent Island, Mr. Grier said the cost would be from 50 to 100 per cent higher to attempt construction of a bridge between points below Baltimore. He added that government engineers could not be interested in any other location, due to the tremendous expense involved.

"There is no foundation for the contention the cost of the bridge will exceed $10,000,000. I have an estimate and bid made to the original bridge company jointly by the Arundel Corporation and Bethlehem Steel Corporation. This takes into consideration every item of expense that can be anticipated. The bid was less than $9,000,000. I have talked with a number of engineers who firmly believe the construction cost will be less than $10,000,000."

Referring to the state's obligation for the bonds or other credit extended to the bridge authority, Mr. Grier read from the legislative act a section that the financing "shall in no way be a debt or obligation of the State of Maryland, or sub-division thereof."

"The bridge would bring Salisbury and other lower Maryland and Delaware towns 50 miles closer to Baltimore over the present road system. This bridge would be the beginning of a new Eastern Shore highway extending to the Virginia line and placing Salisbury within 100 miles of Baltimore. It would provide the shortest route to Pittsburgh and the large western markets.

"The bridge will be open for use the entire twenty-four hours daily, compared with the thirteen-hour service now provided by the ferries.

With an outright grant of 45 per cent from the federal government and 55 per cent raised through sale of income bonds, reasonable toll charges will pay interest and amortization of the bonds in less than 30 years. Then the bridge will be the property of the State of Maryland, free of financial encumbrances.

"We have personally interviewed a number of business firms in lower Delaware and find there a decided interest in successful conclusion of the bridge project. We have taken the matter to the Delaware senators and congressman to obtain their support of the proposal."

"The bridge is an interstate proposition. The federal government should take in consideration the detailed advantages to be derived by the State of Delaware in lieu of any change it may have for Maryland to force the project, in part, as a show of good faith."

The bridge specifications, Mr. Grier said, will support the contention it will not interfere with bay navigation, for it will loom 145 feet above the upper surface at a point spanning the channel near each shore. The structure should have no draw bridges to interrupt motor traffic.

CHESTERTOWN VS. TILGHMAN'S ISLAND TOMORROW

REGATTA PLANS PROGRESS

IMPROVEMENTS OVER OTHER YEARS NOTED

MANYaPLAN TO ATTEND SAINT MICHAELS REGATTA

An amplifier outfit will be on hand this year for the annual Chester River Regatta. Cable lines will be laid from the Committee Boat to the shore and results of races and position of boats in the races will be available to all spectators. Many business concerns have taken advantage of this for advertising means. Also there will be a telephone line from the shore headquarters to the committee boat.

Crane service is another new feature for this year. A crane will be on one of the Chestertown wharfs which will lift boats in and out of the water. This will be a big help to boats coming on trailers and should be quite an inducement.

Plans are to have two Chesapeake Bay Log Canoe races in one this year like they had last year. The first boat to cross the finish will receive a first prize and the boat to win on the handicap rules of the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Racing Association will receive a first prize.

Plans are progressing on the Baltimore to Chestertown cruiser race.

Trophies have been donated by a number of individuals and business concerns and will be published at a later date. The Baltimore News-American, the Baltimore Sun, Mayor Jackson and Mr. Henry Hopkins are among the out-of-town donors to date.

More people than ever before from Chestertown will attend the Miles River Regatta at St. Michaels next week. Boats from the Club here are planning to cruise down together in a group on Thursday afternoon.

SEA FOOD INDUSTRY TO MEET AT OCEAN CITY

The tri-State Sea Food Association, comprising all members of the industry in Maryland, Virginia and Delaware, will hold its first annual convention at Ocean City, Maryland, on Saturday, August 17th.

"The people connected with the sea food business face many serious problems," said C. A. Lockerman, of Crisfield, President of the Association. "At Ocean City we hope to select a few of the most important troubles and unite on doing something about them."

"The convention is meeting at the end of the crab season and the beginning of the oyster season, therefore, much time will be given to these two branches of the industry. The shortage of crabs this summer has caused unemployment and distress along our waterfronts. This condition will grow worse next year unless laws are passed immediately protecting the supply of crabs. The oyster business faces an equally discouraging future, although many promising efforts are being made to get better markets."

The Association was formed last June and it is reported to have the enthusiastic support of every one in the business. Mr. Lockerman said in addition to one hundred and fifty packers of sea food, the Association also included watermen's groups, so that the individual crabber, tonger, and fisherman is represented.

"The welfare of each member of this great industry depends on the other fellow," continued Mr. Lockerman. "For years we were independent or thought we could be. But we know better now. We are organizing to help each other and thereby help ourselves."

In addition to prominent local members of the industry who will discuss various phases of the business; Robert F. Duer of the Maryland Conservation Dept. and Clarence S. Foster of the Delaware Board of Game and Fish Commissioners will speak. Rufus Miles of Norfolk, Virginia, will discuss the oyster business and I. H. Tawes of Crisfield will tell of effonts being made to protect the crab.
