THEY SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

JOHN BOLES, JEAN MUIR and CHARLES BUTTERWORTH have the leading roles in Fox Film's latest dramatic surprise, "Orchids To You," in which a handsome lawyer gets heart shock when a pretty young florist, whose business he was wrecking jealously safeguards his name from scandal and a simple suitor paves both their ways.

"Don't try it," is the advice of custom officials to American tourists who, returning home, have the irrepressible habit of attempting to smuggle trunks full of jewelry, silk lingerie, and Paris dresses right past the alert eyes of custom officials.

The custom men reveal that, if caught, you must pay the regular duty, plus a penalty equal to its value, and still have your merchandise confiscated. Furthermore, you may be subject to a jail sentence of as much as two years.

It isn't easy to fool customs men either. They're thoroughly familiar with such old stratagems as false bottoms in suitcases and trunks, or jewelry stuffed into the toe of a shoe or concealed in a hollow heal.

These and many other interesting sidelights of the custom service were learned by Allan Dwan, veteran cinema writer and director, when he was gathering material for 'Black Sheep,' a comedy drama centered around a smuggling incident, coming on Monday and Tuesday, August 5th and 6th to The New Lyceum Theatre. An experienced traveler himself, Dwan has made a habit of chatting with the customs inspectors at every opportunity.

In 'Black Sheep,' which was produced by Sol M.Wurtzel for Fox Film, Adrene Ames portrays a lady who optimistically expects to smuggle in a valuable string of stolen pearls. Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor, who have the leading roles, are also involved in the smuggling plot. Other favorites in the supporting cast are Tom Brown, Eugene Pallette, Herbert Mundin and Ford Sterling.

Although John Boles and Jean Muir, currently playing the leading rolls in Fox Film's Latest Stirring drama, 'Orchids To You,' which comes on Wednesday and Thursday,, August 7th and 8th to the Lyceum Theatre, come from widely separated parts of the country and never met until they were introduced on the set of the picture by Director William A. Seiter, there are some interesting parallels in their early careers.

Both players started out to become doctors. Boles attended a university in Texas, intending to go on to Johns Hopkins, but joined the army instead. While in France he changed his mabitions from surgery to singing.

Jean Muir became imbued with ideas of becoming a physician and attended the Dwight School, in Englewood, New Jersey. As graduating neared, she changed her mind and prepared to become a French teacher instead. But Jean gave up this career for the theatre.

Curiously enough, John Boles actually did become a French teacher. While studying voice in New York, his funds ran low and he had to augment them by teaching French in high school—he speaks the language fluently.

At that point the careers of the two stars diverged. Boyles went into a New York musical camedy and then into pictures, while Miss Muir tried her hand at repertoire and stock companies, coming directly to the speaking screen as a dramatic ingenue.

The two favorites are co-featured with Charles Butterworth, in 'Orchids To You,' which was produced by Robert T. Kane and includes Ruthelma Stevens, Hervey Stephens and Arthur Lake in the cast.

Co-featuring Jean Arthur and Victor Jory in 'Party Wire' which comes to the New Lyceum Friday and Saturday, August 9th and 10th.

Dealing with life in a typical Midwestern small town, 'Party Wire' tells what happens when telephone wires and lifelines are crossed in the everyday humdrum of the village's existance.

Victor Jory is cast as the town's most eligible bachelor. After a seven year's absence he returns to take charge of the family dairies, which are the backbone of industry in Rockridge, the town.

Jean Arthur portrays the one unmarried girl in Rockridge who dosen't try to snare Jory for her own. Instead, she finds ways and means of annoying him—which most times only succeeds in amusing him. Her mischievous nature soon finds, however, that love is much more important than playing pranks or taking subtle digs at the handsome bachelor.

The town banker's daughter is played by lovely Geneve Mitchell, who, backed by her mother, is out to capture Jory. Their method of attack is to spread vicious gossip about everyone else in town.

Jory,s invalid aunt is played by Helen Lowell and Charley Grapewin, long a favorite of vaudeville, is featured as Jean Arthur's father, a lovable n'er-do-well. It is a humorous role, one especially suited to the droll Grapewin.

Clara Blandick and Maude Elburn are importantly cast, with Miss Blandick as the gossip-spreading mother of Geneva Mitchell, and Maude Elburn as a very able assistant in the spreading of usfounded rumors.

'Party Wire' is an adaption by Ethel Hill and John Howard Lawson of Bruce Manning's best selling novel. The direction is by Erle Kenton.

Included in the supporing cast are Matt McHugh, Robert Allen, Oscar Apfel and Robert Middlemass.

A good cigarette, too needs Balance—

And that's why the tobaccos in Chesterfield are carefully balanced one against the other . . . not too much of one — not too little of another.

We take the right amounts of the right kinds of four types of tobacco — Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish.

It is this balancing of tobaccos that makes Chesterfields milder and makes them taste better.

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a nome, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.
