NOW AND THEN

Beneath my window is a bower of honey suckle and here a cat bird has chosen to build its nest.

Its song is almost as varied as the mocking bird. How it flits its little body and looks at you in the pertest way. If any one approaches near this bower it scolds and makes the intruder feel that he is an intruder indeed. Before long there will be birdies in the nest and a very busy life it will have supplying them with food.

There is a Kansas doctor who is the wonder of his friends and this is the reason. He has invited twenty-six his wife's relatives to his summer camp for the season. When asked how he thinks they will agree, he laughs and says, "There is one thing we all agree. We are all against the New Deal."

There is a regular "Abie and his Irish Rose" case going on in the New York Courts. A Jew married a Roman Catholic. They were first married by a Rabbi and then by a Priest. The woman claims that they promised to raise the children in her church while the husband says they promised the Rabbi that they should be Jews.

The puzzled Judge has sent for both Priest and Rabbi to appear in Court before he can settle such a vexed question.

Dalia Lama, the ruler of the Lamas in the Tibetan mountains is dead and the tribe is searching for the baby that was born at the time of his death, in whom his spirit then entered.

They have selected twenty babies, born at that time and they will be watched carefully to see which one of the twenty has the spirit of Dalai and he will then be their ruler.

An isolated life these Lamas live in their mountain fastness. No stranger is ever allowed to enter there.

CONQUEST

Milton, the blind, who looked on Paradise!
Beethoven, deaf, who heard vast harmonies!
Byron the lame, who climbed toward Alpine skies!
Who pleads a handicap, remembering these?—Violet Allen Storey.

"This hurts me more than it does you," remarked Police Judge Calvin Muse of Dallas, Texas, when he fined his daughter $10 for speeding and $3 for running past a stop sign, and then dug down and paid the fines himself.

A barber's son last week was found guilty of robbing one of his father's customers. There was no doubt of his guilt as the goods were found on him. But to the surprise of all, the man who was robbed refused to prosecute the thief. "No indeed, I will not offend the father who has his razor over my throat several times each week. Self preservation is the first law of nature."

BALTIMORE AND OHIO PRESENTS THE ROYAL BLUE

In putting into service the new lightweight, super-powered Royal Blue, the Baltimore and Ohio follows its century old tradition of always considering first the safety and comfort of its passengers. First railroad in America, first to introduce individual seat coaches, first to air-condition trains, the Baltimore and Ohio pioneers again in presenting the what is termed by officials of the company the "world's most modern train," now in regular daily service between New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Every feature in this train is designed to add safety and comfort including the automatic tight-lock couplers which makes the train start and stop as one car, and the roller bearings and rubber cushioned trucks. The entire train is air-conditioned.

The train is constructed in large part of duralium, an aluminum alloy of great strength and lightness.

CHANGES IN STATE ROADS MADE KNOWN

Effective Thursday, August 1, Cecil county will be dropped from the Second District of the Maryland State Roads system thus reducing the number of counties in this district from five to four. The counties which will continue in the Second District, under the supervision of Rolph Townshend, district engineer, are Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot.

Meanwhile the axe which the new State Roads Commission has been wielding throughout the State has struck the Shore and many former county road engineers have been dropped from the roads forces. In Kent, Gilbert Taylor, for many years the county engineer and placed in charge of county roads in Kent when the State took over their maintenance some months ago, was dropped. John Turpin, holder of a similar position in Queen Anne's was also dropped.

A new lineup has been effected, with the older and more experienced road workers, possessors of jobs under the merit system, replacing the engineers dropped.

G. Bates Chaires, of Chestertown, will be in charge of construction and maintenance of all roads in Kent and Queen Anne's counties and Richard Groves, also a native Kent countian, will hold a similar position for Caroline and Talbot counties.

Still another native Kent man, Lewin Deputy, long an employee of the State Roads Commission, will be in charge of maintenance in Kent and Queen Anne's counties as an assistant to Mr. Chaires.

Up in Cecil county yesterday, where the Cecil County Commissioners are contesting the dismissal of Joseph T. Richards as county roads supervisor, Dr. Homer E. Tabler, chairman of the State Roads Commission, denied from the witness stand that it was the intention of the commission to replace Democratic roads officials in the various counties with Republicans. He testified that the commission had retained Democrats in five counties—Caroline, Queen Anne's, Kent, Frederick and Charles. He said that it was the intention of the commission to put all roads in Cecil county under one engineer, "if the court did not interfere."

St. James, Minn. . . . Miss Grace Cooke, switchboard operator of the St. James Telephone Company, is a heroine in the minds of the people of this community. During a recent fire which caused about $250,000 damage, according to Telephony, Miss Cooke remained at the switchboard calling neighboring towns for help until she was overcome. She was found by firemen and carried to safety. Firemen from three nearby towns helped to extinguish the fire which was said to be the largest in the history of St. James.

Hollywood, Calif. . . . Marlene Dietrich has the distinction of being the first person to be interviewed by a transpacific telephone call from Japan. Immediately following the opening of the service by government officials of the United States and Japan, the chief editor of the Tokyo Asahi, largest of the Japanese newspapers, inaugurated the telephone service with a three-minute talk with Miss Dietrich at Hollywood. The connection was established at 3:30 p. m., Pacific time, Miss Dietrich talking from her dressing room at Paramount on the set of "Caprice Espagnol." Production of the picture was halted by Director Joseph von Sternberg while the telephone conversation across the Pacific was in progress.
