FREAK STORM DAMAGES FARM

CROPS AND FARM BUILDINGS HURT BY TWISTER

A freak twister hit the Beck farm in Broad Neck occupied by Mr. Samuel Emory on Saturday of last week and did considerable damage to crops and outbuildings.

The corn and tomato crops suffered when the twister broke off much of corn and tore up many of the tomato plants.

It tore a new tin roof off the horse stable and blew it several hundred yards , it landing in Lankford Bay. Part of the tin was salvaged although some of it was in deep water and could not be found.

The old trees which helped make it one of the most attractive old homes in Kent County, were badly torn up tnd strewn about the lawn.

The twister did damage on the farm of Mr. Ringgold Jones and also blew down one of the old trees at St. Paul's Church in its sweep across Kent County. One of the limbs fell on the church and did damage estimated at $200.

This is the second twister that has visited this section this summer, in both cases outbuidings were damaged.

NEW GAME LAW COMPLICATED

Duck hunting, which has been one of the principal sports in Maryland for generations and which has afforded a livelyhood for hundreds of guides and shore owners is practically outlawed by the recently enacted Federal regulations.

While the new law allows shooting from November 20th to December 19th, it eliminates the use of bait and live decoys, sinkboxes, sneak boats and all open-water shooting.

According to a statement made this week by Mr. E. Lee Lecompt, State Game Warden for Maryland, a strong effort was made to close the season entirely by the Federal authorities. He stated that he vigorously fought this regulation due to the fact that it would probably stay closed for a number of years. The season on the shooting of swan a number of years ago and all efforts to reopen it have failed.

Just what effort the Federal Government will make to enforce the new ducking law remains to be seen as at the present time there are far too few Federal Game Wardens to take away the rights which duck hunters have enjoyed for generations. Although all regularly employed State game wardens are also Federal agents.

A complication has arisen in the laws for shooting doves. The Federal law prohibits the shooting of doves in September but opens it in October; The State law opens the season in September and closes it in October. The two laws together prohibit the shooting of doves until the first of November at which time practically all doves have left this section.

DISCUSS DISPOSAL PLANT PROSPECTS

REPRESENTATIVES OF STATE HEALTH BODY AND ATTORNEY MEET WITH COUNCIL.

Dr. Riley, of the State Health Department, and Messrs. Grey and Levinas, of the Attorney Generals office, met with the Mayor and Council of Chestertown on Monday evening of this week for the purpose of discussing the proposed sewerage disposal plant for Chestertown.

The State Department of Health, after conducting numerous tests of the waters of Chester River within a distance of a mile of Chestertown deemed the condition of these waters to be a public health menace and ordered the Mayor and Council of Chestertown in the fall of 1933 to stop dumping raw sewerage into Chester River by February 1st, 1934.

After a lapse of several months the Council purchased a lot on the Sprankin farm on the east side of the Quaker Neck Road near Radcliffe bridge, as a location for the plant and made application for a loan of the necessary funds to build the plant, from the Federal P. W. A.

In the meantime the State Board of Health turned the enforcement of the order over to the Attorney General's office for enforcement.

Recently the loan of P. W. A. funds was granted and the Council notified that unless the loan was taken up it would be withdrawn. The Council acting on the matter, notified Federal authorities that the the town was in no position to build the plant and the loan was cancelled.

The Attorney Generals office still have the Health Department's order in their hands for enforcement and the meeting Manday night was for the purpose of discussing what action that office would take in the metter.

The Council was unanimous in their statement that the financial condition of the town did not justify so large an expenditure of money based on the condition of the treasury and the fact that the assessment has dropped from over two million dollars to one million seven hundred thousand.

The Council has notified the State Board of Health of this condition this week with the hope that they will with draw the order now in the hands of the Attorney General's office. It is understood that unless the order is withdrawn the latter State office will be compelled to start legal action to enforce it.

A decision in the matter will probably be made by the State Board of Health within the next three weeks.

MARYLAND GETS $49-000,000 WORKS FUND

JOHN N. MACKALL RESIGNS AS WORKS CHIEF

Maryland works relief program involving an expenditure of $49,000,000 in this State has finally been approved at Washington and work is expected to be started shortly.

Of this sum $15,000,000 has already been designated for work on various Federal projects in the State such as Military camps, Federal highways, C.C.C. camps and other Federal projects. Of the remaining $34,000,000, Baltimore is to get $22,000,000 and the counties $12,000,000.

As far as Kent County is concerned there has been no final application for a part of this works fund except small outright grant projects such as continuing the copying of the old Court House records which was started last year and temporary maintenance work to give employment to those on the relief rolls of the County.

Among the projects that have been suggested but for which no formal application has been made are sewerage disposal plants for Chestertown and Betterton and water works extension at Rock Hall.

Mr. Francis M. Dryden, former city engineer for the town of Salisbury and consulting engineer for the Chestertown Water Board has been named works chief for Maryland to succeed Mr. Mackall.

H. W. VICKERS SERIOUSLY ILL

HIS CONDITION YET UNDETERMINED BY PHYSICIANS

Mr. Harrison W. Vickers, prominent lawyer of Chestertown, is seriously ill at the Homeopathic Hospital in Wilmington as a result of poison taken on Tuesday evening of this week.

According to physicians his condition can not be determined for a few days until it is found out how much effect the poison had on his system before he reached the hospital.

He was found in a room at the DuPont Hotel which he had taken for the night after he had apparently knocked the telephone receiver off the hook and the operator at the hotel started an investigation. When hotel authorities reached him he was lying on the floor of his room bleeding from his throat and wrists and suffering from the effect of poison.

Mr. Vickers has been suffering from ill health for several weeks and he was very despondent over the fact that his health was not improving.

He is Attorney to the County Commissioners of Kent County and prominent in the politics of the county.

FARM BUREAU PLANS EXPANSION

SEEKING ADDITIONAL MEMBERS HERE

The Kent County Farm Bureau is seeking a larger membership in this county so as to better serve he farmers as a unit.

In their drive for membership they have issued the following statement:

"The American Farm Bureau Federation, which is the outgrowth of necessity, more forcibly evidenced by the pioneers of its organization, is an organization that belongs to every farmer or farm owner in Kent County. It has been the key-note in trying to stabalize agriculture with industry. It has, through your State organization, been responsible for the reduction in taxes, the passage of Legislation to help solve your problems, the creation of a better atmosphere enviroment for folks on the farm and numerous other helps. Their program is sound and concrete and if it has not been a help to you perhaps you have not given your help to it.

"To make rural living a real worthwhile pleasure is the ultimate aim of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation. That organization is striving daily to make this a reality and its success thus far is certainly evidence of what they are doing but there is one thing that is essential in its development and that is membership. The work it is doing is helping every farmer but is every farmer doing what he can to help the organization? This is a question that you should be asking your self and when you are solicited for membership join with your neighbors and help the furtherance of your own cause.

"Your contribution in dollars and cents is only a small portion of what they are saving you, not only in dollars and cents but in the general well-being of the community in which you live."

WILL MOVE TO PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. Roger Williams will move from the Cochran-Hanson farm near Galena to Pennsylvania. Mr. Williams is one of Kent's outstanding farmers and is the largest asparagus grower in the county cultivating approximately 80 acres. Before leaving the county he will sell all of his personalty at public sale on August 29.

He will be succeeded on the Cochran farm by Mr. Andrew J. Pearce, of near Earlville.
