Jack Haley, Ann Sothern and Roger Pryor in "The Girl Friend"
A Columbia Picture
Reel Scene cuts on this TODAY

Coming to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, August 26 and 27 is 'The Girl Friend,' a new Columbia musical comedy in for what promises to be a long stay, bringing Ann Sothern, Jack Haley, Roger Pryor and a decidedly enjoyable time for those who view it.

Miss Sothern, as everyone must realize by now, is a captivating miss if ever there was one. She sings well, she dances well, she delivers lines well, and she's as pretty as anyone on the screen. She's as welcome as a breeze on a sultry day.

Haley, for his part, must be the fellow the word 'comical' was coined for. As Miss Sothern's playwriting brother, he gives a performance that is guaranteed to tickle the most reserved funny-bone.

Roger Pryor, playing the very pleasant role of the man who falls in love with Ann Sothern, continues to be one of the most personable leading men on the screen. Singing, dancing, loving, he fills the bill in every particular.

The summer theatres with their hayloft balconies and chicken coop mezzanines are taken for a gentle ride in 'The Girl Friend,' to the tune of some extremely catchy songs from the joint pens of Gus Kahn and Arthur Johnston. Ann is a farmr's daughter, Haley is her brother and Pryor is a down-at-the-heels actor who, with a pair of equally destitute pals, invades the serenity of their suburban life.

But Director Edward N. Buzzell sees that everything turns out all right, with the aid of a fine screenplay by Gertrude Purcell and Benny Rubin. Thurston Hall, Victor Kilian, Ray Walker and others round out the cast. It's a gay and frothy film that must be seen!

When two girls fall in love with the same man at the same time that should not only make news but plenty of excitement as well.

This is the theme of Walter Wanger's Paramount film, 'Smart Girl,' a high-powered, fast moving, sophisticated romance drama which comes on Wednesday and Thursday, August 28 and 29 at the New Lyceum Theatre.

Centering around the love conflict of two beautiful sisters, 'Smart Girl' combines comedy and action in its modern treatment of a modern love triangle. Two girls, blonde, attracive, smart Ida Lupino, and brunette, beautiful and also smart Gail Patrick are confronted with the problem of earning a living following their father's loss of fortune and his death by suicide. They both fall for the first man who appears on the scene, Kent Taylor. However Miss Patrick wins him, and Miss Lupino, having no alternative, goes to work and makes a success of hat designing for Joseph Cawthorn, millinery manufacturer.

Miss Patrick's expensive tastes force her husband from his law clerking job into the more lucrative business of selling stocks for Sidney Blackmer, innocent of the fact that Blackmer is a stockw swindler. Miss Lupino proves to be her brother-in-law's guardian angel and sets out in true smart girl fashion in putting things to rights without letting the man she loves know that she is the hand behind the throne. The principal players turn in excellent portrayals in their respective parts, Miss Lupino especially outstanding in her role of the modern girl, smart in business and in love.

Above all else W. C. Fields, screen comic, has a unique style of delivery which has endeared him to millions.

Fields, who is starred in Paramount's 'Man on the Flying Trapeze,' coming on Friday and Saturday, August 30 and 31 to the New Lyceum Theatre, declares he acquired his raspy voice as a youngster, and never has lost it. Few people know he started his career as a vocal comedian, turning to pantomine when he left for abroad.

The Fields delivery is unique. The lines themselves, with the raspy Fields voice reciting them, gain a distinctive humor that no other funny man on stage or screen can imitate or equal.

Paramount put him in a picture called 'International House.' The public roared. He was given a film contract by Paramount and put upon his own, privileged to write his own pictures and his own dialogue.

In 'Man on the Flying Trapeze' Fields is seen as a shy, down-trodden clerk, brow-beaten in the office and hen-pecked at home. The film tells how this 'poor man' tries to sneak away from his office and his nagging wife and mother-in-law to attend a wrestling match.

"MY GASOLINE AND OIL BILLS HAVE GONE DOWN SINCE I BOUGHT THIS FORD V·8"

$495 AND UP F. O. B. DETROIT

Standard accessory group, including bumpers and spare tire, extra. All body types have Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost. Small down payment. Convenient, economical terms through Universal Credit Company.

TUNE IN FRED WARING AND HIS PENNSYLVANIANS and STOOPNAGLE AND BUDD. A full hour of music and humor. Every Tuesday evening at 9:30, Eastern Daylight Saving Time. All stations of Columbia Broadcasting System.

THIS has been the experience of countless Ford V-8 owners. Even with the powerful 8-cylinder engine, the number of miles per gallon of gasoline has been greater than expected—the cost per mile less.

If you use a car for business, you are doubly interested in cost of operation. Then let us show you figures compiled by owners of large fleets of cars—figures which cover not only gasoline and oil consumption but also the cost of maintenance, freedom from repairs, number of days in continuous service, the size of territory covered, and high resale value.

The Ford V-8 has demonstrated itself to be a car of all-around economy as well as a great satisfaction to drive.
