NEW A. A. A. POTATO BILL

COUNTY AGENT SAYS PROVISIONS NOT AS DRASTIC AS REPORTED

The recently enacted Potato Control Bill passed as an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act is not nearly so cumbersome and objectionable as news reports in the city dailies relate, according to a statement made this week by County Agent McVean. Details will soon be available when farmers may learn just what the Act means and how it is to be applied.

In general, the Act states that farmers who sold no potatoes in recent years are not affected by the Act (except that they cannot sell potatoes).

Farmers who sell potatoes in excess of five (5) bushels apply for and get a quota or allotment in bushels based on former sales. Free stamps are supplied to cover that allotment, then if the farmer happens to grow more than his allotment and he desires to sell the excess, he buys revenue stamps at the Post Office to place on the bag or container in which he sells them. Farmers who benefit by wheat, corn-hog, tobacco, or other commodity control plans should be willing to help the potato grower to control production to the point that potatoes are not a drug on the market and a big loss to the producer.

The Act does not apply to the crop now in the ground in Maryland. It is backed by and was written by potato growers through their chosen representatives.

Kent farmers will be notified when further details are available.

DETAIL OF NEW WHEAT CONTRACTS

COUNTY AGENT GETS DETAILS IN BALTIMORE THIS WEEK

The new wheat adjustment contract has been approved in final form and applications will be offered to farmers in this county soon, states County Agent J. D. McVean. Fundamentally the contract is the same as the present one, some refinements and clarifications are included.

This contract will run for four years, from 1936 to 1939, inclusive, (seedings in fall of '35 to '38 inclusive), as compared with the three-year period of the present contract. Producers will receive a first payment each year, and then at the end of the year, the second payment will be fixed at such an amount as will tend to give the producer parity according to what the price of wheat has been during the marketing year.

The reduction in acreage each year will depend upon the national and world wheat situation. The extreme limit that may be called for is 25 per cent under the base acreage, but for the 1936 harvested crop the figure is set at 5 per cent. The base years for the new contract are the same as those for the present contract 1930-32 for acreage and 1928-32 for production. Under certain conditions, four-year and five-year base periods may be used, to meet special practices. Minor adjustments in base acreages in individual cases may be necessary. However, any farmer who desires to renew his contract is safe in planning to seed up to 95 per cent. as many acres as he has as the base acreage of his contract. All wheat producers who can establish a base production and acreage are eligible to sign contracts, whether or not they are signers of present contracts. Producers who have not been contract signers and who wish to go into the new program are advised to get in touch with their county agent.

The adjusted acreage is to be used for such purposes as pasture, timber, shelter belts, oil-erosion prevention, weed control, and soil improvement.

First 1936 adjustment payments will be payable in the summer of 1936 after compliance with the contract for that crop has been checked.

Application blanks will be available in the next week or ten days. Meetings in each election district will be held and applications signed.

OXFORD CARNIVAL ENDS IN RACE RIOT

The closing hours of the Oxford, Pa., carnival saw a good size race riot when James Lomax, colored, refused to get off a merry-go-round at the end of a trip. Lomax, it is said, was drunk and refused to get off the machine on the order of a woman operator. After some argument Lomax picked up a board and instead of striking the operator hit another woman, Mrs. J. E. Patrick, of Oak Hill, Pa., breaking her arm. The husband of the woman struck, knocked down the colored man and a half dozen negroes approached and gave battle to the woman's husband. He was joined by a number of white men who beat up the colored men and after the fight had clear, loaded Lomax into a truck, placing him in jail to prevent further trouble. Cries of lynch him were heard over the car-

SURVEYING FOR SHORE BOULEVARD

WOULD START AT SASSAFRAS RIVER BRIDGE

SURVEYORS IN KENT COUNTY THIS WEEK

A group of surveyors from the State Roads Commission are in Kent County starting a preliminary survey for a proposed Eastern Shore boulevard.

While all preliminary surveys are more or less secretive it is understood that the route being considered is a direct line from the Sassafras River bridge to the Choptank River bridge to Cambridge. This route would cut south of Galena to a point near Chesterville, miss Millington and Massey by about three miles and cross Chester River at Crumpton necessitating a new bridge at that point.

The line would then go straight to the town of Hope which is five miles east of Centreville, also miss Easton by 2 miles, to the Choptank River bridge.

It is understood that the plans call for a 100 ft. right-of-way with a 20 ft. road way leaving plenty of room for a dual highway when funds are available.

It is also understood that the completion of this boulevard would necessitate replacing the foundation of the Sassafras River bridge.

Why A Boulevard

It has long been a contention by motorists that it is a disgrace to the State of Marylahd that in traveling between numerous points on the Eastern Shore it is more desirable to cross into Delaware, use the Delaware boulevards and then cut back into Maryland to the destination.

An Eastern Shore boulevard has been discussed for a number of years but recently with the flood of Federal funds for through highways, every section of the Shore is clamoring for a wide north and south boulevard to replace the present narrow winding roads that were built two decades ago. The main highways on the Shore, when constructed, were ample to care for the rather slow moving traffic of that day, but at the present time with the ever increasing and faster moving trucks and passenger cars, the old road system has become obsolete and dangerous.

The increasing number of fatalties from automobile accidents has become the most important problem before the motor vehicle departments of the various States and the plea to motorists to be careful and the various 'Save-A-Life Campaigns have of little value.

With the new types of motor vehicles capable of traveling faster than 60 miles an hour on long runs and the desire of motorists to speed, the present thought is that the only way to curb accidents is to build roads to accommodate this fast means of transportation.

There is no doubt but that Maryland State Roads Commission is seriously considering an Eastern Shore Boulevard and in fact some preliminary work is underway looking toward the best location for same. Each section of the Shore has or is preparing to submit its idea of the proper location of this proposed new highway and, to avoid the possibility of selfish interests bringing enough pressure to bear to locate the proposed highway in a wrong location, we hope careful study of the entire peninsula will be made before any definite steps are taken.

for the bridge it is safe to say it any thought of a bridge across the Chesapeake Bay it will be a mistake that will ever be regretted. While the prospects of the bridge being constructed within the next year or two are somewhat dim, so also is the completion of the Eastern Shore boulevard but with the ever increasing demand for theb ridge it is safe to say it can be looked for shortly after the completion of the boulevard.

The Eastern Shore highways, with the many curves and narrow width, are inadequate, due to lack of foresight in their construction. This is excusable as they were built shortly following the period when automobiles became of practical use.

However, with the prospect of a Chesapeake Bay bridge, there will be no excuse for the building a boulevard down the Eastern Shore without giving due consideration to the possibility of the bridge's construction.

W. C. HAS 33 FOOTBALL CANDIDATES

With the starting of football practice on Thursday of this week at Washington College, there were 33 candidates out making three complete squads.

While it is impossible to predict the football ability of the new candidates, there is a lot of material to work with.

There are four vacancies in the first string eleven of last year, Ward, Lord, Duyer and Grimes that will have to be picked from last year's subs and new men.

The first game of the season will be played at Chestertown on Saturday, October 5th when American University will be the visitors. This should be a good game with Washington College picked to win.

The annual alumni home coming game will be October 19th when Hopkins will play here. Founders Day exercises will also be held at the College that week end.

HOG CHOLERA REPORTED HERE

According to a report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, there were three cases of hog cholera reported in Kent County in August. There were fifty cases reported in the State.

Farmers are urged to use every precaution to prevent the spread of this risease at this season of the year, particularly in view of the present price of pork.

DELAWARE FARMERS MUST TRIM HEDGE ROWS

Farm owners or tenants of farms in Delaware where there are untrimmed hedges along dirt roads are being requested to have these hedges trimmed at they are interfering with the work of preparing these dirt roads for winter traffic, according to W. W. Mack, chief engineer of the State Highway Department of that State.

The highway maintenance crews have come in contact with some hedges that have reached a height of almost twenty feet and work along the sides of these roads is practically impossible.

The law covering the matter specifically sets forth that hedges shall not be allowed to grow higher than five feet and adds that owners or tenants shall cut and trim them at least once a year.
