The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer;

My one vacation about three weeks ago was such a delight, that when Opportunity came a-knocking at my door for a second one, I just couldn't turn it down, hence my absence last week. Now that you and I have had two rests from each other, you might as well make the best of it for I see no more chances of escape and I am right with you for many months to come.

Last Saturday afternoon many of our residents and their guests made a trek to the estate of Mr. William du Pont up near Elkton to witness the Foxcatcher National Cup Race. It was a heavenly day for such an event, and had I not been on water, viewing the banks of the Sassafras, I probably would have been there too. Among those who had week end guests and were at the Race were: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller, of Hinchingham entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hutchinson, of Long Island and Mr. Wilbur Ross Hubbard entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll, Jr., of Baltimore, and Howard County.

It is always interesting and pleasing to have people of renown in our midst and in addition to all the other pleasures of last week end the voice of Philco, no other than Boake Carter, entered the domain of the Eastern Shore and with Mr. and Mrs. William Darlington, of Tarsdale, Pa., were week end guests of Mrs. William T. Dixon at Green Point Farm. I hear that he likes our corner of the earth so much that he intends to repeat his visit soon again. His mind has changed, a wise man is he, for some time ago he spoke not so flatteringly of 'God's country.'

Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Stone, of Pittsfield, Mass., have remained throughout the week, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eben Perkins and while Mr. Stone has spent his vacation, catching as many fish as possible, Mrs. Stone has been the honor guest at several informal parties. Mrs. H. Clay Brown gave a very pretty luncheon in her honor yesterday, which just can not go unmentioned.

Mrs. Jackson R. Collins and her two children have been guests this week of Mrs. Claude Truslow. Mr. Collins will join them over the week end when they will return to their home in Montclair, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Derringer were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Corey.

Mrs. Louis Skinner and her son, Mr. Jack Skinner of New York, are guests of Mrs. J. Thomas Kibler.

Hay-fever time will soon be over, and for those unfortunate friends of mine who are victims, I will certainly be glad. Mr. Jack Barroll, a sufferer of the malady, has gone to Bethlehem, New Hampshire, where one is quite free from it. It's a grand place to go, hay fever or no, having spent a summer there myself in days of my youth.

Last Monday seemed as if it were time for birthdays for I know of three, right off the bat, who claimed September 23rd as their natal day. Mrs. Mary Jane Flemming celebrated her eighty third birthday at home and was the recipient of many acknowledgements of the day. Frank B. Hines, Jr., celebrated his, at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines, the first time he has had that pleasure in 10 years. Scott Beck, Jr., entered manhood on Monday, and on Wednesday, left for the University of Maryland to master the profession of Law.

Miss Leonora Harris Springer has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines, and remained until Tuesday before returning to her home in Baltimore.

Mrs. Rolph Townshend and son, Rolph, Jr., spent the week end with friends and relatives in Baltimore.

Miss Nancy Jean Usilton has returned to Washington, where she will be the athletic instructor at the Potomac School there, for the coming year.

Mr. John Kiskadden, of Washington, will spend the week end in Chestertown.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gilpin Brown will come this week end to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Beck. They will bring as their guests, Mr. Young Dawkins and Mr. Waters, of Philadelphia, who with Mr. Brown and some friends here will go on a fishing trip.

Mrs. Lewin Wickes has returned from a trip through southern Maryland where she visited friends and relatives. Lewin Wickes, Jr., has entered St. John's College where he will pursue his studies for the term.

But on my way I must be going, so till next week,

Yours,

THE WANDERER.

WILLIAM S. COLLINS

It is claimed by some that there is always a reaction to everything. Maybe this is time or maybe not but often times you are forced to (slangly put) eat some of the things you have said.

Examples: several years ago when men started the fad of not wearing garters I most postively announced that I would never be without them. For the past ten years or so these shapely legs have not felt the touch of garters.

H. L. Mencken wrote column after column condemning the institution of marriage. Later he married and publicly reiterated his stand on the subject.

Now what I am getting at is this. When the Eastern Shore had just completed one of its two lynching jobs, Boake Carter, radio broadcaster in his spell condemned the affair and also the people of the Eastern Shore as a whole, using words something like this (These may not be exact .) The entire population is made up of ignorant lawless 'fishermen.' Anyhow he said plenty. Last week end Mr. Boake Carter was a visitor to the Eastern Shore and our own Kent County. He must have eaten what he said a few years ago or else he is full of balony.

Recalling his radio statement after the lynching, he apologized and claimed he made a public apology over the radio the night following his lambast. Anyhow this week the hostess received one of his latest books autographed thus:

'If all hostesses were as charming and hosjitable, life would be so simplified.'

Boake Carter.

Probably publishing the above will cost me a friendhsip but remember when you play around with the public and hospitable, life would be so simpliget publicity. I have been used so much, walked on, etc., quite often I feel like a much used road looks.

Maryland, My Maryland. Young S. Scott Beck, Jr., of Chestertown is in the freshman class of the University of Maryland Law School. He has the distinction of being in the first class of the University that has a negro in it.

Strenuous efforts are being made by the officials of the University to have the negro removed from its midst. The case now is before ehe Court of Appeals and until this court decides the case the negro will continue to attend the University. At present we have mixed races attending the graduate school of the University of Maryland.

On top of this, two negro girls are putting up a fight to attend the Catonsville High School, which is a white school. This case will go to court and like the other will probably end up in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Delaware is the only predominant Republican Seate in the Country that does not have mixed schools. In fact every state north of the Mason and Dixon line has this condition as well as laws for inter-marriage of the races. It only stands to reason that Maryland will be the next state to be invaded. This means we will have to be broad-minded.

According to the present arguments the negroes claim they have a right to attend any tax supported schools when their schools do not offer the courses they want. As long as there is a colored High School in Chestertown, the colored people are willing to use this school according to their claims. But if a colored pupil wanted to take the Commercial Course and the colored High School did not offer this course, then they should be allowed to attend the white school to get it.

This present year a negro magistrate and a negro coroner have been appointed for Maryland. On top of this they have a member of their race at tending the University of Maryland. What next?

Kent County farmers are having a hard time to get their corn cut. A lot of local labor have simply refused to work. Every day fifty or sixty workers are imported from Baltimore. To get these men they have to pay an employment agency a dollar apiece and pay their boat fare over here. In quite a few cases these men have worked for about a couple of hours and suit.
