Believes in 'Paradise' for Man's Best Friend

Three dogs have broken my heart. First, it was the black setter, Clay, of my boyhood. By the glow of a sputtering candle in an old coal shed I sat beside him the night long, helpless as he suffered the agony of a conscienceless poisoner's ground glass.

Next, it was a Boston bull, Junior, who obeying a command of mine to cross deserted Fifth avenue at midnight, was struck down by drunken joyriders. Junior crawled toward me, licked my hand as though to say, 'It wasn't your fault, partner!' and was no more.

Now there is the newest scar. A beautiful and joyous Sealyham named Rainbow, full of romp, devotion and clownish nonsense, came tail-wagging back from a walk one day, and a little later slithered bellyise toward his mistress with a pathetic whimper. Soon he was in the convulsions of a baffling poison that rendered him stiff and cold.

It is not blind, unreasoning faith but a conviction as clear as a winter star that such unquenchable sparks do not fly upward to nowhere. Somewhere there is an Elysian greenery of eternal frolic where quizzical heads are suddenly cocked for the familiar voice they will certainly hear. A paradise otherwise is unthinkable.—O. O. McIntyre in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Grass For Dinner

Dried grass dishes are among the latest food delicacies developed by chemist-dieticians who claim that young cereal grasses such as oats, rye and barley are several hundred times more nurtitious than spinach, carrots, lettuce, etc. However, they must be cut at exactly the right time as the variation of a week will reduce the vitamin, mineral and fat content by 50 per cent.

Helpful Hints

Sift together through flour sifter one-half cup flour, one-half cup white sugar and one-half teaspoon of powdered alum; put pint of water and 15 drops of oil of cloves in double boiler, beat in the flour mixture and cook until clear and you have a fine library paste.

A lemon ill yield nearly double the amount of juice if it is heated thoroughly before squeezing.

Fresh fruit stains can be removed from table linen by sponging with lemon juice and washing with hot water.

French Lamb Ragout

2 pounds lamb shoulder or breast
3 tablespoons flour
6 slices bacon
8 small onions
6 potatoes
'Bouquet garni' (1 stalk celery, 3 sprigs parsley, 1 bay-leaf, and 1 spring thyme tied together)
4 carrots
Salt and pepper
Whole cloves

Have the lamb cut into 1-inch cubes. Dredge ehese with flour. Cut the slices of bacon in quarters and cook until crisp. Brown the onions in the drippings. Remove them, and brown the meat. Add the rest of flour and 1 pint of hot water. Then add the bouquet garni' and 6 or 8 whole cloves. Cover and let simmer for one hour, then add the browned onions, potatoes and carrots. Let cook until the vegetables are done.

Hungarian Goulash

2 pounds beef chuck
Flour
Lard
6 small onions
4 tomatoes
1 1-4 teaspoons paprika
1-4 cup barley
1 cup meat stock or water
Salt and pepper

Have beef chuck cut into 1-inch cubes. Dredge it with flour, season with salt and pepper and brown in hot lard. Slice the onions over it and let cook until they are soft. Add the paprika, tomatoes, peeled and quartered, and the meat stock or water. Let cook slowly for about one hour. Add the barley and a little more warm water, and let cook very slowly thirty or forty minutes longer, stirring occasionally to prevent burning.

AN ACORN

Just now, I picked up an acorn. It is a pretty little thing. Its mother is a flourishing young tree, and as yet very few acorns are found on it. As I looked at the little nut. I thought of what it contains, the germ of a tree in its tiny shell. There is one thing about the present time which seems a good thing. They are planting out new trees, reforesting our lands.

China, with her lands denuded of trees, with her floods and famines is teaching other lands how necessary the trees are, to stay the soil, thus keeping the fertile top soil from being washed away and also keeping the shore lines firm so they may resist the overflow of water. t may be an expensive experiment, but one that will benefit the generations which are to come.

Andobon

Andobon, the lover of birds, and a great painter was a man of many talents but like the Jack of all trades, was not successful at any for a long time.

His paintings too are very true to na- and then his wife took hold. She began to teach school and persuaded her husband to devote himself to painting and to birds. He went to work with a will. When he would go to the parks in the city, the birds would hover about him and light on his head and shoulders.

His paitnings to are very true to nature. It is said thae he went to Niagara Falls in order to paint it. After spending a day gazing at its magnificence he turned way, saying 'No painter can paint such a glorious spectacle.'

When he had quite a number of paintings his wife persuaded him to take them to England.

He did so, and found that he not only could sell all his paintings, but that he was lionized as well.

After that his fortune was made, and his paintings were always in demand.

But he is remembered always by his great love of birds.

He plead that his little feathered companions would not be killed, that they might adorn 'my lady's hat' Audobon societies spring up all over the country.

A statue to him has been erected in New Orleans where he spent much time and many who see it, say that a statue should also be raised to his brave and devoted wife.

DID YOU KNOW?

BY C. COX HOPPER

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

'Due to the tardiness in payment for Jury service in Kent County, an act of assembly was passed in 1827, making it lawful for the Justices of the Levy Courts to 'levy annually one year in advance such sum of money as the said Justices may deem sufficient.'

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

In the year 1827 the General Assembly of Maryland appointed John Brown, Robert Carson and Francis A. Rochester, a commission to 'locate a ditch or drain in such manner and direction as will effectively take off and reduce to dry land, a point of water for Church Hill adjoining the store of Parran Taylor.' At a much later date the writer caught bullfrogs and terrapins in this or a similar point of water on Church Hill, which belonged to R. E. C. Downes and who ineffectually tried to drain it.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

'For want of timber and means of enclosing fields,' the General Assembly of Maryland passed an Act in the year 1836, providing that gates be kept on the public roads of Kent County, by the owners of the properties through which the roads passed.

But, said the Act of 1836, 'whereas, at the March term no more should be placed, and that 'all gates be hung on good an sufficient hinges, swinging clear and free and easily opened.'

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

That the law requiring that one of Maryland's United States Senators, must come from the Eastern Shore of the State was repealed in 1896.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

In a law passed by the Maryland Assembly in the year 1827 it was required that 'a notice be published in the 'Chestertown Telegraph.' In an insolvency notice, published in the year 1837, it was stated that due notice had been published in 'The Kent Bugle.'

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

John Turner, Samuel G. Osborne, Nicholas Smith, Jesse Knock and their descendants, were named by Act of Assembly of Mar. 7, 1828' shall forever hereafter be disertors and managers of 'The school or Academy in Millington in Kent County.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

By an Act of Assembly of 1832, it was required that Constables kill sheep-killing dogs for a fee of four dollars.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen limbs; feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

TREAT SHEEP FOR PARASITES

INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PARASITES CAUSE ENORMOUS LOSSES EACH YEAR

(By COUNTY AGENT McVEAN)

Thrift of sheep, and of their owners, can be promoted by the regular use of precautions to avoid losses due to parasites. Failure to take advantage of the relatively cheap treatments which have been developed is responsible for heavy losses in some cases, and for substantial reductions in profits in many other cases. It seems probable that parasites alone are not responsible for all of the losses which have been charged to them, but, beyond question, they are responsible in large part, at least, for tremendous losses.

Whenever practible use should be made of fresh pasture for sheep, particularly for young sheep, so as to cut down to some extent the infestation by internal parasites. Shifting into fresh pastures once in each three weeks should do much to prevent losses often encountered when sheep are gazed continuously on permanent pastures. Not only should fresh pastures be used when it is practible to do so, but there should be pasture in sufficient abundance to provide generous grazing.

The copper sulphate treatment will do much to keep stomach worms in check so that they cannot do serious damage to the flock. To be most beneficial, this treatment should be kept up persistently, even if no serious symptoms are in evidence. After the bad effects are so extensive as to be strikingly apparent, the damage that has been done is so serious that it is too much to expect any dosing to restore thrift quickly, if at all. The copper sulphate treatment should be used for its preventive value, rather than for its curative effeect, though it does have high value for the latter use.

Over-indulgence in food, drink, or tobacco frequently brings on an over-acid condition which may result in Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, Colds, Fatigue, Muscular, Rheumatic or Sciatic Pains. To get rid of the discomfort and correct the acid condition, take

FOR THOSE WHO REMAIN

When death visits a home, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.
