AT THE MOVIES NEXT WEEK

Melvyn Douglas, Michael Bartlett and Claudette Colbert in "She Married Her Boss"—A Columbia Picture

2 col. Scene cut or mat SMB-35B

Bing Crosby, considered one of the ten biggest box office attractions on the screen, is not going to be a star.

Before the singer signed his new Paramount contract, which runs for three years, he insisted upon a non-starring clause. He will submit to featured billing, or co-starring with some toher player, if necessary, but the studio is defintely restrained from starring him in any film without his written consent.

Crosby's first picture on his new contract is 'Two For Tonight,' coming on Monday and Tuesday, October 7 and 8 to the New Lyceum theatre. Joan Bennett, Mary Boland, Lynne Overman, Thelma Todd and Ernest Cossart appear with Bing in this riotous comedy romance, with music, that recounts the amusing incidents that take place when a singer trying to sell a song to a music publisher, accidentally meets a theatrical producer who imagines he is a playwright.

The crooner undergoes many up setting but rollicking adventures in his task of preparing a play for the producer's star and sweetheart. Advised that he should go out in search of more material to finish his manuscript, he gets involved in an hilarious seltzer water-siphon squrting incident in a swanky night club, lands in jail, and eventually sings his way into the right girl's heart. Frank Tuttle directed.

The problems of a private secretary are briskly dealt with in Claudette Colbert's new Columbia picture, 'She Married Her Boss,' which comes to the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, October 9 and 10, last night to the accompaniment of enthusiastic applause.

Produced by the same company that gave you Miss Colbert in 'It Happened One Night,' the new film has the same huoyancy and freshness that made its predecessor a five-way prize-winner. 'She Married Her Boss' is undoubtedly the grandest fun since the falling of the walls of Jericho.

Miss Colbert herself is delightful; her inherent charm and vivacity have never been shown to better advantage. As a very efficient secretary who carelessly falls in love with her boss, she sees to it that he takes time off one day to buy her a wedding ring. That proves a costly mistake, for the marriage turns out to be one of the maddest things one can imagine.

The fun continues fast and furious, with Miss Colbert as the storm center. Melvyn Douglas does a fine job as the frantic boss, and Michael Bartlett, last seen in Grace Moore's 'Love Me Forever,' is thoroughly engaging as a devil-may-care chap who tries to manage the secretary's affairs for her.

Edith Fellows as the boss' precocious nine-year-old daughter; Katherine Alexander as his nerve-wracked sister Raymond Walburn as a butler; Jean Dixon as Miss Colbert's crony; and Clara Kimball Young in a small role are all splendid.

Sidney Buchman has provided, from Thyra Samter Winslow's story, a fine screen play with sparkling dialogue, and Gregary LaCava's warm and understanding direction ties the whole thing up into a bundle of the choicest merriment in many moons.

The oft-expressed idea that 'moving pictures should move' has reached its ultimate in execution in the latest feature film from a Hollywood studio. It covers a period of eight hours, and cramshectic events that crowd those eight hours into an hour and a quarter of screen entertainment. Studio executives believe that it is one of the fastest pictures, in point of lightning-like succession of action, ever made.

This is 'Woman Wanted,' directed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios by George Seitz and coming the New Lyceum as part of or double feaeure show on Friday, Saturday, October 11 and 12. Maureen O'Sullivan and Joel McCrea are teamed for the first time. In it Lewis Stone starts the new contract that marks his twentieth year on the screen. The cast also includes Louis Calhern, Edgar Kennedy and Adrienne Ames.

Playing hookey from the company camp at Lone Pine in the High Sierras, Gail Patrick and Glen Erikson hastily chartered a plane, flew to Mount Whitney and returned within two hours with a limit of golden trout apiece, while scenes were being taken with other members of the cast appearing in Zane Grey's Paramount western, 'Wanderer of the Wasteland,' to the New Lyceum as part of a double feature show on Friday, and Saturday, October 11 and 12.

The story of 'Wanderer of the Wasteland' whose cast includes also Dean Jagger, Edward Ellis, Benny Baker, Larry 'Buster' Crabbe, Trixie Friganza, Monee Blue, Anna Q. Nilsson, Raymond Hatton, and Fuzzy Knight, combines all the thrills, action, drama and romance for which Zane Grey is famous.

Action centers around the romantic background of the California desert where an innocent man, hunted by the law, is forced to join a gang of desert outlaws until their kidnapping of a gold prospector results in his reformation and he becomes the Nemesis of all bandits.

DID YOU KNOW?

BY C. COX HOPPER

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

The present town of Millington was, prior to (about) 1819 known as 'Head of Chester.' By act of the Legislature Dec. 4, 179 the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal Company was incorporated, and it was proposed to construct the canal across the peninsula by way of Chester River and Millington. Books for the enterprise were opened with William Barroll of Chestertown representing Kent County. The Elk River route, however, was chosen.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

The Head of Chester post office was established January 9, 1811, with James Bradshaw as its first postmaster. The name of Head of Chester was at that time changed to Millington.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

By Act of Assembly of 1715, it was provided that 'This act nor anything therein contained shall extend or be construed to extend to prejudice the right of Richard Bennett, Esquire to such land laid out for a town in Worton Creek in Kent County wherein houses, orchards and improvement were at the time of laying out that town.'

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

Prior to the present system of granting Divorce by the Courts, matrimonial bonds were dissolved by the State Legislature and Kent County figured conspicuously in the divorce records.

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

Prior to the year 1837 'Much trouble and loss was experienced by different individuals' by 'Drovers driving cattle and sheep in and through said county which were unmarked.' So it was provided by Act of Assembly that it should be the 'duty of each and every driver or drovers who shall drive any sheep or cattle in this Kent County' to have them marked with red paint or tar on their foreheads or back.' The penalty was that any offender' shall forfeit value of such cattle or sheep,' any person discovering the violation was given a right to 'take from said driver or drovers all the unmarked sheep or cattle and them safe Keep.'

DID YOU KNOW, THAT:

The sheriffs of the State of Maryland by Act of Assembly of 1826, were required to provide for sick persons in their jails, foods, as the physicians appointed to attend on prisoners in jail shall deem necessary,' the list to be signed by the physician.

WORTON

Mrs. Lewis Wolf, of Baltimore, spent last week end with her sister, Mrs. Marion Rash and family.

Mr. Ford Matthews and son, Sheridan, of Clarendon, Va., were the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews last week, Mrs. H. M. Matthews accompanied them home for a visit.

We were indeed shocked and grievel to hear of the death of Benge Thomas, son of Mrs. John Thomas who was killed in an automobile accident last week. We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the family.

Miss Ann Mathews, of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Billy Beck Matthews, of University of Maryland, were the guest of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman and little son, 'Jimmie' visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coleman, of near Massey, Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson has returned home after spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Medford Green and family of near Church Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clayville visited their daughter, Mrs. W. O. Draper and family, of Chestertown over the week end.

An egoist is a man who sounds the horn of his car as he approaches a railway crossing.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company have kindly offered their services to solicit donations for the maintenance of the Fire Company for the ensuing year. The Fire Company believing that the Public did not want a carnival held in Chestertown this year, have decided on a donation plan to raise necessary funds. Now it is up to the friends of the Fire Company to give generously and back up the Boys in carrying out what they believe were the wishes of the Citizens of the Town. Your donation to this cause will be greatly appreciated.

Telephone Pioneers Make Plans For Membership Enrollment

Milton E. Gerber

Newly elected officers of the Maryland chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America, are making an earnest effort to enroll all eligible employees in this organization, which is comprised of men and women with twenty-one years or more service in the telephone industry.

Milton E. Gerber, Baltimore, general commercial engineer, is president of the chapter, succeeding J. W. Talbot, Baltimore, general plant manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City operating in the state of Maryland.

Other officers are W. H. Smith, Baltimore, traffic superintendent, southern district, vice president, and Herman F. Thomas, Baltimore, senior clerk, plant construction, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee consists of Miss Florence E. Le Maitre, senior clerk, revenue accounting, Baltimore, Miss Mary E. Harsch, chief operator, Oakland, and Mr. Talbot.

The Maryland chapter now comprises 550 members including telephone men and women from all sections of the state.

Organization of the Telephone Pioneers of America with which this chapter is affiliated, originated with Henry W. Pope, who in 1880 had organized the National Telephone Exchange Association. With the assistance of Charles R. Truex and Thomas B. Doolittle, the organization was founded. The first meeting of the Telephone Pioneers of America was held at Boston, the birthplace of the telephone, November 2 and 3, 1911. Theodore N. Vail, then president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was the first president of the organization. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, who spoke the first words by telephone March 10, 1876, was the speaker at the initial meeting of the telephone pioneers.

William Chauncey Langdon, historical librarian of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in a book on the subject, "Telephone Pioneers," points out that Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, was the last of the great individual inventors. Working alone, Dr. Bell thought out the theory of the electrical transmission of speech, discovered the proper use of the undulatory current and invented the telephone. Development of the telephone as an instrument, as a communication system, a business organization and public utility has been the result of team work, Mr. Langdon points out. The membership of the Telephone Pioneers of America, he says, is made up of those whose work through a notable number of years has contributed to that development. In the spirit of comradeship these men in developing the industry were brought into closer fellowship that resulted in the organization of the pioneers.
