Hail to the Horse!

"Do you favor the horse and buggy days?"

"Not especially," said Miss Cayenne. "But when society turns out for a horse show, I am strong for the saddle and bridle days."

Hot Cat!

Wife (going to bed)—Have you put the cat out?

Fireman-Husband (sleepily)—I didn't even know it was on fire!

NO UPSETS

The proper treatment for a bilious child

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

ANY mother knows the reason when her child stops playing, eats little, is hard to manage. Constipation. But what a pity so few know the sensible way to set things right!

The ordinary laxatives, of even ordinary strength, destroy all hopes of restoring regularity.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use a liquid laxative. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. The liquid laxative they generally use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist has it.

MASTER'S DEGREE NEXT

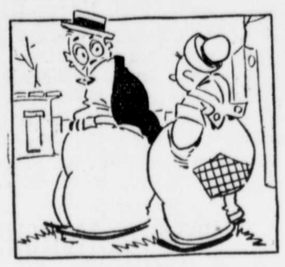

"Week before last," said the kind lady to the paralyzed beggar, "you got a dollar from me because you were deaf and dumb. Last week I gave you a quarter because you were blind before I realized that you were the same man. Now you ask for money because you are paralyzed."

"Yessum," said the beggar. "Them's the facts."

"Don't you think you'd do better if you'd choose one affliction and stick to it?" asked the lady.

"No, ma'am," said the beggar. "They's nothin' so fatal to the full development o' one's natural powers as narrer specialization."—Exchange.

CASH AND CREDIT

"Say, boss, me an' me family's starvin'. Can you help me out wit' a little small change?"

"Too bad! All my funds are employed just now. If you can use my note, at say thirty days—"

The Advantage

Two children were having a heated argument.

"My daddy's a mounted policeman," said Tommy. "He rides a horse all day."

"That's no better than being an ordinary policeman, like my daddy," said little Freddie.

"Oh, but it is!" said the other. "If there's any trouble he can get away quicker."—Answers Magazine.

"Ain't Heered"

A traveling salesman meets a farmer driving a mule team:

Salesman—John, how has the depression hit you people in this neck of the woods?

Farmer—Well, I ain't heered anything about it. You know I ain't read a paper in a coon's age. We have all been well and as happy as common, I reckon.

Precaution

Frances B., of Franklin, with a puzzled look inquired:

"Mother, why do they milk a cow every morning and night?"

As the mother hesitated for an answer, Frances replied:

"Well, I guess they have to do it so the milk won't sour."—Indianapolis News.

Chit-Chat

Officer (to colored driver who has been whipping his horse)—Don't whip him, man—talk to him.

Driver (to horse, by way of opening the conversation)—Ah comes from N'Awleans. Where does you come from? —Southern Lumberman.

NOT EVEN A POTATO

First Suburbanite—How are your vegetables?

Second Suburbanite—All ashamed of themselves. There isn't one in the whole patch that dares look me in the eye.
