MANY APPLICATIONS FOR EMPLOYMENT

LOCAL N. R. S. ANNOUNCES INFLUX OF UNEMPLOYED HERE

The National Reemployment service is finding a steady increase of applicants in the active files due to the fact that farm work is growing less and canneries are closed until next year.

Employables on relief will undoubtedly be provided with work through the W. P. A. and P. W. A. to a large extent and through such employment, provided by the Government, they will be removed from relief rolls. However, such persons remain in the active files of the National Reemployment Service whose duty it is to place people in private employment whenever possible even though they may be employed on W. P. A. or P. W. A. jobs which require the applicant to have relief status. A few key positions do not require relief status.

Since Cecil County belonged in the Chestertown District last fall it is not practicable to give comparative figures of those in the N. R. S. active files for October, 1934, and October, 1935 but a rough estimate places about 25 per cent. less for this year over last.

All employers, using any type of workers, are urged to contact the Service when in need of additional employees. It is, of course, a benefit to a community to remove all employables from relief rolls through normal channels and the National Reemployment Service will welcome all cooperation toward that end.

The National Reemployment Service was set up by the Government for the purpose of registering and classifying all unemployed people and serving local employers by referring to them competent, qualified workers This service is given without cost to the applicant or to the employer.

Under the recent set-up of the W. P. A. and the P. W. A. persons with relief status who are required for the various projects are drawn from the files of the N. R. S. after a Certification of Eligibility for the case has been received from the Relief Agency of whatever county the applicant makes his residence.

MARYLAND FARMERS TO VOTE ON CORN-HOG PROGRAM

Farmers of Kent County will vote, as part of a national referendum, on whether they favor a corn-hog adjustment program to follow the 1935 program expiring November 30, it is announced by J. D. McVean, County Agent. The date for balloting throughout the country is October 26.

Every corn and hog grower in the state, whether or not he signed a 1934 or 1935 corn-hog contract, is eligible to vote.

Feed supplies, livestock numbers and the market outlook are now such that the next three years may see a greater increase in hog production than has ever taken place in any similar period according to A. A. A. officials. Some increase from the present low level of production is desirable, they state, but there is real danger that expansion will become excessive unless another adjustment program is inaugurated. They assert that ten production cycles occurring since 1890 have created periodic gluts and shortages and that these excessive swings in production have been harmful to both consumer and producer.

PROPER LIGHTING HELPS CHILDREN WITH SCHOOL WORK

Children are notoriously indifferent to the light they use. They will read or study with almost any light, often at the expense of their eyes. Every competent eye-specialist confirms this.

There ih always the possibility if near-sightedness exists that the ailment will be aggravated. And even if this is not true, the working of problems and studying of text books under the best possible light mean utility, comfort, and convenience.

Light for home study should come from above or from behind, well diffused if from above, and from such an angle, if direct, that it throws no interfering shadows.

The dining room table is a good place for home study if the light comes from overhead. But some modern homes have gotten away from the ceiling fixture in the dining room, using wall brackets instead. Lighting engineers say this method not only dims the attractive sparkle of silver, china and glassware at dinner, but makes the dining room of no use for study. In the event another table or desk should be used with a portable lamp providing illumination from the proper angle.

Tests conducted over a period of three years in the State of Alabama show that more pupils are promoted from well-lighted than from poorly-lighted schools. And the lighting of the student's home is comparably important.

CAR INSPECTION NEARS END

OCTOBER 31ST SET AS DEADLINE

Motor vehicles failing to display inspection stickers will be denied the use of the highways on and after November 1.

This warning is given by the Keystone Automobile Club of Maryland, at the reguest of State authorities, who are planning to enforce rigid rules against the operation of cars which have not been inspected and passed by the Official Inspection Stations.

'Although tht inspection period ends October 31,' said Garrison P. Knox Manager of the Club, 'a vast number of the State's motor vehicles have not been submitted for the test of mechanical fitness. Car owners who wait until the final week may discover that Official Station facilities are not equal to the task of handling the last-hour rush. In consequence, many motorists are likely to find themselves in an embarrassing position November 1.'

DUCKING LAW INTERPRETATIONS

NEW INTERPRETATIONS ELIMINATE USE OF BAIT AND LIVE DECOYS

The following information concerning pertinent questions as to the provisions of the new law for shooting water wild fowl was received this week from Mr. Orin D. Steele, U. S. Game Management Agent. This information points out nterpretation of provisions of the law with reference to blinds and baiting that differs from other interpretations as received from other agents of the Biological Survey.

There is no question as to the use of guns in which more than three shells can be carried but in reference to baiting, Mr. Steele points out:

The law, Quote;—are not permitted to be taken with or by aid of corn, wheat, oats, or other grain or products thereof, salt, or any kind of feed by whomsoever, or for whatsoever purpose, placed, deposited, distributed, scattered, or otherwise put out in any environment whatsoever whereby such waterfowl or doves are lured, attracted, or enticed to the hunter; and in the taking of waterfowl, the use directly or indirectly of live waterfowl decoys is not permitted.

Can I bait before the season states?

Yes, provided the bait has been removed by 7 a. m. on Nov. 20th. If not your blind or that area where the bait was placed is closed for the season as it will be regarded as a 'Baited Area.'

Can I bait on each side of a point and shoot from the point?

If that bait, lures, attracts or entices or if it even slows up the ducks while in flight by you, to you or from you or if it causes the waterfowl to light in the water to later drift down by or near you, you would be violating the law and would be subject to arrest.

Can I keep domestic ducks in a pen on my farm; feed them there and shoot from the waters edge?

This question indicates you seek to 'Chissel'. Turn back to page 1 of this letter and read the words I have underlined.

How far away in yards can I bait and be within the law?

Far enough so that the fowl will not fly by or near your blind, or aid you or anyone else in hunting.
