AT THE MOVIES NEXT WEEK

Paul Lukas, Onslow Stevens an Moroni Olsen playing Athos, Aramis and Porthos, respectively, coin their famous slogan 'All for one, andone fo all 'to the clanking of rapiers in the Alexandre Dumas 'masterpiece, 'THE THREE MUSKETEERS,' now brough to the screen by RKO Radio.

Three Marx-ed men have been trailed by the chuckles coming from the New Lyceum Theatre. They are the Marx Brothers—Groucho, Chico and Harpo—who are accused of inciting a laugh riot with their new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, 'A Night at the Opera which comes on Monday and Tuesday, November 25 and 26 to the New Lyceum.

A Riot in Every Sense

And it is a riot in every sense—the funniest picture yet turned out by those Merry Madmen. You'll howl at their humorous and crazy antics from the time they leave Italy until they go into the grand opera business in New York City. There isn't a dull moment!

But uproarious comedy isn't all. For the first time the Marxes really have a story and a first class romance with two brilliant singers, Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones, singing grand opera that is as thrilling as the comedy is funny.

The Marx Brothers have not only surrounded themselves with their funniest story, but with an exceptional cast, which includes such favorites as Walter King ,Siegfried Rumann, Margaret Dumont, Edward Keane and Robert Emmet O'Conner.

Sam Wood Directed

Sam Wood directed the picture, which was written by George S. Kaufman and Morrie Dyskind. Faufman was the author of 'Cocoanuts,' and again has outdone himself in producing a sparkling comedy for the three Merry Madcaps.

The picture is first class entertainment for every age, but don't go unless you plan to laugh until you roll in the aisles. It's that kind of a picture.

That stirring slogan of friendship 'All for one and one for all,' whch first roared to clatter of flagons of burgundy by Dumas' famous fighting man, d'Artagnan, Athos, Porthos and Aramis and which has been roared by quartets of imitative youngsters for the last ninety years, is to be heard by filmgoers for the first time in RKO Radio's sound adaptation of 'The Three Musketeers.' Which shows at the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday November 27 and 28.

This talking screen version of the great French classic will add immeasurably to the delight which romantics, young and old, take in that lusty tale of 17th century intrigue. The picture brings ,besides the spirited dialogue, such colorful sounds as the rasp of rapiers, the gurgle of wine, the songs o fthe Musketeers.

Now the thrill of that dangerous chase to Calais to secure the diamond brooch on which a queen's honor depends is inteensifid by the drumming of hoofs, the scream of carriage wheels the rattle of musketry, the cry of wounded men, and the lusky challenges of the Three Muskteers who one by one are stopped on the road by the agent so fthe inexorable Cardinal Richelieu.

In the dark streets of Paris When Constance ventures to d'Artagnan's quarters to arrange a meeting between those royal neighbors, Anne of Austria and the Duke of Buckingham, there is the tramp and rattle of the Cardinal's guards, the dim laughter of revelry in for taverns, the voice of the sleeping capital, which results in a more perfect and colorful background for 'The Three Musketeers 'than has ever been given before.

Walter Abel portrays the hot-headed d'Artagnan. Athos ,Porthos and Aramis are played by Paul Lukas, Moroni Olsen and Onslow Stevens.

Laughs and thrills blend, and excitement, romance and comedy run rampant in 'Murder in the Fleet,' Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new detective thriller with a warship asits locale, coming to the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30 as part of a double feature show.

The story deals with murders on board, visitors and crew impounded while a young lieutenant turns detective, trails a killer ,and after a desperate fight, corners him. Robert Taylor, of 'Society Doctor,' and 'Times Square Lady, 'is the uniformed sleuth, and Jean Parker, of 'ESequoia 'fame ,plays his sweetheart in her most ambitious role to date.

Major thrills are the fight with the criminal in a flooded powder magazine as water slowly rises, the strange killing of the government engineer, the chase through the ship's compartments, the episode of the live wire, and the race against time to install a firing gear.

Edward Sedgwick, who directed 'Death on the Diamond,' filmed the ne wpicture. The cast includes Jean Hersholt, of 'Men in White' fame, in the principal character role, Nat Pendleton, Ted Healy, Una Merkel, Mary Doran, Arthur Byron, Frank Shields, Donald Cook, Raymond Hatton, Mischa Auer and others of note.

The story is by Sedgwick. Lieutenant Commander Frank Wead and Joe Sherman wrote the screen play.

BIRTHS EXCEED DEATHS IN KENT COUNTY

FIVE CASES OF MALARIA REPORTED IN CHESTERTOWN

During the month of October five cases of malaria were reported all of whom had lived in Chestertown. Several of these individuals were employees in a local cannery who had come over from Baltimore and were reported to have received the infection while in Chestertown. Since March, 1935, eight cases of malaria have been reported as having originated in Chestertown. This indicates a possible source of infecton and the certain danger of additional cases. The source of infection in cases breaking out in a town or community where malaria has not formerly existed usaully indicates the presence of a carrier. The anopheles mosquito, which transmits malaria, bites the carrier and in turn re-infects the next individual that is bitten by the same mosquito. The several cases which have recently been reported are the first to be reporrted in Kent County for a number of years. Some years ago malaria was one of the most prevalent diseases in this section but by the improved sanitation and the treatment of known cases with quinine this disease has been practically eliminated. The present small outbreak is being studied and an effort will be made to determine the possibility of a carrier being present who could be the source of the infection. All the cases living in Chestertown have responded to treatment and those who returned to Balimore have been kept under observation by the Baltimore City Health Department.

Nine cases of social disease were reported, six of which were detected in the clinic.

There was one case of measles, one scarlet fever, two whooping cough, and four cases of mumps reported.

On October 7th a Chest Clinic was held by Dr. Seth Hurdle. Twenty-one patients were examined, seventeen white, and four colored. Ten white children were given the tuberculin test by Dr. Hurdle. Follow up visits were made to each child to determine the reaction of the test. Five were found negative and five positive.

Five Social Disease Clinics were held by Dr. H. G. Smpers. One hundred fifteen treatments were given, and thirteen Wassermanns taken.

Dr. F. G. Livingood, of the Washington College faculty, gave several mental tests to children who are under observation. These children were to be placed in homes through the cooperation of the local Board of Welfare.

Five Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinics were held by Dr. F. A. Holden While this is a private clinic conducted by Dr. Holden he makes frequent free examinations and treatments when so requested by the Health Department.

Considerable time was given by the Health Department Staff during the month of October in preparation for the schick testing of all pre-school and school children. The schick test is the method of determining whether or not the child is immune to diphtheria. While the majority of the children in the public schools in this county have been immunized against diphtheria the schick tests has never been done and it will be carried on during the month of November by Dr. C. H. Halliday of the State Board of Health.

Dr. John Angelone, County School Dentist, has been holding dental clinics in the schools throughout the county since the first of October. His work is confined to the first three grades and he has received excellent cooperation from th teachers and parents in this activity.

V·8 LEADERSHIP

On October 31 of last year, Henry Ford announced his intention to build a million Ford V-8s in 1935. We are pleased to report that this goal was reached in exactly ten months instead of a full year.

One million cars and trucks is an impressive total. But figures by themselves mean nothing. It is what they represent that counts. Selling a V-8 at a low price has brought a new kind of automobile within reach of the people. Producing it has provided steady work for hundreds of thousands of men in the Ford plants, in associated industries and on the farm.

These million Ford V-8 cars and trucks have helped to make things better all around. In the first ten months of 1935 the Ford Motor Company paid out, in the United States alone, $140,119,326.00 in wages and $523,111,389.00 for materials.
