DIRECT RELIEF CONTINUES HERE

CONFINED TO THOSE UNABLE TO WORK

Direct relief will continue in Kent County at least for the next two weeks as funds are available for that period of time. The local office was not affected by the recent ruling which has taken thousands able bodied men off direct relief and forced them to work on W. P. A. projects as for several months the relief rolls in Kent County have not included able-bodied men.

At the present time the relief burden in Kent County is confined to those who are not able to work due to old age, poor health and widows with dependant children. The old age pension will relieve much of this burden although there are many persons who are without a sufficient livelihood and yet cannot qualify for the pension due to the fact that they have small possessions. However it is very apparent that wholessale relief is over and only those most worthy will continue on the so called dole.

HEALTH OFFICER BEATEN AND ROBBED

LOSS OF MEDICAL SUPPLIES DELAYS DIPHTHERIA PREVENTION IN COUNTY

Dr. Charles H. Halliday, State Epidemologist of the State Department of Health, while enroute to Chestertown where he was to assist in administering diphtheria preventative to the school children of the county was the victim of a hold up by two young men whom he picked upon the road near North East.

Dr. Halliday left Baltimore early Monday morning for Chestertown and near North East he was hailed by two young men who asked for a ride. He stopped his car, which was a new Ford and picked the men up.

After riding for a few miles the men attacked him and after a brief struggle knocked him unconscious. They then took the automobile and drove to a point about two miles north of Millington where they left Dr. Halliday, still unconscious in a field after removing his watch and wallet containing $25 and escaped with the car and a quantity of medicl supplies. After several hours he regained consciousness and made has way to the road where a truck picked him up and carried him to Millington and Dr. R. G. Beachley who was medical supplies. After several hours where he was found to be suffering from nervous shock, a bad blow on the head, a black eye, and a cut on the hand which he received when he hit one of the men in the mouth during the struggle, and exposure to the cold during the hours he lay in the field.

Among the medical supplies which were in the car at the time it was stolen was a quantity of diphtheria preventative medicine and instruments which were to be used by the local health department in administering diphtheria prevention among the school children of the county. The loss of the supplies has delayed the preventative treatment in this county a week.

At the time of going to press no trace of the car or equipment had been found. Dr. Halliday was able to return to Baltimore Tuesday morning. A suitcase containing his clothing was thrown in the field beside him before they made their get away.

COUNCIL WARS ON COAL BOOTLEGGERS

WILL PASS ORDINANCE PREVENTING HOUSE TO HOUSE SALE

The Mayor and Council, at the regular monthly meeting on Monday of this week, unanimously approved the passage of an ordinance to prevent the house to house selling of bootleg coal in Chestertown. This action was after a complaint had been filed by the licensed coal dealers of the town who pay both county and town taxes for the privilege of doing a coal business.

It has been reported that bootleg coal dealers have no method of weighing the coal which they sell.

The action of the Council was similar to that taken by other towns on the shore although the exact provisions of the ordinance had not been determined at the time of going to press.

The Council of Easton has passed an ordinance which requires those selling coal to maintain a coal yard and adequate scales.

Other matters which came before the Council were:

Agreement to lease the marsh property near Radcliffe Creek to Mr. C. A. Rawleigh for the purpose of trapping at a rental of $11. This property was purchased by the town as a location for a sewerage disposal plant.

Mr. Gilbert Taylor, city engineer, was instructed to correct the drainage condition at the corner of College Ave. and Cannon Street.

Mr. M. deK. Smith, Jr., requested the Council to grant him the privilege of erecting a fence on town property adjoining his home for the purpose of protecting a row of pecan trees on his property from trespassers. This request was held under advisement. The fence would enclose a strip of property extending from Washington Avenue to Philosophers Terrace an average width of 27 feet.

NOW AND THEN

Talk Happiness

Talk happiness. The world is sad enough
Without your woe. No path is wholly rough.
Look for the places that are smooth and clear,
And speak of them to rest the weary ear
Of earth; so hurt by one continuous strain
Of mortal discontent and grief, and pain.
Talk health. The dreary, never-ending tale
Of mortal maladies is worn and stale.
You cannot charm, or interest, or please
By harping on the minor chord, disease;
Say you are well, or is well with you.
And God shall hear your words, and make them true.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox has long passed away, but her poems are still alive and are an inspiration to her readers to cultivate cheerfulness and content.

Passing a mason engaged in building a house, the thought came to the watcher, that here is one who is building for the future, that the walls which he is building may keep away the winds that he will never see, and far out live his fleeting memory.

In the great Cathedral of St. Pauls, London, there is written, concerning the great architect, Christopher Wren who planned it 'For his epitaph look around you.'

Longfellow carries out that same thought in his poem 'The Builders' when he speaks of each one building in the walls of time.

Old Boreas has certainly been busy today, Wednesday, in causing disturbance everywhere. The poor leaves, that were lying quietly on the ground are blown hither and thither and know not where to rest, while the baskets of trash, set out for the garbage man, are blown about scattering their contents everywhere. Winds are very disorganizing. In old heathen times, they thought that all the winds were confined in a bag which was kept by Eolus the god of the winds. When he wanted to confuse and make one uncomfortable, he would let Boreas, the north wind escape from the bay and his wind escape from the bag and his greatest punishment was to let all the winds out at once, this destroying noble ships and many heroes of early times.

The 'Mutiny of the Bounty' is a most interesting bit of history, which has been revived by the recent Movie Picture of that name. Never was there a more thrilling experience than this 'the voyage of the Bounty.' It revolutioned the treatment of the sailors on the ship who had been treated with the greatest cruelty.

HARRY FALLOWFIELD PASSES DENTIST EXAMS

Harry W. Fallowfield, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Fallowfield, of Chestertown, was among four who successfully passed the recent examination of the State Board of Dental Examiners. There were eight who took the examination.

Mr. Fallowfield graduated from the dental school of the University of Maryland and will locate on the Eastern Shore although he has not determined in what town he will start practicing.

AUTO APPLICATION RETURNED

MISUNDERSTANDING AT VEHICLE OFFICE

Due to a misunderstanding in the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles tag applications from residents of Chestertown which were sent to that office the early part of this week, were returned to the applicants for certification that the town taxes were paid.

The treasurer does not perforate the applications until county, state and town taxes are paid but it was necessary to make three telephone calls and a letter from the treasurer's office to get this understood at the Commissioner of Motor Vehicle's office.

Many residents living on rural routes out of Chestertown also had their applications returned because their address was marked as Chestertown. The trouble has been straightened out and no further trouble is expected.

TIME TO SPRAY PEACH ORCHARDS

Because of the extreme difficulty of getting into a wet, muddy orchard early enough in the spring to do any good, and because many warm days of late fall and winter cause development of the disease, peach orchard owners of Maryland are urged to apply preventive sprays for peach leaf curl in the fall and early winter, rather than in the spring as has been the practice.

According to Dr. Robert A. Jehle, specialist in plant pathology for the University of Maryland Extension Service, peach leaf curl is caused by a fungus, propagated by a single crop of spores which are produced on the leaves of the plant. These spores can be killed if the t ree is coated with the correct spray before they germinate. If germination is permitted to take place first, the fungus will grow into the tissue of the plant, where it cannot be reached by spray materials. Warm days of fall and winter often start this germination before the trees are sprayed in the spring.

For spray material, Dr. Jehle suggests using six gallons of concentrated lime sulphur solution (32 degrees Baume) in sufficient water to make 100 gallons of spray. He says that all parts of the tree should be well covered, including the tips of the branches which are often missed in spraying.

He urges growers to remember to drain the spray rig on cold nights and especially before putting it away for the winter. Likewise, spraying should be done on mild, quiet days when there is no danger of the spray freezing on the trees.

ROCK HALL

Mrs. Frank Dlugoborski left her home at four o'clock Thanksgiving morning and started wandering from place to place for five days. Her footprints were tracked up past 'Ship yard farm.' Blood hounds were brought here but were unable to locate her. Friday, two women from Quaker Neck picked her up and carried her from the Black Cat near Wilmington to Mt. Pleasant, but they did not know that she was lost. This was the last report heard until five o'clock Tuesday evening when Sheriff Bennett was talking to the husband near their last year's corn field which is near Wagner's Blacksmith Shop and they saw a hand come out of a shock of fodder and get a hand ful of new wheat. They immediately opened the shock and found the missing woman. She was carried to her home where local physicians were called and said her condition was critical due to exposure. She is now at her home under the care of a trained nurse and the local doctors.

Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, of Baltimore, spent Thanksgiving Day and the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Urie. On Friday night many of the formers friends and relatives of Rock Hall, Chestertown and Quaker Neck gathered and gave the couple a shower. The evening was spent playing cards and refreshments were served. The guests left at a late hour wishing the new married couple the best of luck and good wishes.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND IN FODDER SHOCK

LIVED SIX DAYS ON GREEN WHEAT AND CORN

Mrs. Pauline Dlugoborski, 44 year old Edesville woman, for whom a search had been conducted in Maryland and Delaware since Thanksgiving Day, was found living in a corn shock on the farm of Mr. Harry Wagner about 100 yards from her home, and eating green wheat and corn.

Being in a weak physical and mental condition she had been confined to her bed and watched day and night by her husband and sons. On Thanksgiving day her husband fell asleep and she got up, dressed and disappeared. Bloodhounds were put on her trail but they were unable to follow it on account of heavy rains. Rumors led the searchers into Delaware when a motorist told of giving a woman of her description a ride and that she was headed for Smyrna. The shores of streams were searched near her home and the police in both states were notified by Sheriff Bennett to be on the look-out for her. All hopes of finding her around Edesville were practically abandoned and Sheriff Bennett while on another mission to Rock Hall and riding along the highway saw a woman reach out from a corn shock and pull up some growing wheat. He immediately stopped his car and leaving Harry Rickard, who was riding with him. to watch the shock, he summoned the woman's family. They found Mrs. Dlugoborski in the corn shock eating the green wheat she had just pulled and rather reluctant to leave the shelter which had been her home for the past six days.

Dr. Frank Smith was called and upon examining her found little affected physically from the six day exposure except that he feet were slightly frostbitten. She was mumbling incoherently although her broken conversation told of having lived in the shock and eaten green wheat and corn.

During the six days in which she was missing it rained hard for eight hours on Thursday and since that time it has been cold, the temperature dropping below freezing at night.

DIFFERENT VERSIONS OF STORY

There are a number of different stories as the whereabouts of Mrs. Dlugoborski during the six day period of her absence.

Some of the residents living near her home believe that she took the reported trip to Delaware and later came back and hid in the corn shock.

Sheriff Bennett and his deputies who conducted an intensive search during the six-day period are convinced that she lived in the shock and probably roamed around the neighborhood at night. A button off her coat was found near Wagner's shop and other evidence pointed to this belief.

A.A.A. OFFERS RYE CONTRACT

Contracts for a four-year rye adjustment program have been approved and are available to growers in this county, it is stated by J. D. McVean, County Agent. Few Kent farmers are rye producers.

The rye program is for the year 1936 to 1939 inclusive, the same as for the wheat program. Cooperating producers will receive adjustment payments on their farm allotments, which are to be 30 per cent of their base production. Payments are made on 30 per cent of the base instead of 54, as in wheat, because only about 30 per cent of the rye crop is used for domestic human consumption, and that is the portion of the crop on which the processing tax is levied. The processing tax is 30 cents a bushel.

In general, the adjustment payments will be the average difference between the farm price and the parity price, if this does not exceed 35 cents a bushel If this difference is great than 35 cents a bushel, the payment for 1936 will be at least 35 cents a bushel, and may be higher if funds are available.

Any farmer who harvested rye as grain in at least one of the three years 1930, 1931 and 1932, or who harvested rye as grain in any two of the three years, 1933, 1934 and 1935, is eligible to sign a contract.

The rye contract is optional. Signers will be required to harvest as grain not more than 75 per cent of their base acreage. No restriction is placed on the rye seeded on the farm as the reduction applies only to the acreage harvested as grain.

The rye program is to be administered in counties by the County wheat production control association. Growers who are interested in details of the rye program can obtain them from their county agent.

LOCAL W. P. A. PROJECTS MAY GO FORWARD

LABOR CAN COME FROM RE-EMPLOYMENT ROLLS

It was revealed this week that at least part of the amount alloted to Kent County for W. P. A. projects which is approximately $100,000 may go forward.

Under previous Federal rulings only labor that was on relief rolls during the period between April 1st and November 1st were eligible to work on W. P. A. projects which in Kent County included only three able-bodied men and practically eliminated the possibility of starting any of the projects here.

However it was understood this week that Mr. William H. Elliott, district engineer for the Works Progress Administration with headquarters at Easton, has the authority to take men from the rolls of the Re-employment Service for W. P. A. projects where relief labor is not available which opens up a possibility that at least some of the local projects may be started.

Among the projects in Kent County which have been held up due to lack of relief labor and which are possible under the new ruling are:

35,000 for sewerage disposal plant and street improvement at Betterton. The share of the funds which has to be furnished by the town is approximately $9,000.

$50,000 for approximately 60 miles of farm to market roads in Kent County. It is understood that this project if started, will be delayed several weeks. Under the project certain roads, totaling approximately 60 miles, are to be put in condition with the use of local material such as sand and gravel and include only dirt roads that have not been improved.

The project for copying the old record books is definitely assured and work will probably start next week. This project includes the copying of the early land records of Kent county for preservation in modern typewritten loose-leaf binders. The old books are becoming so encrusted with age that within a reasonably short time they will be of little use. The work of copying the records requires one who is familiar with the writing and phrases of those early days and a typist. This work was started under the C. W. A. two years ago and part of the work finished.

An appropriation for the planting of shells on the oyster bars in Kent County waters was approved and may be carried out under the new set up.

Just how many of the above projects will be started under the new labor ruling is not known as Federal regulations can be changed over night but Kent County at last now has hopes at least of sharing in the Federal W. P. A. outlay.

BASKET BALL SEASON OPENS NEXT THURSDAY

WASHINGTON TO PLAY SHENANDOAH AT ARMORY

Washington College will open its basket ball season next Thursday, December 12th at the Chestertown armory when Shenondoah College, of Virginia, will be the visitors.

The opening game will be ladies night and all ladies, both young and lod wil be admitted to the game for a charge of ten cents.

Four of last year's first string team who will make the new comers hustle to get in the lineup are Huffman, Salter, Wilmont, Horowitz. McLain of last year's lineup and Zibroski, a six foot 6 incher are good prospects to fill the center position made vacant by Skipp. During practice, Coach Kibler is using two teams that look almost evenly matched and which promises plenty of reserve strength.

The games will be played at the armory where new bleachers have been erected to accomodate at least 1000 spectators. The bleachers are set back from the playing court so there is plenty of foot room back of the court line.

RECEIVES $2,000 DAMAGES

NEGRO WOMAN AWARDED SUM IN HIGHWAY ACCIDENT

A suit for damages growing out of an automobile accident which occurred on Quaker Neck road near the Chester River Yacht and Country Club on September 9, 1933, was settled out of court just before coming to trial in the Easton Circuit Court yesterday, when Amanda Derry. Negro, of Quaker Neck, was given $2,000 and costs against Charles E. Wood, son of Walter Wood, near Pomona.

A car driven by Wood collided with a team in which the Negro woman and her niece were riding, killing her horse, painfully injuring her, and inflicting injuries to the niece, from which she was alleged to have died.
