The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

Today's message takes the form of merely a note, for your writer like you is all agog with Christmas spirit and the preparations it entails. Lists to be checked, out of town packages to be mailed, cards to be written, to say nothing of the buying, simply usurps my thoughts of all else. At present, this seems to be everyone's state of mind, and socially speaking the week's calendar is almost blank.

However, last Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nicholson celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary by entertaining many of their friends at a delightful buffet supper. Another bride and groom were present, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Beck, who celebrated their 26th anniversary the day before, quietly, at their home.

Mrs. C. Beck Jones and Mrs. Frank Hines were guests of Mrs. Roger Wilson, of Wilmington, for a few days this week. Dr. and Mrs. Hines will be hosts to General and Mrs. Milton A. Reckord and Miss Gladys Reckord, of Baltimore, who will be their house guests over the week-end.

Mrs. Joseph Archbell has returned from a three week's visit to Elizabeth, N. J. and Staten Island, New York, where she was a guest of relatives.

Mr. Hugh H. Hartman left this week motoring to Coco, Florida, where he will join his brother and sisters for the winter months.

Miss Evelyn Brown motored to Baltimore last Sunday where she was a guest of friends until Wednesday of this week.

Dr. H. C. Hughes and Mr. Claude E. Truslow are spending this week hunting in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Brown, Jr., of New York City, were week-end guests at Godlington Mannor, leaving on Tuesday for a motor trip to Williamsburg, Va. They returned to Chestertown this week-end, however, before going back to New York.

Mrs. Robert S. Dwyer, of Harrisonburg, Va., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Strong.

Dr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Sterling, of Church Hill, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son born at the Easton Hospital. Mrs. Sterling is the former Miss Rebecca Bennett, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. John N. Bennett.

A large crowd turned out Thursday evening to witness the opening basketball game of the season at the Armory. Washington College played an admirable game, defeating Shenandoah College 41-19. These games are eagerly anticipated each winter by all the people in the vicinity and generally one sees the town and his wife present.

But here endeth this week's memorandum, and to the shops I must wend my way.

Yours roving,
THE WANDERER.

HELP IN FOREST MANAGEMENT AVAILABLE

STATE EXPERT TO ASSIST OWNERS

County Agent, J. D. McVean announces that the services of W. W. Simonds Extension Forester, are available to Kent owners of woods and farm wood lots. The work will be on a demonstration basis. Farmers who have woods in which they desire thinnings or improvement cuttings, the elimination of weed trees, the marking of ripe timber for cutting, reforrestation, or any other problem relating to forest growth and management, should get in touch with the County Agent so that plans may be made to take care of these requirements.

Farmers of the County who are interested in watching a demonstration of the improved methods will be notified to attend the demonstration work by the Forester.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SHEEP RAISERS

PREVENT LOSS AT LAMBING TIME

In recent years Kent flock owners report considerable loss in their EWE flock near lambing time. The trouble is diagnosed by the Veterinarians as Acidosis and Pregnancy disease. Doctor Brueckner of the State Live Stock Sanitary Staff comments as follows on the prevention of this trouble, it being too late for cure when the trouble occurs.

'Investigations conducted by workers in this coutnry show that the condition is produced by a deficiency of certain mineral elements in the ration. This deficiency can apparently be avoided through the use of a well balanced ration of several grains, and particularly of good hay.'

It is hoped that Kent flock owners who have suffered losses through this trouble will take heed and by proper feeding prevent a recurrence of this disease during this and coming years.

HEALTH COOKIES

Here are cookies that are difefrent. Having only just enough sweetness in them to lend taste, they are especially good for children, who often over-indulge in sweets. Study the ingredient. You will see that Health Cookies are more than just cookies.

1 C Raisins
1 C Nuts
2 C quick oats
