AT THE MOVIES NEXT WEEK

'His night out,' presenting a hard-boiled, devil-may-care Edward Everett Horton—a man who defies police cross examinations and third degrees the wrath of his employer and the death threats of gangsters iscoming on Monday and Tuesday, December 23 and 24 to the New Lyceum theatre.

Supporting Horton in the unusual characterization are beautiful Irene Hervey, Robert McWade, Jack LaRue, Willard Robertson, Oscar Apfel, and Clara Kimball Young, just to mention a few of the noted players.

In the production, directed by William Nigh, for Universal, Horton starts out as a pill-taking purchasing agent for a chain drug company. Told by quack physician that he'll die within three months, he starts having fun and getting into plenty of trouble.

'Diamond Jim,' the colorful, romantic screen biography of James Buchanan Brady, the man who made the gay nineties gay, has been booked for the showing at the New Lyceum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, December 25th and 26th, the Universal production brings to stardom Edward Arnold, noted for his work in 'Sadie McKee,' 'Million Dollar Ransom,' and 'Richelieu,' as 'Diamond Jim.'

The life of the man who wore $2,000,000 worth of diamonds, who spent $100,000 on a single party, who was the confidante of Lillian Russell and the Day Sisters—of a statesman and bank presidents—is said to be one of the most fascinating in American history. It is based on the best seller by Parker Morell, brought to the screen by Preston Sturges, directed by Edward Sutherland, and produced by Edmund Grainger.

In the cast, in addition to Arnold, who actually looks like the man he portrays, are beautiful Jean Arthur, Binnie Barnes as Lillian Russell, Cesar Romera, Hugh O'Connell, George Sidney, Bill Demarest, Eric Blore, Robert McWade and Fred Kelsey. Miss Barnes gives her interpretation of the world famous beauty, the toast of the 'nineties,' the incomparable Lillian Russell.

A harrowing tale of the French Devil's Island penal colony called 'Escape From Devil's Island,' featuring Victor Jory, Florence Rice and Norman Foster will come to the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 27and 28 as part of a double feature program.

The film's drama is set against a background of death-infested swampland and alligator-ridden rivers, nature's own barricades against escape from this desolate penal outpost.

Jory enacts the role of an adventurer-spy condemned to this tropical Hades after a thwarted attempt to steal some military secrets. Together with Stanley Andrews, his compatriot and father of Florence Rice, and young Foster, serving a sentence for a crime he never committed, Jory strikes for freedom across the trackless, marshy jungle. Uubeknown to each other, both Jory and Foster fall in love with the lovely Miss Rice.

With freedom imminent at last, the romantic triangle engenders a tragic denouement which reverts the scene of action back to the prison camp from which the convicts had just escaped.

Albert Rogell directed 'Escape From Devil's Island,' which Earle Snell and Fred Niblo, Jr., adapted to the screen from an origina story by Fred De Gresac.

TO SUCCEED REV. A. T. P. HUDSON RESIGNED

At a meeting of the official boards of the Crumpton Methodist Episcopal charge, near here, which is composed of Crumpton, Double Creek and Union churches, at which the Rev. W. E. Gunby, district superintendent, presided, a call was extended to the Rev. Dr. D. E. Wood, of Newark, Del., to become pastor of the charge for the remainder of the conference year.

Dr. Wood would succeed the Rev. A. T. P. Hudson, who recently resigned after a pastorate of four years because ofthe illness of his wife.

THANK YOU

Binks bought a new short, and on a piece of paper pinned on the inside found the name and address of a girl, with the words, 'Please write and send photo.' Scenting a romance, he wrote to the girl and sent his photo.

In due course he received a reply. It was only a note. 'My chum I had a bet on,' it read, 'as to what sort of a fellow would wear a short like that. My chum said a dude; I said a shrimp, and I'm glad to say I won.'
