Blood Donors Asked To Help Red Cross

Have you an hour to spare?

That is all the time it takes to make a donation to one of the most worthy causes in the war effort. It is a job that requires no skill, no inconvenience or discomfort, yet it is so essential to our fighting forces.

The Red Cross is asking for a small amount of your blood to help save the lives of our soldiers, sailors, and marines. It is not a great sacrifice. The pint of blood that you donate is entirely made up in eight weeks.

This process of using blood plasma is entirely new. Blood types do not have to be matched and thus much time is saved.

Plasma is a word which is unfamiliar to most of us. It is the term given to the fluid portion of the blood. Scientists have devised a way of removing the red and white corpuscles from the plasma and then preserving the more important fluid. In this state of preservation it keeps for as long as nine years; whole blood can be kept only a few days.

Medical men know that the commonest cause of death on the battlefield or in explosions is a condition called traumatic shock. The patient is unconscious and the circulation fluid is lost fro mhis blood stream. Immediate transfusion is the only remedy and fluid blood plasma restores the person with astonishing rapidity.

The American Red Cross Blood Mobile will be in Chestertown on October 11. Call at the Red Cross Office and make your appointment.
