Probably never before in the history of our nation has there been a time when it was more important that men and women in all walks of life should interest themselves in national policies. Within the next few months the Congress of the United States will have before it, legislation dealing to the reconversion from war to peace time policies and this legislation will directly affect the lives and well being of each individual. The national question is "What can I do about it?" and the answer is that our democratic form of government gives every one, through their representatives in Congress, both House and Senate, a voice in all legislation. These representatives, regardless of their sincerity of effort, can only represent the thoughts of their constituants by a complete knowledge of the wishes of these constituants as expressed by them. The greatest danger to democracy is the rule by the organized minority and this threat can be overcome by interest and a thorough knowledge properly expressed by the majority.

In rural Kent County like thousands of similar sections of our country there is probably more independent thinking than there is in the same regimented metropolitan areas and it is this independent thinking that must prevail if our country is going to flourish with the proven policies of democracy. The power gained through organized minorities sets up the vicious forms of government that has recently rocked the world and cost millions of lives and billions of dollars to supress and it is hoped that it will never again threaten free thought and free government so that people will forever be able to prosper according to their efforts and their individual desires for happiness. For the past four years, people the world over, have looked forward to the end of the war and now that the glorious end has come, it is necessary that the adjustment be worked out on an equitable basis for all. Such legislation as the pending full employment bill should be thoroughly studied as to its future affect on both employment and labor and its effect upon the rural areas, such as Kent County where said employment and labor is practically an individual basis and is in no way comparative to that of large industrial centers. If a study of such legislation threatens the peace and prosperity of life in Kent County, then attention should be brought forceably to the attention of our representatives. It is of such vital interest that it should not be overlooked.

Mad Dogs and Wagging Tongues

The county had a "mad dog" scare last week. Phoebe Token's spaniel bit the postman, and he vowed that he was plenty mad about it.

But by the time the rumor got around, it wasn't the postman who was mad, it was the dog. And before the truth was learned, half the kids in the neighborhood had missed school, while their mothers nearly died of fright.

Wagging tongues can cause a lot of "mad dog" trouble. Like wagging tongues that gossip about our soldiers drinking too much around Army camps. It's just not true, as the government found out and told us. Milk and beer are among a soldier's favorite drinks—which is why we have the best behaved army in history. But those ugly rumors are bound to hurt morale and cause hard feeling.

From where I sit, wagging tongues can cause a heap more trouble than mad dogs.

Avoid Shock

When connecting or disconnecting your electric washer be sure your hands are dry, then hold the cord plug in the fingers, as jerking the plug by the cord will strain it.

So Candle Is Steady

If candles are too large for candlesticks, hold candle base in a basin of hot water until candle is soft enough to press it into shape to fit the candlesticks.

Add Lime

Few vegetables produce well on acid or sour soils. If garden has not had an application of lime during last three years, make one—for most conditions, 40 pounds per 1,000 square feet of area is sufficient lime.

Fly Control

The first step in fly control is cleanliness in and around the house and sanitary disposal of sewage and garbage.

Remove Shine

Shine may be removed from a worsted suit by pressing with a warm iron and cloth dipped in water containing vinegar. Then rub lightly with fine sandpaper.

Long Train

The longest train ever worn by a woman was probably the train on the gown worn by Catherine the Great of Russia at her coronation in 1762. This was 225 feet in length and required 50 train bearers to support it.

SAYS SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE:

Despite Victory Used Fat Saving Must Go On!

Every woman in America should know that our country continues to face a serious fat shortage. And victory over Japan won't solve the problem immediately. We must keep on saving used fats in our kitchens!

If you have any thought that saving used fats is one of those wartime chores we can drop, now that Victory is here, please consider these facts and tell them to your neighbors.

America still needs salvaged fats. Not even at the peak of our war effort, when fats were required for mountains of shells and bombs and medicines, in addition to the ever-present need for soap, were our needs for salvaging fat greater than now. Our stocks have been drained by four long years of war, and there isn't enough on hand to meet all requirements.

Don't let "Victory psychology" blind you to this national need! If housewives stop saving fats now, the shortage will become even more critical.

Don't let a single drop of used fats go to waste! Little trimmings of fat left on the platter at the table, scraps left on plates, and even the skimmings of soups and gravies are important. It is the consistent saving of even these small amounts that counts.

Don't turn in fats that can be re-used! But some fats, such as those rendered from lamb and mutton, are not suitable for re-use. Put them immediately in the salvage can. And, with other fats, after you've got all cooking good out of them, there is always a little left. No matter how little it is, save it.

Your butcher will still give you 4¢ and 2 red points for every pound you turn in. Save consistently—save every drop you can—every day—until Uncle Sam says the job is done.
