Farm Notes of Local Interest

The supervisors of the Kent and Queen Anne's Soil Conservation Districts urge farmers in these two counties to do their seeding of small grains on the contour where land is sloping and erosion is likely to occur. Draws and gullies should be left in sod whenever possible. Where gullies or draws have already been plowed, the supervisors of these Districts recommend that they be seeded to some fast growing grass at the time the small grain is seeded or before, if possible. When sloping land is seeded to small grain on the contour and the draws and gullies left in sod or seeded to grass, the loss caused by erosion is greatly reduced or almost eliminated.

Farmers planning to pick their corn too late for seeding of small grains should seed a cover crop of ryegrass or crimson clover in the standing corn in order to protect the land from erosion or leaching. These cover crops serve as excellent green manure crops fo r the crop that is to follow the corn next spring.

Where land is level or flat and drainage is a problem, the district supervisors recommend that this land be worked and seeded in the direction giving the best drainage. Main drainage ditches should be opened and properly maintained. Dead furrows and lateral drainage ditches should be opened into main drainage ditches.

Erosion control and drainage will pay dividends at harvest time next year. Well protected land looses little soil and plant nutrients during the winter months.

The exact types of price support Maryland farmers want in order to fullfill the promise of Congress to support farm product prices for two years after the war is a problem for all tillers of the soil to consider, says Joseph H. Blandford, State AAA chairman. Meetings at which farmers will be asked for their suggestions will probably be held in all counties of the State later this fall.

Prices of agricultural products must not be allowed to drop to a point where they can contribute to a depression, President Truman has pointed out. Determination of a fair price for farm products, and methods of supporting the prices at such levels will be important in determining farm operations.

At the present time price support programs are in operation for more than 100 agricultural commodities. Loans, direct purchase, diversion programs, and other type of price support are used, together with marketing information aimed to move crops to consumers efficiently at the peak of production of marketing seasons.

Beef Production Payments Stay

Removal of slaughterers' quotas does not stop beef production payments to feeders, though some changes are made in operation of the payment program. All slaughterers are included not only "the legally authorized slaughterers" cited under the former quota program. On sales from September 8 to 30, however, the County AAA Committee can verify payments to feeders by checking the names of the slaughterers on the list of legally authorized slaughterers.

After October 1, beef production payments will be made on certification of the buyer that the cattle were purchased by slaughterer for killing, or by a person who will deliver the animals within 29 days to a slaughterer for killing.

To prevent duplicate payments, the AAA committee may need certification that the cattle were raised by the applicant, or that the cattle weighed less than 700 pounds at purchase by the feeder, or that the price paid was not over $13.80. Records of previous ownership or sales dating back 30 days may also be required.

With continued need for feed grains as well as for wheat for food of the type grown in Maryland, the 1946 wheat goal for the nation is a little higher than 1945's large acreage. For Maryland the estimated needed acreage is 425,000 acres, compared to 420,000 acres planted last fall for the 1945 crop.

Farmers short of help may want to take advantage of the ground limestone delivery and spreading service now available in some counties for AAA furnished material as well as for lime purchased outright. The charge for the delivery and spreading of bulk lime is not more than the cost of bags plus the farmer's own labor. Spreading service is offered in Carroll, Cecil, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Annes, Talbot and Washington Counties.

No priority rating is now needed for the purchase of lumber, but County AAA committees during September can issue lumber certificates only for maintenance and repair work. After October 1, no further lumber certificates will be issued.

Order Lime and Phosphate Now

Farmers are urged to order lime and superphosphate now to make sure these conservation materials are on hand when they complete their busy crop harvest season in September. Materials ordered now will be on hand in time for application to the fields before the end of the 1945 year, to make the farmers eligible for the conservation payments or credits under the AAA.

Closing dates for odering these conservation materials are set at October 1st for bagged lime to be delivered at the farm, November 1st for lime at the plant and for bulk lime to be handled and spread by the farmer, and November 15th for superphosphate purchased through AAA for delivery by the dealer.

Farmers are advised to check on these closing dates for orders with the county AAA committee, since the committee may set an earlier closing date.

Cover The Soil

Seeding of winter cover crops to prevent loss of fertile topsoil, and to improve the soil for cash crops to follow is one of the several ways farmers can still earn payments under the 1945 agricultural conservation program.

To establish a cover of crimson clover to hold the soil in place on bare fields farmers may get a payment of 15½ cents a pound of sown seed. For a cover of hairy vetch on the cropland, the payment is 14½ cents a pound. A stand of annual ryegrass brings a return of $2.00 an acre under the conservation program.

The 1945 schedule of grower prices for apples used in processing runs considerably higher than last year, due to the small crop in Eastern and Midwestern states. The schedule for Maryland Class A apples, York Imperial, Stayman, Golden Delicious, and Grimes Golden is $5.60 a hundredweight for U. S. No. 1 cannery grade, 2¼ inches and larger; $3.00 a hundred for U. S. No. 2 cannery grade 2¼ inches and larger; and $1.65 a hundred for cider apples of grade lower than No. 2 cannery, 2¼ inch. For all other varieties of processing apples, the corresponding grade price is $4.55 a hundred for U. S. No. 1 cannery apples, $2.70 a hundred for U. S. No. 2 cannery apples, and $1.65 a hundred for cider apples.

GEN. RECKORD AGAIN HEADS STATE GUARD

Annapolis, Sept. 25 — Governor Herbert R. O'Conor has announced the appointment of Major General Milton A. Reckord as Adjutant General of Maryland.

In accepting the Governor's tender of reappointment to his old post, General Rckord stated that he will be prepared to resume his State duties on November 1. Thus it was indicated that his retirement from the Army by that time is assured.

General Reckord, who has been Provost Marshal in the European Theatre of operation, relinquished his duties as Adjutant General of the State on May 15, 1941 and was succeeded by Francis Petrott, who has held the office until now.

Conferences recently between Governor O'Conor and General Reckord led to the Chief Executive's request that the General resume his connection with the State Government. It is understood that the Governor's proposal was made known to General George C. Marshall and the announcement of the General's acceptance indicates that War Department approval of the General's release will be forthcoming.

General Reckord, as ranking line officer of the State, has had lengthy connection with the Military Department, having first been appointed Adjutant General by the late Governor Ritchie. He was commanding officer of the National Guard between World War I and World War II and served as commanding officer of the 29th Division.

Major General Petrott has been named by Governor O'Conor to membership on the Unemployment Compensation Board of Maryland. General Petrott will succeed Ambrose J. Kennedy, whose resignation from the Board was recently announced. The new appointee was named Secretary of State by Governor O'Conor on May 17, 1939, serving in that position until May 15, 1941, when he became Acting Adjutant General of the State and later Adjutant General.

TOWNER NAMED TO STATE BOARD BY GOVERNOR

Annapolis, September 17—Merle [redacted]wner, long associated with the organization and development of conservation activities in the State, has been named by Governor Herbert R. O'Conor to the vacancy on the Board of Natural Resources caused by the death of Edwin G. Baetjer.

In making the announcement, Governor O'Conor stressed the influential part Mr. Towner had played over a period of many years in the protection and conservation of the State's natural resources and expressed the highest confidence that he would be a valuable addition to the Board.

"Among the many conservation-minded citizens of our State, Mr. Towner's judgment is highly regarded, and he has the personal friendship and confidence of a wide circle of conservationists."

The new appointee will fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Baetjer, which was for six years, from the 1st of June, 1944. He will be one of the six appointive members of the Board, the others being President Isaiah Bowman of Johns Hopkins Hospital; George S. Miles, Norman E. Carr, Ellsworth Leary and Nelson Colbourne. Ex-Officio members of the Board include Edwin Warfield, Jr., Chairman, Commission of Tidwater Fisheries! Joseph F. Kaylor, State Forester; Ernest A.Vaughn, State Game Warden; Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, Director, Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources; E. Lester Muller, Chairman, Maryland Publicity Commission and R. V. Truitt, Director, Department of Research and Education, University of Maryland.

Buy very perishable fruits and vegetables, such as berries, peaches, tomatoes, and peas, in limited quanties. The semi-perishables — onions, potatoes, and apples—should be bought in as large amounts as can be efficiently stored. Large-quantity buying means a saving, but this saving may be turned into a loss if food spoils.

Salads should never be stirred. Rather, the ingredients should be tossed together lightly, taking care to blend the dressing thoroughly with each and every piece but being careful not to crush them. The paintaking blending of ingredients with salad dressing is what the French call "fatiguing" the salad.
