SAYS ATOMIC BOMB CONTROL IS INTERNATIONAL

(Communicated)

The following is excerpts from the sermon of Rev. Harry H. Conner, of Still Pond which was delivered on World Order Sunday. The subject of the sermon was "Rebuilding Our World."

"The problem of the control of the atomic bomb is not national. It is international. And I am of the opinion that the safety and the security of the world depends on an international council which will regulate the use of the atomic bomb by outlawing it forever as a means of fighting wars just as the nations have by common consent outlawed poison gas in warfare. No nation, no matter how peace loving and good its intentions may be, has any right to claim the ownership of such a great responsibility. How would we feel if Russia or China or any other nation discovered this power first? And needless to say every great nation sooner or later will learn how to use this atomic energy as we have and then what? Shall it be then a free for all race for world domination and power? Every day finds the nations of the world in greater need of understanding, mutual respect and trust. If this feeling does not exist, then the hope of the better world for tomorrow is futile. Scientific attainment, knowledge, and power in themselves will not save the world, but spiritual power can.

"It is the duty of every Christian and citizen of this country which we love to express our opinion about universal military training now. Why not emphasize the positive approach, the need for universal disarmament? Why cannot the United Nations reach just as they have on other major matters, a common agreement on this question? The greatest factor involved in this training is not the millions of dollars it will cost us as tax payers, not the millions of men and their families whose lives it will greatly affect, but rather there is the consuming fear that will sweep into the lives of all people of the earth, nations large and small, compelling them in the mad race to "arm to the teeth" to out do and to out power others. Such a motivation dominated by fear will result in nothing less than another war, for armed might in itself cannot prevent wars. On this Armistice Sunday the choice is before us. What shall it be?"

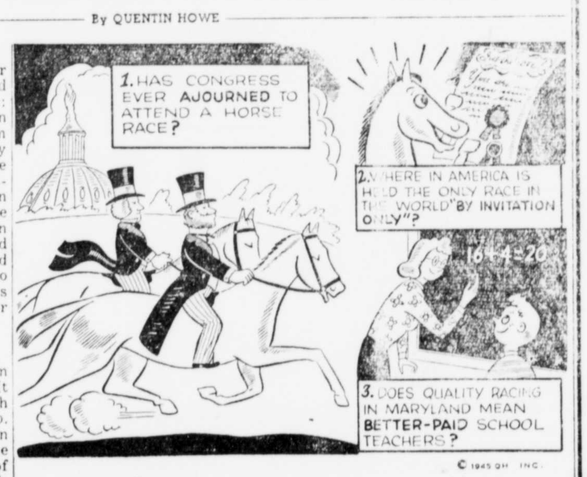

Maryland tobacco is one crop that has a future in post-war, with market demand now greater than supply, and future demand expected at about 20 per cent above the current production.

Ex-service men can get subsistence payments for training in agriculture right on the farm, as well as in college or other formal training programs. Under the G.I. Bill of Rights, for one year's time single men will be eligible for payments of $50 a month and married men $75 a month, for training either on their own farm their family farm, or an employer's farm. Veterans who have disabilities suffered while in the armed forces are entitled to the farm training for one to four years, plus a higher subsistence payment.

The acreage of 1945 crop early potatoes recommended for planting in Maryland by the Production and Marketing Administration of the U.S.D.A. is 4,700 acres, compared to the 1945 planting of 5,000 acres, and a 10-year average of 5,500 acres.

Quiz For Marylanders

By QUENTIN HOWE

Answer to Question 1:

Congress is only human, after all. In 1877 America was excited about three great race horses: Parole from Pennsylvania, Ten Broek from Kentucky and Tom Ochilltree from Kentucky. They finally met at Pimlico. People gathered from everywhere to witness the event. Excitement ran high. So high that a Senator rose and proposed Congress adjourn to witness this great Maryland sporting event. Congress adjourned and members hastened to Pimlico by "steam car." Congress has never adjourned for any other sport.

Answer to Question 2:

There is only one horse race in the world by "invitation only." It is the Pimlico Special, held each autumn in Maryland at Pimlico. It is run for the finest horses in America. They are invited by the Maryland Jockey Club. The list of past winners reads like Who's Who of the American Turf. Maryland is proud of its Pimlico Special.

Answer to Question 3:

Each year Maryland collects one million dollars from the State's pari-mutuel concessions at the State's four Racing Associations, more money than goes into Maryland's Equalization Fund to help pay for more and better school teachers in every Maryland county. If Maryland racing did not provide this money, your taxes would have to be raised to help pay our teachers. Racing's one million dollar contribution means more and better teachers which Maryland so badly needs. (3)
