

CHURCH NOTES

RADIANT LIVING

The Dawn of Infinite Day
By Rev. C. M. Griffith
Pastor Calvary M. E. Church
Sudlersville

You could never possibly be as discouraged as were the disciples when they returned from the place of crucifixion and shut themselves up with their despair in that little upper room in Jerusalem.

In losing their Christ, the disciples felt that they had lost their all. The ordeal of His crucifixion had eclipsed their faith.

But the God Shepherd was not unkind of His panic-stricken sheep. In the midst of their despair He suddenly appeared, that they might behold Him alive, hear His voice, grip His hand, and, if need be, to convince them of the resurrection fact, to thrust their hands into the wound in His side.

Nor is the Risen Christ unkind of you. In those midnight hours of yours, when darkness is the most intense, the Good Shepherd is whispering into your ears of faith, 'Lo, I am with you always!'

Oh, why do we not recognize that with us also is the presence of the Living Christ? To him to whom has come the consciousness of His living presence, no light can be quite so dark again, no despair can be quite so gripping as before, no doubting can be quite so undying as in the past.

Your present ordeal which seems to be as a night of horrors may in reality be the ushering in unto you the dawn of an infinite day which is infinite because it rings with an undiminished and unending realization of the presence of the Living Christ, a day in which you will enter into a closer and more vital fellowship with the God of Infinite Love!

FLASHES FROM CHESTERTOWN HIGH

By EMORY M. HINES, JR.

For the petty sum of five cents a good number of students attended the motion pictures down in the High School Auditorium last Thursday, the 13th. The films shown were: Niagara Falls, a one reeler on one of the great scenic wonders of the world, and Peter Stuyvesant, a three reeler concerning the last of the Dutch governors in New York State. The last period from two till three was relinquished by the teachers in order that out of town students could be present. The history films have already been shown in the other schools of the county.

The first steps toward a student council of some sort were taken during the last few days by the SA class of Miss Riches who have already adopted a set of rules to which they intend to conform. The committee which was to draw up the so-called constitution was headed by Merle Fox who was assisted by Elizabeth Atwell and Doris Dulla. They presented the following to the class: (1) Be courteous to the teachers and to each other. (2) Prepare your lessons (3) Act decent. (4) Don't cheat and don't steal. (5) When the bell rings, sit down and be quiet. (6) Obey the traffic patrol. A large majority accepted the rules and they are being enforced today.

So as not to make everyone an offender, the council has a system of merits worked out to be given for perfect attendance during any month, being on the honor roll or a month, playing on the honor roll for a month, player, being in plays, or writing articles for the paper.

An award will be made at the end of the school year to the person who attains the greatest number of merits. A gala Valentine party was held by the Sophomore Class on Friday evening from 7.30 p. m. to 10 p. m. in the auditorium here. Well planned games and refreshments were part of the evening and every one enjoyed themselves to the limit.

The success of the affair may be laid to the five committees that carried out the small details necessary for us. The entire party was superintended by Margaret Ann Brice who rendered best of services. Margaret Groves was chairman of the refreshment group and was assisted by Lee Walbert and Esther Carroll. For the program people, Marian Thomas, (chairman), Mary Jean Strong, Van Whiting, and Catherine Newton. The decorators were Judson Geors (chairman), Ellen Bordley, Ruth MacVean, and Betty Oglesby.

The Clean-Up Committee is constituted by Lee Walbert, Robert Wiltbank, Louis Anthony, and Donald Latham. The pupils who attended to the transportation difficulties were Robert Thompson, Margaret Anne Brice, Bates Nicholson, and Netty Smith.

Again I have the pleasure of publishing an Honor Roll; this particular one boasting all those who attained A's and B's during the month of January. Those who reached it in the Freshman Class are: Betty Beck, Doris Dulla, Shirley Dorf, Margaret Ann Dukes, Charles Skilham, Frances Harris, Ann Ford, Thomas Massey, Elizabeth Wheatley, Naomi Russell, Mary Emily Redding, James Watkins, Mary Vessel, Donald Nickerson; in the Sophomore Class: Catherine Newton, Ruth MacVean, Virginia Primrose, Maria Ptery, Miriam Sewell, Mary Langdon Russell, Arlene Rodney, Mary Elizabeth Humphreys, Ellen Bordley,

Francis Kreeger, Anna Willis, Anna Lucht, Milton Dorf, Betty Oglesby, and Van Whiting. Of the Juniors, Martha Wessel, Kitty Bringsman, Charlotte Russell, Joe Weer, Mina Brown, Harry Hendrickson, Anne Turner, Nellie Bexley, Theodore Redman, Emory Hines, and Lawrence Brice, were eligible; while of the Seniors, Alice McKenzie, Ralph Thornton, Frances Lambert, Sara Baxter, Miriam Newcomb, Peggy Quinn, Erma Long, Christine Vansant, Anna Hadaway, John Yerkey, Lusby Elliott and Annabelle Groves.

The first health lecture the Chestertown High girls have heard this year was presented to them by Miss Klinefelter, the county health nurse. She spoke to her audience during the Activities Period of Wednesday, the fifth, and told them the fundamental rules to go by to keep in good health. Although the girls knew many of them, other interesting and forgotten ones were told to them.

The boys that compose the basketball team of Chestertown High played a return game with Middletown High School, Junior and Varsity teams, on last Monday night, February tenth. Throughout the entire game the local quints seemed to be outclassed by the capable and well-trained opponents. A more coordinating group of players such as the M. H. S. boys were is not often seen and were not to be beaten by our basketeers.

The first half ended with the score registering 16-3 in favor of Middletown. The following two quarters were, in general, fought more lustily, but the game ended, 36-12, with Chestertown far below compared to the number of baskets scored by the Delaware team. Some mention should be given to the star playing of Sheets who made 20 points in all. His talent on the court was noted by everyone. (Sufficient proof can be given by the position he obtained on the All-Delaware lineup.)

The lineup follows:
Chestertown Kirby Forward
Benjamin Forward
J. McGregor Center
Derringer Guard
Waddell Guard
Middletown Burtz
Rudwick
Sheets
Nelson
