LEGISLATURE CONVENED WEDNESDAY

Relief Tax Question to Be Settled Before Other Legislation

SALES TAX PROPOSAL MET WITH STRONG OPPOSITION

With the Legislature in special session for the purpose of providing funds for relief in Maryland, there promises to be plenty of legislation along other lines when the relief question is finished.

Governor Nice's suggestion that a general sales tax be passed in meeting a great deal of opposition in the committees of both the House and Senate although the former seems to be a little more lenient toward the measure than the latter. At the last general session the sales tax passed the House but was defeated in the Senate and the gross receipts tax substituted.

The opposition to a sales tax has grown throughout the State within the past three months and among the organizations who are fighting it are practically all mercantile organizations, farmer's organizations and labor unions. These organizations are prepared to go to Annapolis at a moment's notice to show their opposition strength. A possible continuation of the gross receipts tax will be bitterly opposed by all mercantile organizations, a liquor and beer tax will be opposed by its usual high-powered lobby and taxes on the various luxuries will be fought by those who handle and use them.

Whatever form of taxation is adopted for the support of relief, it is going to come from the pockets of John Doe tax payer as he is practically the only group that will not be represented by a lobby at Annapolis, but every Legislator is or should be conscious of the fact that this group expresses its views at the ballot box which after all is of major importance to those who make laws.

When the relief question is disposed of there promises to be plenty of legislation proposed as most Legislators feel that unless they present a bill their constituents consider their time at Annapolis wasted.

Reports indicate that the State Roads Commission will ask for a large appropriation to relocate and build new dual highways to replace the present broken macadam roads in the State.

The Curbstone Diplomat

WILLIAM S. COLLINS

When the fleet comes in.

Last Saturday night the Coast Guard cutter 'Travis' lay in Chester town harbor. Her business was to break the ice for navigation in the river.

Three sailors looking for a little night-life visited one of Chester town's night clubs. Everything was going fine until a sailor and local boy collided. This ended up in a fight which finally resulted in a free-for-all. One sailor made the mistake of pushing a boxer's wife out of the way and giving the husband some impudence about it. His punishment was a bingled beak from the boxer's left. After all was said and done the sailors paid fines totaling twenty dollars. Something new for Chester town; just another Saturday night for the sailors.

But, there is always some good in everything. The sailors broke the ice and the local freight boats 'Chester' and 'Maggie C' which have been ice bound in Chester town for weeks were able to return to Baltimore.

According to the Baltimore papers the 'Little Charlie' owned by Medford Caple of Chester town was caught in an ice jam on the Bay and lost the rudder. Captain Wash Woodall, captain of the Love Point ferry came to the rescue as usual and towed the 'Little Charlie' into Love Point. The 'Little Charlie' fastest of the local boats was hauling slag from Sparrow's Point to Rock Hall.

Our Regatta date is still in doubt. Thought to have been settled for the 14th and 15th of August, word comes from both the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Racing Association and the American Power Boat Association that they would like the date to be August 21st and 22nd. This last date would correspond to the one of last year.

A large crowd from town journeyed to Baltimore last week-end with the college basketball team. Although Washington lost to Loyola it was a great game. The Alumni dance after the game was also a great affair. In other words the whole affair was a good party.

This Washington College—Mt. St. Mary's play-off for the championship should prove about as interesting to followers of the game as anything we have had for a number of years. This Saturday night at Emmitsburg, Wednesday night at Chester town, Wednesday night at Emmitsburg and should be the necessary third game in Baltimore next Saturday night.

Chester town's business news, Ray-lis five and ten coming to Chester town and locating in Moffett building, vacated last year by Herb Ward. Another five and ten opening up in the old River's Bank building. Standard Auto Supply leaving town and probably one of our restaurants will move to that location. Where the Chester town Tailoring Company was located in the Voshell Building a Grill will be opened serving beer and sandwiches.

BAY ICE STILL WRECKING TELCHESTER WHARF

GALENA—ELKTON ROAD CLOSED

Floating ice in the bay is still damaging the Telchester Wharf and on Thursday of this week an ice flow carried away the north side of the pier. The piling had been damaged and the flow Thursday toppled the ferry slip on that side into the bay.

Workmen are moving the freight house further ashore and the present plans are to shorten the wharf and dredge a channel into it. It is not known at this writing when the ferry service will be resumed.

At the time of going to press the road from Galena to Elkton is closed to truck traffic and although light cars are being permitted to travel over this route it is extremely dangerous.

It is understood that heavy truck loads caved the road in at a number of places Friday morning.

ROCK HALL WATERMEN STILL FROZEN IN

LARGE CATCHES OF ROCK REPORTED IN BAY

The watermen of Rock Hall who were fortunate enough to get their boats out of the ice are reporting large catches of fish in the bay. The majority of the fish boats are frozen in Haven Creek and efforts of ice boats to break them out have failed so far due to the shoal water. A number of Rock Hall fish boats are reported to be frozen in at Annapolis.

Washington Ties Mounts In Basket Ball League

FIRST OF 3 GAMES PLAY-OFF SERIES HERE TONIGHT—SATURDAY

After losing to Loyola last Saturday night, Washington College handed Mount St. Mary's their first defeat of the season, 32 to 28, on their home court Wednesday night to bring about a tie in the State Collegiate League.

This game ended the regular league schedule but according to custom a three game series will be played between these two teams to determine the championship.

The first of this three game series will be played tonight, Saturday, at the Chester town Armory. The next game will be played next Wednesday at Emmitsburg and if a third is necessary it will be played in Baltimore, probably at Homewood.

Of the three defeats the Mounts have suffered during the season, two have been handed them by Washington College. In the first game, which was played at Chester town early in the season, Washington gained a one sided victory of 52 to 19. With the Mounts on their home court Wednesday night the four point victory was greater than the score shows as this count is smaller and of greater advantage to the home team than any count in the State. With this record of the two teams, Washington should have the edge on the series although one can never tell what the result of a basket ball game will be.

In the game Wednesday night Washington took an early lead which was tied by the Mounts 8-8 after ten minutes of play. Close guarding held the scoring to outside shots and the half ended 11 to 11. In the second half and the scoring saw-sawed back and forth until the closing minutes of the game when Washington forged ahead to maintain their four point lead.

Jim Salter, whose game has been off since he suffered an ankle injury several weeks ago found the basket for 8 points. Huffman's power was a big asset, he having been on the sick list for the past four games; his eight points and guarding were outstanding. (Goop) Zebrowski held up his center position and scored 6 points and Pfund, whose playing has won a birth on the squad caged 2 goals for a total of 4 points.

The lineup and summary follows:

GONZALES SCORES KNOCK OUT

FLOORS UMBRILLIGIO OF BALTIMORE IN FIRST ROUND MONDAY NIGHT OF THIS WEEK

SPECTATORS LEAVE SEATS DURING WRESTLING MATCH

Substituting for Reddy Shreves, of Onley, Va., Henry Gonzales, local fighter opened up on Joe Umbrilligio in the first round of a scheduled six round bout and had him out for the count of ten, before the round was half over. Gonzales waded in and kept Umbrilligio on the ropes during the length of the short fight.

The main bout of the evening Kid Cosden, of Cordova vs. Lou Demarrio of Baltimore, went the full eight rounds to a draw. Two clever fighters showed plenty of action during the entire struggle. No knock-downs and neither showed signs of the hard match.

Earl Cosden knocked out Kid Ewing in the first round in the second preliminary fight.

Ewing the tough boy from Easton was knocked down for the count of seven. Shortly afterwards a blow to the chin finished the fight.

Benny Williams, of Betterton, went to work on K. O. Sharp hammering him fast and furious for two rounds. In the third round the tide of battle turned Williams was knocked down but came back on the count of nine. Williams was unable to answer the bell for the fourth round.

As wrestling bouts go, the Buddy was a wow. Both went out of the ring and started a fist fight on the floor. McQuade lost popularity with the spectators when he struck Munder with a chair. The crowd left their seats and rushed to the scene of activity. Munder finally pinned McQuade's shoulders to the floor.

Due to bad roads, Reddy Shreves driving from Onley, Va., arrived too late for his fight. Bad roads also cut down on the attendance. The program was probably the best of the season here.

JAMES DAVIS RESIGNS FARM BUREAU POST

SUCCESSOR AS FARM BUREAU COOP. ASSOC. SECY. NOT NAMED

Announcement was made this week of the resignation of Mr. James P. Davis, Jr., as secretary of the Kent County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

When approached on the subject yesterday Mr. Davis said that since 1902, a period of 34 years, he has been continuously employed and has had very few vacations, add that due to other business interests he feels that he can not give his entire time to the cooperative organization. That his resignation was tendered in January to take
