The officers found a 750 gallon still, forty mash boxes, 12,000 gallons of mash, large quantity of liquor, 4,000 pounds of sugar, steam boiler, Ford automobile, large quantity coke, 1,000 five gallon cans, a large steam pump and other still equipment.

Immediately after the raid the sugar was loaded on trucks and was removed to Baltimore.

THE TOMATO OUTLOOK

BY DAVID B. FORD

I have been asked by a number of farmers in Kent County how tomatoes were looking in the different territories where I travel, so this week I discovered something new in the way of an insect that I thought the farmers would be interested.

While traveling in Southern New Jersey this week I saw so many late canning house tomato patches that looked 'sick,' so I asked what the trouble was and they told me it was a 'red louse' causing the trouble, so after examining several patches, I found that this 'red louse' was so thick on the leaves of the vines both on top and underneath the leaves that the vines looked 'red.' They sap the vitality from the leaves and stunt the growth of the vines, and the result is very few tomatoes. This is the first year that the New Jersey farmers have had this pest, and the damage was done before they thought of spraying.

My prediction is the New Jersey Canners will have to extend their activities to other territories such as Delaware and Maryland to buy enough tomatoes to complete filling their contracts.

DID YOU KNOW?

BY C. COX HOPPER

DID YOU KNOW:

That it was January 26, 1852 that railroad trains passed over the Susquehannah river at Havre de Grace on the ice. That was of course prior to the building of the bridge over the river at that point.

DID YOU KNOW:

That in the year 1652 the Susquehannocks Indians, a fierce and warlike tribe of 700 warriors dwelling on the Susquehanna river 21 miles from its source, ceded to the Commissioners of Maryland, the land on which Chester Town, Centreville and Easton are located. Susquehanna is a name of many spellings and manw meanings.

Among the interpretations of the name are 'The Long reach river,' and the smooth river.

FIREMEN TEST RESOVOIR SUPPLY

The Chestertown Fire Company tested the resovoir at the corner of Washington Avenue and Maple Avenue Wednesday evening to determine the amount of water available for fire fighting purposes.

This resovoir was abandoned a number of years ago as a supply for Water Board purposes and recently the Town Council and Waterboard agreed to maintain it for fire-fighting purposes at the request of the fire company.

The test proved it to be great value in that section to the town in case the town system failed at the time of a serious fire. Firemen pumped for ocr hours before the supply was exhausted and in eight hours the resovoir was full again. This supply assures ample water for fire protection or the entire north-east section of Chestertown.

TO RESURFACE HIGHWAYS

Work will start Monday on resurfacing the 98 miles of mecadam highways in this district with oil and chips.

Starting Monday at Federalsburg and working toward Chestertown workmen will tar the roads and then spread stone chips over the tar which will bind it into a new surface.

The roads in Kent County to be resurfaced will be from Chestertown to Fairlee and from Chestertown to a point about a mile south of Fairlee.

The work, aside from affording a new surface is supposed to prevent the seepage of dampness into the mecadam material which it is thought will prevent much of the winter damage.

VETERAN WATERMAN DIES HERE

Captain Charles H. Bachelor, aged 70, of Chestertown, died at his home here Tuesday night following a lingering illness. Captain Charlie was one of the few captains on the bay that has stuck to sail in transporting farm commodities from Eastern Shore points to Baltimore.

He with his son, Elmer recently purchased and reconditioned the Australia, a sailing vessel whose history dates back to before the war of 1812 and which was captured from the British in that war. The Australia has recently held the interest of the Maryland Historical Society and the Smithsonian Institute as one of the oldest vessels on the United States registry.

Captain Bachelor's travels have taken him to all points on the Chesapeake Bay and also coast-wise to the Carolina's, and his memory goes back to the time when all transportation on the bay was by sail.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emily Cohee Batchelor and the following children: John R., of Queen Anne's county; Frank, of Salisbury; James E., Charles W., George E. Batchelor and Mrs. Bessie Capel, all of Chestertown. Forty-two grandchildren and two great grand-children also survive.

NEGRO KILLED AT UNIONTOWN

COLORED SCHOOL GIRL ADMITS STABBING

Gertrude Butler, 16-year old colored school girl was held for a hearing before Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court next Monday evening as the result of the fatal stabbing of Josiah Wilkins, 24 year old Negro, who was instantly killed with a ten-cent Barlow knife in a quarrel outside the dance hall at Uniontown, a colored community between Church Hill and Chestertown, near McGinnis Corner Wednesday morning about 1 o'clock.

The girl was arrested by Sheriff T. Herbert Everett and Deputy Sheriff Louis Perkins Wedensday afternoon a few hours after a Coroner's jury had recommended that Etta Dodd be held for the Grand Jury for killing. Suspecting the girl the officers detained her for questioning. She broke down and confessed.

According to sworn statements of the Butler girl and May Caulk, 22 year old colored woman, Wilkins in a fit of jealousy had knocked down Etta Dodd, a former common law wife and was kicking her brutally when the Butler girl, her sister ran to a car for the knife. The younger girl told Wilkins to cease kicking Etta and when he continued she rushed at him.

In the scuffle Wilkins was stabbed twice, one 3-inch gash snipping the artery above the heart. Although the Negro died at once his body was carried to a Chestertown doctor who ordered it taken back to Queen Anne's county. The Butler girl went to Chestertown with the group and tosed the knife into the Chester River as she crossed he bridge.

BOATING ACTIVE ON THE CHESTER

The Sea Gull owned by Carl Bordley chalked up two firsts by the handicap in the sailing series held Scnday.

Jolly Roger, sailed by Neal Truslow crossed the finish line first in both races but by not enough margin to overcome her handicap.

Standing in the series is as follows:

The standings:

Sea Gull, Carl Bordley	38
Wimpy, Bucky Wilson	33
Jolly Roger, John Truslow	32
Puffin, Doug Moore	31
Sea Breeze, Tommy Massey	30
Pit Pat, H. B. Strong, Jr.	28
Rexall, A. L. Sterling	25
Day Dream, Gilbert Ingersoll	24
Ann, Bill Grieb	23
Skippy, Alice M. Sterling	17
Teaser, Jimmy Metcalfe	17
No Name, Albert Strong	16
Eeyore, Kellogg Smith	13
Med, Jimmy Woodburn	12
Mallard, Bill Dixon	11
Sneakbox, Tom Moyer	10
Playmate, W. G. Smyth	6
Sneakbox, Bob Harrison	5
Honey Chile, J. W. Walbert	4
Mayflower, Howard Strong	4
Snipe, Mrs. R. N. Harrison	2

Junny Strong's new Lark class boat is attracting a lot of attenion. In informal races this week it has walked away from Carl Bordley's Sea Gull.

The new boat needs what we would call here a stiff breeze. In such a breeze she can carry her large sail surprisingly well and the hull planes on the water. Paning is what modern boat-builders are striving for in both sail and motor boats.

The Mayflower, Chesapeake Bay Log Canoe sailed in the Sunday series last week for the first time. She did not carry her racing sails and as the breeze was very light she did not do so well.

Officials of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club attended the Havre de Grace regatta last Saturday. They interviewed several of the race boat owners and most of them are planning to race at Chestertown. A meeting of the regatta committees will be held this Friday at the club house.

A Baltimore orchestra has been obtained for the dances Friday and Saturday nights of the regatta. This orchestra made a very favorable impression at a dance held during the winter here.

Members of the Regatta Committee of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club interviewed officers of the Chesapeake Bay Log Canoe Association at Easton on Tuesday of this week. Present indications are for a good entry in that event here on August 14 and 15. The canoe races here will be run under the rules of the Canoe Association.

Several local boats will cruise to St. Michaels, for the Miles River regatta on August 6, 7 and 8. Howard Strong's Mayflower is entered in the ctnoe race and John Truslow with a crew of three will sail the Jolly Roger al the way down to enter the free-for-all.

CHAS. HULETT DIED SUNDAY

Charles Hulett, of Quaker Neck, died in a Baltimore hospital on Sunday morning following an illness of several weeks.

He was a prominent farmer of the Quaker Neck section and lived on and owned the Nichols Marsh farm.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Shakespeare Hulett.

Funeral services were held at Old St. Paul's Church at 3 p. m. on Tuesday with interment in the adjoining cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Wyllie.
