The Social Wanderer

Dear Roamer:

With the roar of traffic, the honks of taxis, the clanging of trolley cars, and the broiling sun on the asphalt streets, said my friend in the city in her sweetest most patronizing voice, 'Now my dear, just what do you do with yourself over there in that small town?' Having gone to the city for a rest, and lying back most lazily in the chair by a window from where I viewed brick walls, a back fence and other beauties of Nature, I sat upright, and after the first flash of amazement had passed, said I to the lady of the city, (who, needless to say, had never set foot upon this Shore, or in scarcely any small town, much less this one,) 'Why—Why—I hardly know where to start.' Unfortunately, not excelling in the art of conversation, I stammered out a few uninteresting remarks, but then the smile on her face, the benevolent air of befriending the country friend, forced me to battle. Coming slowly to the front, I said, 'I'll write you a letter of one week's activities, and give you an idea.' Outside, the din increased, the heat grew hotter, and as I rose to get in my car to return here, with a song in my heart, 'Good-bye,' I said, 'You will hear from me on Saturday.'

With a look of sympathy in her eye, and true sorrow in her voice that I had to go back—way over there, and as she probably thought, to just sit and fold my hands some more, I waved a cheery farewell, and here I am. Before mailing my letter, I am going to let you read it over and see if I've gone amiss on the week's calendar.

Every Sunday night is 'open house' to their friends at the Bob Wilsons down at Fox Point, as you know. However, last Sunday was a little special in that it was Mr. Wilson's birthday and a larger crowd than usual was there to wish 'Many Happy Returns.' A large box of trinkets, cleverly arranged by one of the guests, was presented to him, and at each opening, a roar of laughter ensued. Miss Patsy Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's youngest daughter, is visiting a school friend in Stone Harbor, N. J., for a few days this week.

On Wednesday, Mrs. H. G. Simpers and her daughter, Mrs. Elias Nuttle, of Denton, entertained at luncheon-bridge at the Lotus Inn. It was a grand party and everyone enjoyed the beautiful setting of Mrs. Fisher's lovely home. Miss Helen Simpers, of Washington, was among the out-of-town guests.

Friday, was marked by another delightful luncheon and bridge given by Misses Jennie and Grace Wilkins, which was the second of the two parties held by the Misses Wilkins, recently.

But Friday continued with another party. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Truslow entertained charmingly at a beach supper party in front of their home in the evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson R. Collins, of Montclair, N. J., who have been their house guests this week. Mr. Truslow, has returned from a visit to Ocean City, Md., where he attended the State Poultrymen's convention.

To-night, is the big night for the Junior set, when they will wend their way to the Country Club for THEIR dance. If this dance proves a success, the Club, who is sponsoring it, will endeavor to hold another one, soon after the Regatta, which by the way, is but two weeks in the offing. Before the hop this evening, Miss Dorothy Vickers and her brother, Harrison Vickers will entertain at a buffet supper, while Scott Beck, Jr., will have an 'Intermission party' which always prove so popular.

Now that the week has passed so quietly and dull (?) let's turn and see what new faces are with us. Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Wood and son, of Baltimore, came yesterday to spend two or possibly three weeks here. They have subrented the apartment in the Baldwin Apartments of Mrs. Raymond Humphreys, who with her family is in North Carolina.

Mrs. Brooke Bond, of Port Republic Calvert Co., Md., has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Eben F. Perkins since last Sunday.

Miss Ellen Skinner, of New York, came on Tuesday, and will spend the remainder of the summer, as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James G. Metcalfe. Mr. John P. Skinner (Jack) and his financee, Miss Katherine Herendeen, of New York, whose wedding will take place in the fall in that city, will spend the week-end, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Metcalfe.

Miss Ellen Beck, of New York, spent last week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas have returned from a fishing trip to Solomon's Island, this week where they were accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Earle Burky, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Dorsey Hines, who has returned from a visit to her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Tull, who have a summer home at Sherwood Forest, will have Miss Alice Stewart, of New York, as a week-end guest.

Miss Rebecca Wickes, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Selin Woodworth, of Pasadena, California, are the guests of Mrs. Lewin W. Wickes. On Thursday evening, Mrs. Wickes entertained at a family dinner, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wethered Barroll, of Baltimore, who with their family are spending the summer at Knox's Folly, near Kennedyville.

Mrs. John Crane, of Philadelphia, is the guest of the Misses Emory and Captain Ned Emory at their home, Piney Grove.

Mrs. L. B. Van Petten has as her house-guests her mother, Mrs. Eva Eldredge, and brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Dickerson.

Miss Naomi Baxter, of Philadelphia, and Miss Mary Bevard, of Harrisburg, Pa., were week end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Geraitis, of Jacksonville, Fla., will arrive to-morrow evening, Sunday, to spend their vacation here, as the guests of Mrs. Etta Fountain and Mrs. Herbert Skipper. Mrs. Geraitis was the former, Miss Anne Welch, of Chestertown.

Miss Mary Rogers Hynson, of Wilmington, is the week-end guest of Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines.

Mr. James Bacchus, of New York, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bacchus.

Mr. Browne Metcalfe spent last week end in Lancaster, Pa., where he visited friends and enjoyed some good golfing.

Mr. Jack Stenger has returned from a visit to his mother in Hagerstown, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris K. Barroll, who have spending several weeks at Kinderhook in Columbia Co., New York State, and visiting friends on the Hudson, have returned to their home at By-Ford Court.

Mrs. William Wilmer has returned from a visit to Baltimore, where she spent a few days this week. Mrs. Wilmer has rented her home to Dr. and Mrs. Corrington, and is now living at the Baldwin Apartments on Queen St. Dr. Corrington has been appointed professor of Biology at Washington College. He and his family come here from Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kibler left yesterday for a visit to Camp Red Cloud in New York State where they will spend the week-end with their son, Jack, who is there for the summer.

Mrs. C. Beck Jones and her niece, Miss Emily Hamilton, who have spent the past week at Rehobeth, Del., returned yesterday. Mr. Fank Beck, who spent his vacation here, returned to Baltimore on Wednesday, where he resumed his position.

Mrs. J. S. Kreeger and family have been spending this week at Rehobeth Beach and will be joined by Mr. Kreeger for the week-end.

The time is up and I must get this off to my friend in the city with so much to do.

Yours with nothing to do,
THE WANDERER.

TO VOTE ON CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

ONE DEALS WITH LIABILITY OF STATE BANK STOCK HOLDERS

At the general elections to be held on November 3, 1936, Maryland voters will be asked to approve or reject three amendments to the State Constitution. Copies of these proposed amendments are printed in this issue of The Transcript on page seven.

One of these amendments would provided for another judge in the Six-Judicial Circuit. This district comprises Frederick and Montgomery counties. When the amendment was being debated at Annapolis last April a year ago, its proponents claimed that Frederick county had two of the three circuit judges, and that the judge in Montgomery county was overworked and needed assistance.

The second proposed amendment would alter the present arrangement for filling vacancies which may occur in the State Senate and the House of Delegates. Such vacancies are now filled by special elections held shortly after they occur. The amendment would do away with these elections and empower the Governor to fill the vacancy by appointing a person recommended by the State Central Committee of the political party with which the Senator or Delegates so vacating had been affiliated. The appointment would be only for the unexpired term.

In the third amendment it is proposed that there be stricken from the Constitution the law providing that the stockholders for banks shall be held liable to the amounts of their respective shares for all the banks' debts and liabilities. Under the present provisions, a stockholder assumes a double liability; and if a bank fails he not only loses his stock but theoretically he can be made to pay, in addition, as much as the face value of his shares.

RECORD-BREAKER TO BE HERE FOR REGATTA

The Restless II as been entered to compete in the speed boat races to be held at the annual regatta of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club August 14th and 15th.

At the seventh annual Havre de Grace Regattta held recently, Mr. Eklof and his sister, Miss Alice Eklof sent the Reckless II to the fore with two new marks in the speed boat classes. In the first trial of the day the Restless made 56.252 miles to beat a mark of 54.381 set by the same boat a week previous at North East. In the Ladies' Inboard Runabut Class, Miss Eklof drove the Restless to victory, also chalking up a new speed.

The boat is twenty-six feet long, displaces 1025 cubic feet of water and is propelled by one of the most powerful of speedboat motors. However, according to experts this does not entirely account for the tremendous speed attaind by the Restless but attribute it to the perfect balance and workmanship of Mr. Eklof.

1,300 ACRES SOLD IN QUEEN ANNES

Thirteen hundred acres of land on the upper Eastern Shore of Maryland changed hands last week in one of the largest records of real estate transference since the early colonial days when the Lords Calvert ceded sections of Maryland to the early families. Nine hundred acres of Queen Anne's county most valuable farm land, and 400 acres of Talbot county land became the property of Queen Anne's countans through sales made by the Bay and River Estates Company and by the Centreville National Bank.

The farms involved were the Powell's Point Farm of the McKenney Estate in Talbot, which was purchased by Geo. M. Moffettt, of near Centreville; the DriverFarm in Queen Anne's which was bought by James Maitland of New York, who already owns property in that county; the Emory Farm in historic Spaniard Neck, which was purchased by Thomas Marsalis, of My Lord's Gift, near Queenstown, and the John R. Hammond farm, near Centreville, which was sold to Samuel C. Chance.

PROSPECT BRIGHT FOR MARYLAND COASTAL HIGHWAY

Maryland's contribution to the 10-year dream of a coastal highway between Ocean City and Rehoboth Beach, Del., which would link a string of growing summer resorts and create a drive equal to some of New Jersey's coastal roads, has been virtually assured by the annoncement that the way is being cleared for immediate construction of the coastal beach road from Ocean City to the Delaware line at Fenwick Island.

When this road is completed the coastal highway will be complete except fo a stretch between Fenwick Island and Bethany Beach, Del. A short detour is necessary between these two lower Delaware resorts, but the coastal stretch between them consists of State land on which a road could be built without little trouble.

Surveyors are completing an inspection of the rights-of-ways along the beach north of Ocean City preparatory to the immediate construction by the Maryland State Roads Commission of a six-mile coastal highway between Ocean City and the Del. State line.

Incidentally all rights of ways have been granted without cost for the beach highway project by owners of properties lying along the route.

JOHN HARMAN MADE DIRECTOR OF FISHING FAIR

The Cheaspeake Bay Fishing Fair at a meeting last week at Easton Maryland here, transacted some important business. All accounts of the association up to the present time were ratified in compliance with the incorporation of the organization.

The by-laws governing the association will be offered at the next meeting for approval. The following were chosen directors upon the recommendation of the members in their fising port: 'Buck' Stevenson, Oxford; Basil B. Wells, Severna Park; J. C. Webster, Solmon; John W. Harman, Rock Hall.

A lengthy discussion was had over the arrangements for the Fishing Fair, to be held off 'The Gooses' on September 12. Fishermen are privileged to fish any part of the bay, east or west of The Gooses from early morning until noon, when they are supposed to return to Tilghman and report the largest fish caught during the day. Prizes will be awarded the ones catching the largest rock, trout perch, hardhead, blue fish, the largest drum, and the largest toad—booby.

A committee of Capt. Harry Covington, Tilghman, Wesley Jenkins, Tilghman, G. E. Bowen and Dick Lore, of Solmons, to lay off on a chart the official fishing area. The president was authorized to name the committee to judge and weigh the fish.

The Governor of the state, the United States Senators, the tidewater Congressmen State Senators, and members of the Legislature will be invited to the festivities on September 12. The association will rally around Kenneth Harrison, at Tilghman, in serving the crab feast at the conclesion of the fishing. Boats must stop fishing at noon and head for Tilghman, where the crab feast will be held.

Any kind of tackle or bait except mechanical hooks may be used.

All fish entered must be caught in the Maryland waters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

Maryland fishing laws must be observed.

The largest fish within the law in the several classifications, caught by members of the fishing party, will be eligible to enter the monthly contest.

All Association members will have entry blanks which should be filled out by the angler and witnessed by the boat captain.

Rock Hall has 25 membes of the association of which 18 are boat captains.
