RADIANT LIVING

The Light In The Window

By Rev. C. M. Griffeth
Pastor Calvary M. E. Church
Sudlersville

'Why do you set that light in the window?' I asked her one evening as she lit her big oil lamp and placed it on a little table in a small bay window.

'It's a peculiar notion of mine,' she smiled in her motherly way. 'Somehow I feel it will bring a little cheer to some passerby.

As she spoke, I recalled how I had been impressed by the rays of light streaming from the windows of cheery homes as I passed by on a cold winter's night. Their mellow rays seemed like long arms of welcome reaching out toward me and bidding me to come in and enjoy the warmth and hospitality of the home.

'I think it is a lovely idea,' I commented, 'I feel that your light does speak of warmth of heart and encouragement.

'And do you know they get to look for it,' she replied as an appreciative look swept over her kind features. 'And when I'm away from home and come back they tell me that they missed the light shining in the window!'

I was beginning to think, is there a light in my ——

'And there was one person,' she broke in on my thought, 'there was one person who confessed that if it hadn't been for this light, he wouldn't have known what he would have done one night when he was well nigh overcome by discouragement.'

'Isn't that fine,' I exclaimed, 'and I believe I will place a light in my window tonight,' I added with a deeper meaning than the words would seem to indicate. 'Perhaps my light too might speak to someone as yours has spoken to me.'
