FARMERS TO GATHER IN BALTIMORE

FIVE STATES TO JOIN IN MEETING

One of the largest groups of farmers ever to gather in Baltimore is expected to attend the annual patrons meeting of th Southern States Cooperative which will be held here for the first time this year. The date has been announced by General Manager W. G. Wysor for Tuesday, November 10, and more than a thousand farmers are expected.

Interest and attendance of Maryland farmers will be increased this year because of the combination, last July, of the Southern States Cooperative with the Agricultural Corporation of Maryland, an affiliated cooperative of the Maryland Farm Bureau, according to H. H. Nuttle of Denton, president of the latter organizations.

FIRE COMPANY PLANS ATTENDANCE CONTEST

The Monday evening meetings of the Fire Company have been so sparsely attended lately that it was decided to have a drawing each Monday night for the next four or five meeting nights for a cake, which will be secured, it is hoped by donation.

Cakes for the first two Mondays have been already promined, so the first drawing will be on Sept. 21. There is great need for increased interest in the Fire Company meetings, particularly on the part of our older members. Those present last Monday discussed the advisability of having a program Committee for each meeting, so that those coming might be assured of things to come up other that dull routine business. Member are requested to attend this coming week and consider this, and other matters for the benefit of the Company.

PENNSYLVANIAN LEAPS OUT OF BOAT AT ROCK HALL

SUICIDE SAID TO BE RESULT OF LOVERS QUARREL

While on a fishing trip out of Rock Hall last Saturday, John Schadler, 36 year old resident of Pennsylvania, jumped overboard after accusing a lady member of the party of not loving him. While in the water, a life preserver was thrown to him but he pushed it aside and sank below the surface. Efforts to recover the body failed until Monday when it was found by Captain Harry Carter.

Dr. Frank W. Smith, coroner, after questioning members of the party, concluded the death a suicide and a coroner's inquest unnecessary. Members of the party stated that he had made a previous attempt to end his life.

CONSIDERS COURT HOUSE ENLARGEMENT

$30,0000 PROJECT WOULD COST COUNTY $11,315.00

The Commissioners of Kent County made application through the Federal W. P. A. for a project to enlarge the Kent County Court House.

The enlargement project would extend the walls on both sides in the rear of the building to conform with the width of the present front wing and would double the size of the vault in the Clerk's office, enlarge the Treasurer's' office affording ample room for a much needed vault. On the east side of the building it would enlarge he Commissioners office so as to make available a private office and a vault.

On the second floor the project would double the size of the present Court room and afford space for a Judges retirement room.

The entire project will cost $29,105.-85 according to estimates made by Mr. Henry Hopkins, Baltimore architect. In the application to the W. P. A. for the project, which was filed with the cooperation of Shore W. P. A. officials and Mr. Hopkins, the figures as set forth would cost Kent County $11,315.-00 with the Federal W. P. A. providing $17,790.85 of the cost.

Included in the County's cost would be $2,520 for labor supervision and he balance for material and alterations necessary for vlumbing, heating and lighting. The W. P. A's. share of the project would be $5,000 for material and the balance for labor.

The action taken at this time by the Commissioners was the fact that W. P. A. funds are only available under present rulings for projects that can be completed by March 1st and by use of these funds the county cost is approximately one-third of the entire construction cost. The county is faced with the necessity of enlarging the vault in the Clerk's office in order to properly preserve the land records of the county which are increasing each year, and the building of a vault and enlarging the treasrer's office. It was estimated that the county's cost of the contemplated entire enlargement project under the W. P. A. would not exceed the cost of the above named necessary improvements without W. P. A. help.

The Works Progress Administration is limited to projects costing less than $40,000 and any other contemplated county projects costing more than that amount would not be considered by that branch of the Government.

It is understood that if the project is approved at Washington, and officials state that every indication points to its approval, work will start about the middle of October.

RED CROSS CONFERENCE HERE NEXT FRIDAY

THREE STATES TO BE REPRESENTED FOR PROBLEM DISCUSSION

J. HARRISON HECKMAN

WILL SPEAK

The Red Cross conference here next Friday, September 25th, in William Smith Hall, Washington College, which started out as a meeting only of chapters from the Eastern Shore, has developed into a gathering which will see delegates from three states grouped for a discussion of the problems of this great humanitarian institution. Maryland, Delaware and Virginia will be represented when the session begins at ten-thirty in the morning.

Principal feature of the meeting will be a discususion of the work of the Red Cross in disaster relief, with the floods of Western Md., Federalsburg and Ocean City used as particular examples. Mr. Colin Herrle, Red Cross director of disaster relief, will speak to the gathering, and will illustrate his talk with actual motion picture scenes of flood areas at the time of the disaster.

Another attraction which is of great interest will be the Red Cross Roll Call film which features Shirley Temple, famed child star. Little Miss Temple is to be seen for the first appealing in behalf of the Red Cross.

Local officials of the Red Cross want it to be known through the papers that anyone interested is welcome to the sessions next Friday. A luncheon will be served at twelve in the college gymnasium, tickets for which will be fifty cents. The public is invited to attend the sessions and the luncheon, and Red Cross officials feel that the discussions will be of great interest.

Pat and Mike were duck hunting. Pat saw a wild duck far overhead, and gave it both barrels. To his delight, he saw the bird fall to the ground. 'Ye wasted that powder, Pat,' said Mike, Pat turned to Mike and said: 'Didn't I get the bird?' 'Sure you did, Pat, but the fall would have killed him anyway.'

ELECTRIC ORGAN RECITAL AT COLLEGE NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

PUBLIC INVITED TO RARE TREAT

On next Wednesday evening, September 23, Washington College will present for its friends an evening of organ music, in the Auditorium of William Smith Hall, the artist of the evening being Mr. John H. Eltermann, well-known organist of Baltimore. The concert, which will feature both classical and popular muusic, will begin at 8.15.

The college authorities are presenting the concert without admission charge, and the public is invited to attend.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Frederick P. Stieff of the Stieff Piano Company, Baltimore, Dr. Mead has secured the use of a Hammond Electric organ, one of the most amazing instrument ever devised. Without the use of the pipes usually necessary in an organ, the instrument, by amplified electric vigrations, is capable of producing hot only all the effects of a very large and superior ripe organ, but also an infinite number of tone combination of which the pipe organ in not capable. Every type of orchestral instrument is reproduced, and in the hands of a capable artist like Mr. Eltermann, amazing effects can be produced.

In general appearance, the console of the organ is like that of a large pipe organ, and only the absence of pipes marks the electric organ as different from the largest theatre or cathedral organ.

Dr. Mead has secured the organ for use on Thursday morning at the annual Opening Convocation ceremonies, and is bringing it to Chestertown Wednesday for the concert that evening. All are welcome to attend.

KENT 4H CLUB MEMBERS AT TIMONIUM

MAKE GOOD SHOWING IN CALF AND PIG EXHIBIT

A new method of awarding prizes was used this year where by each club member exhibiting received a more equitable rating. The type and quality of the individual calf was graded on a basis of 50 per cent, the showing and fitting skill on a basis of 25 per cent, and the record book kept by the member on a 25 per cent, basis. The total score determined the prize money received.

The Fair was attended each day by Kent Countians who were interested in the 4-H exhibits as well as other cattle, beef, sheep, swine, horse and machinery exhibits. Wednesday was Farm Bureau day which attracted the largest nuumber of Kent farmers.

SUGGESTIONS FOR OVERCOMING HAY SHORTAGE

SILO GIVES FULLEST USE OF ROUGHAGE

Feed is already high and probably will go higher, so this is a good time to cull the dairy herd, is the advice of John A. Conover, dairy specialist for the University of Maryland extension service. Good producers will pay for their feed, he states, but the poor ones will lose money for their owners.

Mr. Conover weens against trying to save money by half feed dairy cows More money will be made, he says, by disposing of the low producers and feeding the good cows to capacity.

Dairy farmers are advised to watch the feed markt and buy the feed that will furnish the greatest amount of protein for the least money. This feed can be combined with home grown grains to make a mixture suitable for the herd.

On many farms there is a shortage of hay, according to Mr. Conover. In such cases, he states, a number of weeds can ge made into hay and used to feed dry cows and young stock. He mentions also that a temporary silo can be built, using lath fencing and reinforced paper, which will provide storage for additional silage. Such silos cost only 50 to 60 cents per ton capacity. Very complete information and directions, fully illustrated by vry clear pictures may be had for the asking at the County Agent's office. Legume crops, if ensiled with from 50 to 70 pounds of molasses to the ton, will come out of the silo in splendid condition, and will help lower the feed bill, according to this specialist.

Suggestions for making up rations can be obtained from Circular No. 9, which may be had free of cost by writing to the Extension Service at College Park.
