THE SOCIAL WANDERER

Dear Roamer:

Are you ready for the foot-ball game this afternoon? Afterwards, when you go to the reception at Hodson Hall what a treat have you in store. Unfortunately, I will not be among those present to-day, but I had the pleasure of seeing this beautiful new addition to Washington College one day this week and just lend me an ear a minute while I tell you of Hodson Hall. You simply must see it. The doorway of this piece of colonial architecture is beautifully carved and a joy forever. On entering the reception hall a double stairway with a black wrought iron rail rises to a platform entrance to the dining hall from a terrazo marble floor done in squares of black and white. In the central panel of the iron work the Washington College monogram is inscribed. A series of medallion panels, containing silhouette portraits of men prominent in the early history of the College and of Maryland, are above the panelled wainscoting. These silhouettes done by Mr. Paul Roche, Baltimore artist who decorated the lobby, include Dr. William Smith, George Washington, William Paca, Samuel Chase, Charles Carroll, Lafayette, Jefferson, Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin, Dr. Colin Ferguson, Richard Ringgold, Bishop John Emory, Bishop William Murray Stone, William Barrell, Charles Willson Peale, and Lord Baltimore.

Four large color representations of famous paintings bring out the proper colors of the ceilings and walls. These pictures hung on the walls are Sir Galahad by Edwin Abbey, Rossman's Joan of Arc, "Infanta in Pink" by Velasquez, and "Woman Peling Apples" by Pieter De Hooch.

Duncan Phyfe sofas and unholstered chairs done in tapestry with plain curtains at the windows complete the effect.

But now let's go into the dining hall. You are amazed at the size, which you never suspect from the outside. This charming room has walls of stained knotty white pine, and a vaulted ceiling. The flooring is of black and white linoleum with a wide black border. Hanging from the many wide windows are draperies of block linen with a design of rose and green flowers against a pale cream background. Wrought iron-ring chandeliers hang from the ceiling giving a beautiful lighting upon the 225 students who will eat at mahogany tables seated on mahogony chairs. Doesn't that sound elegant? In addition, a whole new set of lovely china will be the last word in making this one of the most up-to-date and beautiful dining halls to be found.

But wait, just go into the kitchen if you want to see la mode personified. Full of modern equipment from every angle, the ice box alone is large enough to start housekeeping in. On the sides are storerooms, dietician's office, etc.

Now, we go below into the playroom with its ping pong tables, small tables for table games, pool and billiard tables, trophy cases, reading lamps, in other word like unto a modern gentlemen's club. Space forbids my going on and on, but I hope I have interested you enough to go see for yourselves this edifice erected in your community, of which Mr. Henry Powell Hopkins, known to all of you, was the architect.

Of interest here is the fact that "Princess Tell" from Fairview Farm, ridden by Gloria V. Eck, Hamilton, won second place in the saddle class last Saturday at Newart Hunt Club horse show. "Princess Tell" is two years old with six ribbons to her credit. Miss Eck spent the week-end with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Weldon Walbert at Fairview Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines whose marriage took place last Saturday, are spending part of their honeymoon at Riverside, the home of Mr and Mrs. Dorsey Hines.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin H. Beck whose marriage took place at high noon at Old St. Paul's on Thursday, are spending their honeymoon in New York. The bride, the former Miss Trilla Goheen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Goheen, of Manhattan, Kansas, was given in marriage by Mr. Wm. B. Usilton, of Chestertown. She wore a green cloth suit trimmed in beaver and a becoming hat of brown, with white gloves and a corsage of gardenias lending a striking contrast to the tones of the rich green of her suit.

Mr. Beck had as his best man, his brother, Mr. Horace Beck, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga. The Rev. William Wylie performed the ceremony. On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Usilton, III, entertained at a kitchen shower in honor of the bride and groom.

Invitations have been received to the wedding of Miss Dorothy Quarles, daughter of Mrs. Curtis Blakeman Quarles, of Houston, Texas, and Dr. Alexander Colclough Dick, which will take place on Thursday evening, November fifth at 8 o'clock in Christ Episcopal Church in Houston.

And while we are still on the subject of weddings, from St. Louis comes news of the announcement of the engagement by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Woolsey of their daughter, Anne, to Mr. Eugene Pierce. Miss Woolsey, who spent a part of the summer here, the guest of Mrs. C. Beck Jones made her debut in St. Louis and is a popular member of the younger set here as well as there. The wedding will take place early in December.

Mayor Philip G. Wilmer, who was operated on last Saturday night for appendicitis at the Kent and Queen Anne Hospital is recuperating rapidly and expects to return to his home in a short while.

Among those who went to Baltimore last week-end and attended the Yale-Navy game included Mr. and Mrs. S. Scott Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kibler, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines.

New York this week must have held more magnetic charms than ever. Miss Margaret Jefferson has returned, having gone up on Monday; Mrs. James G. Metcalfe and Mrs. Karl Melamet left on Tuesday for a week's visit, Mrs. Metcalfe visiting her sister, Mrs. Louis Skinner in Bronxville, while Mrs. Melamet will be the guest of her brother, Mr. James Bacchus. Mrs. Richard H. Collins, Jr., left on Thursday, and Mrs. S. Scott Beck yesterday, for the great metropolis.

Mrs. Ernest Strong spent several days in Baltimore this week as the guest of Mrs. Joseph Watkins. Yesterday, she and Mr. Strong motored to Philadelphia to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin Brown and while there will attend the football game at Franklin Field on Saturday. Following the game they will return to Chestertown bringing with them Mr. and Mrs. Richard Decker. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crosby of Cape Cod, Mass., will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Beck, while Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin Brown, will spend the week-end with Mrs. H. Clay Brown. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will entertain informally at noon, at Mr. and Mrs. Beck's home, for Mr. and Mrs. Crosby.

Mrs. Walter Pippin came on Saturday and is spending some time with her daughter, Miss Anne Pippin at her apartment on High St.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Legg moved on Monday of this week to their newly purchased home which was formerly the Williams Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Vickers LeCates moved this week from the Thompson house on High street to the home of Mr. James LeCates.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bennett have moved from their home on Washington Avenue, which was recently purchased by Dr. A. L. Sterling, to the Thompson property on High street.

But ere the time you read this, I hope to be gazing at bright lights, so I'm

Yours, country in the city,
The Wanderer.
