No Definite Arrangements Made For Further Schedule

It is hoped that future arrangements can be made to establish some type of adequate the Western Shore.

While the fall, winter and summer ferry service from Kent County to schedule of the Tolchester Ferry has not in the past been particularly favorable to the people of this county, it has at least established a communication that has been useful.

The discontinuance of ferry service comes at a time when the route from Chestertown to Baltimore by road has been increased to 118 miles due to road repair detours and at present this section is a great deal more accessible to Wilmington and Philadelphia. It will render a great inconvenience to week-end travelers to and from Baltimore.

KENT HUNTERS ACQUITTED IN FEDERAL COURT

Trial Was Of Interest To Kent Sportsmen

The Kent sportsmen who were tried in the Federal Court in Baltimore this week for violation of the Federal ducking laws were found not guilty by Judge Chestnut. The trials were of particularly interest to local sportsmen as it cleared up some of the technicalities of the law.

Of particular interest was the trial of Mr. Edward H. Johnson, of Baltimore, who owns a hunting estate on Eastern Neck Island, and was arrested on charges of using live decoys nad baiting. It was established at the trial that the decoys, both ducks and geese, were in a pen 206 yards from the blind and in handing down his decision Judge Chestnut stated that there was no evidence presented to established the fact that the wild fowl could not have approached the pen from any direction and were not necessarily routed over the blind. As to the baiting charge, less than five grains of mildewed corn was presented as evidence and Judge Chestnut stated that these few grains could have been dropped by a bird in flight and also that there was no evidence to show that the corn had been placed there by or under the direction of Mr. Johnson.

Others acquiitted of charges of violation of Federal ducking laws in Kent County were Messbrs. F. Warrenton Gilllet, W. Keyser Manly, Charles B. Gillet, Clarence W. Wheelwright, Richard Stockton, Samuel Bonnell, Henry B. Marshall.

James G. Sparks, of Queen Anne's, was acquitted of possession of three swan and selling them to a Federal Game Warden.

HOW TO VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

Ballot Will Be Found On Pages 10 and 11

The ballot which will be presented to voters next Tuesday, the facsimile of which will be found on pages ten and eleven of this issue, appears to be very complicated and confusing, but with a careful study of the ballot before going to the polls one will find that there are only three marks necessary to vote the entire ticket.

Whether your choice is Democratic, Republican, Soacialist or Communist it is merely necessary to make one mark in the block opposite the name of the candidate representing that party. It is not necessary to vote for any of the electors representing the party.

In the upper left hand column are the candidates for Congress and to vote the congressional ticket it will be necessary to make one mark either for T. Alan Goldsboruogh Democrat, or O. Straughn Lloyd, Republican.

To vote the Democratic ticket mark "X" in the block opposite the names Roosevelt and Garner, Democrats and mark "X" in the block opposite the name. T Alan Goldsborough, Democrat.

There are three amendments to the Constitution of Maryland.

The first would amend the constitution of Maryland by eliminating the clause making stockholders in State Banks liable to the amount of their holdings.

The second would empower the Governor of Maryland to fill vacancies in the General Assembly of Maryland and thereby discontinue the present practice of holding special elections The amendment provides that the person appointed be of the same political party as the person whose vacancy is to be filled.

The third amendment provides for an additional judge in the 6th Judicial Circuit comprising Frederick and Montgomery counties

School Ballot

In addition to the large ballot described above, voters will receive a separate school ballot for the purpose of voting for or against the improvement of four Kent County school buildings.

To vote this ballot it will be necessary to mark "X" in the block opposite each school to be improved, either for or against, or one may vote only for or against one of the school projects.

EDITORIAL

In this, the last issue of the Transcript before Election Day, next Tuesday, we wish to call attention to some of the results of the Roosevelt Administration as they have affected the people of Kent County.

This being an agricultural community, the very life of the people, whether they live on the farm or in the towns, depends directly upon the prosperity of the farmer and the Roosevelt Administration has been the first to put into practice an active farm program. This program was not designed to benefit the farmer alone but was based on the fact that the prosperity of the farmer directly affects the prosperity of the nation. The United States Department of Agriculture has for many years, under Republican Administrations been urging farmers to curb production, thereby increasing demand and creating a price that showed a profit over cost. Their efforts, however, were futile due to the fact that such a plan cannot work unless all of the farmers in all of the states adhere to the plan which is not practical, whether it be agriculture or industry. The thought needed some definite plan of action and under President Roosevelt a definite plan was worked out and not only brought about a gradual agricultural readjustment but also lifted farmers from a state of desperation. The farm program was typical of the entire administration in the fact that it showed fearless determination to lift the nation out of the deplorable condition that the Hoover Administration left it. The Agricultural Adjustment Act represented the first real determined effort to aid agriculture and showed that President Roosevelt has the interest of farmers at heart. In bidding for the farmers' vote Governor Landon has pretended to sympathize with the farmers but has yet, as in all of his promises, failed to state what he is going to do or how he is going to do it. Isn't it far safer to follow the man who has showed hiself to be a friend to the farmers than one who is making unplanned promises? When one recollects the prices received for farm produce prior to the functioning of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and compares them to the prices received during the past three years they cannot help but admit, in spite of its minor mistakes, that it has worked.

Not only has agriculture benefitted but all types of industry have felt a general uptrend in business as is evidenced by the gradual rise in the stock market. Factories are busy and industry as a whole is fast getting back to normal, which again brings out the fact that the Roosevelt Administration has been a successful one. As to how this effects Kent County, one has but to inquire of people in all types of business to get the answer that things are certainly better.

To those who own securities, their holdings are at least double in value to what they were in 1933. No longer is there any reason for anyone to hesitate to deposit their savings in any of the banks of Kent County because another of the Roosevelt Administration policies has established the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which insures all deposits up to $5.000. This particular act has restored the confidence of the people in banks which confidence was badly needed in 1933.

The Social Security Act has been generally conceeded to have prevented what promised to be a social revolution. While the word revolution is very distasteful in this great nation yet when the masses are hungry and needy and yet willing to work, definite and quick action is needed. This need was met promptly and effectively. The act has its failings and was terriably imposed upon, not only by those who administered it but also by those receiving it. So urgently was drastic action needed that it could not be faultless but in the main it established social security and the assurance of sustenance to those who were unable to provide for themselves but also work for the able. Governor Landon has indorsed social security as he has practically all of the major New Deal policies and is basing his campaign on improving them without any definite plan of how he is going to do it. One of the provisions of the Social Security Act, which has been adopted by practically all of the states is care for the aged. This policy has meet with such favor that it promises to be perpetual.

Quoting from the New York Times—"Reviewing all the factors, weighing what has been accomplished, what is now proposed and what is now proposed and what uncertainties still lie ahead, the New York Times, a conservative newspaper in its own sphere, believes that the public welfare will best be served this year by the continuance of the Democratic party in power and by the re-election of the Prseident.....we prefer to have in Washington, during the still critical period which lies immediately ahead, a Government united in all its branches, with power to take instantly action which may become necessary in any emergency which may arise. The Republican party cannot give us such a Government. Even if Mr. Landon should be elected and the Republicans should carry the House of Representatives, the Senate will remain Democratic because its present majority is too large to be reversed in 1936. A divided Congress during the next two years would threaten the country with precisely the same contradiction of purpose and paralysis of will which proved to be so disastrous in 1931 and 1932.....Finally, we believe that the narrow nationalism for which the Republican party stands today is in itself a policy which, if put into force, would carry us rapidly in the direction both of "regimentation" and "radicalism"."

With war clouds hovering over Europe it is very important that this country have as its head, a man who is not dictated to by powerful money interests, who has pledged himself to peace and whose past word has shown that his interests are in the masses. One who favors an adequate Army and Navy, not only to protect our shores but to stay-off any invasion of foreign countries which may wish to force this country into a European or Asiatic conflict.

A vote for Roosevelt is a vote to continue the present uptrend of social and business conditions which has been in evidence since he took office in 1933.
