DELAWARE GAME HERE SATURDAY

Alumni Plan Dance At Country Club

Washington College and the University of Delawar will meet next Saturday, November 21st on Kibler Field in Chestertown for their annual foot-ball game. Judging from the season's record of the two teams it should be a good game.

In past years the game between these two schools has drawn the largest number of spectators, both at Newark and Chestertown, of any game played on this peninsula.

The Alumni "W" Club, of which Page G. Young is president, is sponsoring a dance for the visiting alumni and friends of the college which will be held at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club. The committee in charge of the dance is Fred W. Dumschott, H. S. Russell, W. B. Usilton, 3rd, William S. Collins, W. Skirven Startt and W. Vernon Kirby.

FERRY OWNERSHIP STILL IN DISPUTE

Court Battle Holding Up Tolchester Service

What is apparently a dispute between stockholders and bond-holdres, is holding up the possibility of establishing a ferry service between Tolchester and Baltimore.

Negotiations have been partially completed with another company for the operation of a ferry service between these two points but according to reports nothing can be done about it until the present ownership is established. If an agreement can be reached there is a posibility that a more efficient service will be established. Whether it can be started before spring is questioned but it is certainly a fact that sufficient time has lapsed so as to render a great hardship upon the people of this county, particularly upon those who do not have the use of an automobile.

It was reported on good authority that a hearing was scheduled for Friday although at the time of going to press the outcome was not known. It is very apparent that those with the power and authority to help remedy the present situation are either not sufficintly interested or have some reason that cannot be disclosed at this time.

COLLEGE UNEARTHS VALUABLE PAPERS

The Washington College Historical Society recently discovered some very valuable papers relating to the early history of Washington College in a quantity of books and what was thought to be trash. The collection was scured from the home of Mrs. Gladys Wickes on Front street.

Among the collection was found a tied up bundle of papers marked Washington College and the papers and letters dated from 1773 to 1824. Included in the bundle were autographed copies of letters bearing the signatures of William Smith, founder of the college, Colin Furgeson, Francis Waters and other prominent men connected with the early history of the college.

Papers relating to the lottery which was held for the benefit of Washington College were also discovered in the collection.

Dr. Mead is working over the find and is discovering valuable information. There is nothing in the collection to indicate who they belonged to although it is thought that they were either the property of the father of the late Judge Joseph Wickes or to the late Judge Chambers.

NEED OF FAMILY BIRTH RECORD FOR PENSION

Local Case Shows Importance Of Recording Birth

The importance of recording births was revealed here recently when a former resident of Chestertown, now living in Texas, applied for a pension in that State. In order to file the papers it was necessary to establish a record of birth. As the birth in this case anti-dated the State birth records, it was necessary for the family of a former preacher here to trace the church records in order to secure the necessary information.

The difficulties a young American, now a resident of Poland, is experiencing in returning to Maryland —his native state—because the physician in attendance at his birth, twenty years ago, wrote "female" instead of "male" on the birth certificate recorded at the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, are outlined below by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. Through the combined efforts of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, the young man's family, the family physician, and the priest of the church in which he was baptized, the story promises to have a happy ending.

Here are the facts: The young man was born at Curtis Bay, twenty years ago. When the boy was about seven years old, the father took the family to Poland. The mother's health was not good and she and the two sons—Alexander Peter, and Adam—remained in Poland when the father returned to Curtis Bay. Adam returned to America a few years ago. Now Alexander Peter wishs to come back, but when the father applied for a copyy of the birth certificate necessary to secure the required passport, he struck a snag. The baby born on the date specified, was registered as a girl. The certificate had been executed before Alexander Peter was named; consequenlty the error had not been detected.

The physician in attendance at the birth cooperation with the Maryland Bureau of Vital Statistics in straightening out the tangle; and further confirmation of the fact that Alexander Peter is "male" not "female" was obtained from the baptismal records of the church the family attended at Curtis Bay.

"This case emphasizes", Dr. Riley sand "how important it is to the individual and the family for the physician or midwife to execute the birth certificate promptly, completely, accurately, and legibly.

"I would also urge the following safeguards to parents:

"(1) Make your choice of a boy's name and a girl's name before the child is born. Give the correct name to the doctor. The doctor is required by law to report the birth within four days, and can't wait for parents to make up their minds.

"(2) Print out the family name and the child's name for the doctor, otherwise it may ybe difficult to find the certificates when needed fifteen or twenty years later.

"(3) Notify the Health Department if you do not receive a correct registration notice within forty-five days after the birth of the child.

"(4" Notify the Health Department in case the name of the family o rthe child is changed. Such changes require the approval of a Judge of the Court and other legal procedure."

Ruth Redding Places In State Canning Contest

TAKING BUSINESS CENSUS HERE

Postmasters Getting Data For Social Security Program

The postmasters in the various towns in Kent County will start on Monday takng the employment census of the business places for the purpose of establishing the pension plan of the Social Security Act which goes into effect January 1st.

It is understood that this pension plan includes all business firms and individuals employing one or more persons with the exception of seasonal and temporary employment. Under the plan a certain proportion of the employees salary and matched by the employer is set aside for pension purposes. This portion starts at one percent for the first year.

The employee, at the age of 65 years may stop work and receive a monthly payment, dependant on the salary made when he was working. He may also receive what he has paid in if he quits work.

The existing unemployment insurance section of the Social Security Act, which is now in effect, applies only to business employing eight or more persons.

The census taking which starts Monday must be completed by November 21st, according to reports.

WASHINGTON LOSES TO THE MOUNTS

To Play West Chester Teachers Today

Washington College lost to Mount St. Mary's last Saturday 6 to 28, although those who saw the game stated that the two teams were more evenly matched than the score indicated. The mounts made their first score following a recovered fumble in the early minutes of the game. The Washington squad was reported to have been far below that shown thus far this season.

The local college will journey to West Chester Teachers today, Saturday and although the teachers are reported to be a little stronger, it is hard to predict a football game until the final whistle.
