HOWARD TURNER DIES WEDNESDAY AT BETTERTON

Was Prominent Betterton Business Man

Howard Turner, aged 67 years, died at his home in Betterton following an illness of two years. As a young man he left college and became associated in the lumber business with his father, the late Richard R. Turner, at Betterton. During his business career he became one of the leaders in the business and civic life of the county and his activities at Betterton were largely responsible for the growth of that bayside resort. He organized the Kent County Red Cross Chapter and was its chairman until two years ago. He was active in the campaign for funds for the local hospital and served on the board until his death. He also was vice president of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce for a number of years and took a prominent part in all county- wide civic activities. Until his recent illness he was a director ofthe Kent County Savings Bank and Kent Mutual Fire Insurance Company. He also served in the Maryland Legislature as a representative from Kent County.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Malcolm S. Graham, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and the following brothers: Henry C. Turner, New York; W. W. Turner and J. A. Turner, Swarthmore, Pa., and R. Sinclair Turner, Betterton.

Funeral services were held at Betterton on Friday at 2 p. m. Active pall-bearers were members of his family while the honorary bearers were Messrs. Fred G. Usilton, L. Bates Russell, Charles N. Saterfield, Jefferson D. Bacchus, Charles S. Smith, W. A. Hyland, J. W. Urie, T. W. Eliason, Allan A. Harris, Eben F. Perkins, Edward Emory, P. M. Brooks, William R. Wilson, James P. Brown, G. PARENT TEACHERS URGE SALARY CUT RESTORED IN FULL

Met At Annapolis This Week

Meeting in the twenty-first annual convention, the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers today urged the restoration of teacher-salary pay cuts and heard a discussion dealing with extra curricular activities of students and the amount of home study that should be assigned.

Approximately 200 delegates from the eighty-six P. T. A. groups of the State attended the initial session of the three-day convention, in the House of Delgates chamber of the State House. Mrs. H. Ross Coppage, president of the congress, presided. Mrs. H. P. Levely, vice-president and convention chairman, sponsored the convention theme "Youth in Modern Society."

Executives Present

Dr. Albert S. Cook, State Superintendent of Education; J. D. Blackwell, head of the State Teachers' College, Salisbury; Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, president of the National Cnofiress, and some superintendents of county schools were present including Professor Louis C. Robinson, of Chestertown.

R. C. Lamb, chairman of legislation, asked the regular order of business be set aside to introduce the resolution requesting the restoration of teacher pay cuts. He declared the teachers were being paid below the level of clerical workers and unskilled labor in many cases, and that many of the State's best teachers were leaving.

He introduced a resolution empowering Mrs. Coppage to appoint a committee to wait on Governor Nice and request him to include in the State school budget for 1938 and 1939, sufficient funds to permit full restoration of the 1933 teacher salary pay cuts.

The resolution also provided that "in order that the cost of these restorations may not be entirely borne by the payers of real estate taxes," the Congress request "that the county school tax rate, which is used as the basis of equalization fund allotments, be kept at 47 cents."

The delegates adopted the resolution without a dissenting vote. Mrs. Coppage said she would name the committee before the convention adjourns Thursday.

Irving W. Spry Dies Suddenly

Irving W. Spry, aged 56 years, died at his home near Galena, Maryland last Saturday morning, November 4.

Mr. Spry spent all of his life in and around Sassafras and the greater part of it on the farm where he died. He was taken sick at midnight on Friday and died at 2 a. m. Saturday morning of heart trouble.

He is survived by his wife formerly Miss Helen Davis, one daughter, Virginia; twin boys, Irving W. Spry, Jr., and Robert Z. Spry. Also a daughter by a former marriage Mrs. Lea Jester of Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services were held at his late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. and was in charge of Rev. W. G. Barlow, pastor of Galena M. E. Church, Interment at Forest Cemetery, Middletown.

The bearers were: Messrs. Harry Bolton, Jesse Ireland, McCosh Walls, James F. Hurtt, Clayton Johnson and Thomas Quinn.

James E. Spear Dies At Millington

James E. Spear, prominent farmer of the First District, died suddenly at his home near Millington, Sunday afternoon. His death was attributed to heart trouble and although he has been suffering from a heart ailment for some time his death was a shock to his many friends.

Although actively engaged in farming, he was interested in boats and may well be considered one of Kent's pioneer yachtsmen. He built a cabin cruiser a number of years ago and spent considerable time in cruising in Chesapeake Bay waters.

He is survived by his wife, a son, James E. Spear, Jr., and a daughter, Susan Spear.

Funeral services were held from the Millington Episcopal Church Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 P. M. with the Rev. Mr. Garner officiating.

Rock Hall Girls Defeat Rising Sun

The girls of the Rock Hall field ball team won their 8th consecutive victory Tuesday when they defeated Rising Sun, Cecil County champions 8 to 3. The game was one of the best the local girls have played this season. At the end of the first half the score was tied 2-2. In the second half the Rock Hall girls came out and scored three goals. Play thurout was in Rising Sun territory. Rising Sun's three points were scored on foul shots. Last week the Rock Hall girls defeated Stevensville, the Queen Anne champions in a one sided game 19-2, at Stevensville.

The time and practise given the game by both coach and team have shown in all games Rock Hall have played this season. They have gone through their county schedule with out a defeat and held their opponents after school in spite of bad weather and high winds and regardless of minor injuries.

NEW MILK RULES FOR SELLING RAW MILK IN MARYLAND

Standards Adopted For Selling Unpasteurized Milk In State

Standards recently adopted by the State Board of Health for Grade A raw milk, produced, shipped or handled in Maryland, are summarized by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, as follows:

"It is generally conceded that pasteurization affords the greatest safeguard available but in the absence of a specific law requiring pasteurization of all milk ,the sale of raw milk to the consumer is permissable in Maryland. The new regulations affect what is set forth to the public as a superior grade of milk that is 'Grade A Raw'. They include the basic requirements enforced for ungraded milk but offer additional safeguards and are more rigid in the standards which must be maintained both as to equipment and as to the quality of the milk produced.

"Specific requirements for 'Grade A Raw Milk' include the following:

The physical examination of the cows by a competent veterinarian at least twice a year.

In addition to the annual tuberculin testing of dairy cattle which is obligatory with regard to all milk producing herds in the State, cows must be tested annually, oftener if advisable, for Bang's disease. This is the disease that is responsible for undulant fever in human beings. It is usually contracted through drinking unpasteurized milk from aborting cattle. The tests must be made in accordance with the regulations of the State and U. S. Departments of Agriculutre. The re-acting animals must be removed from the herds and the premises in which they are found.

The buildings and premises must meet certain specified conditions, as to construction, light, ventilation, cleanliness and drainage.

Within an hour after milking, milk must be cooled to a temperature of 50 degrees, F. and must be retained at that temperature until delivered.

All milk must be bottled at the farm at which it is produced. Caps must cover the lip of the bottle. Water of satisfactory quality and quantity must be piped into the dairy house.

Medical examination of the employees must be provided; no person found to be suffering from, or who is a carrier of, a communicable disease, which may be transmitted by milk, shall be employed in milking or handling milk.

Milk must be contain more than 50,000 colonies of bacteria by the standard plate method of examination or more than 250,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter by the direct microscopic count.

All caps must be approved by the State Board of Health for lettering and design and must have printed on them the name and address of the dairy and the words 'Grade A Raw Milk'.

Copies of these regulations may be obtained from the State Department of Health, 2411 North Charles Street, Baltimore.

JITNEY PLAYERS HERE IN DECEMBER

Will Be Fourth Appearance In Chestertown

On Friday evening, December the fourth, The Jitney Players will make their fourth appearance in Chestertown, when they present at William Smith Hall a revival of Sheridan's charming and witty comedy, The Rivals.

By this time The Jitneys seem like old friends. They constitute one of the most famous groups in the theatrical world, for they are all first class actors, all with Broadway successes to their credit, who have, for an ideal, given up the comparatively easy life in city theatres and adopted the hardships of the road in order to bring first class plays and acting to communities like ours, cut off from the legitimate stage.

Like the strolling companies of old, they tour the country in a "jitney" truck, carrying scenery, costumes, and properties for four plays. All are not only thoroughly well-trained actors; they are, in addition, versatile and skillful along many lines. Their costumes are designed for them by a New York professional; but they are not above painting a piece of scenery, or manufacturing a pair of hip boots, if need calls; they can act, fence, sing, dance; but they can also set the stage, press their own costumes, or repair lighting fixtures or a broken truck.

With the company this time will be several old friends: Mrs. Cheney herself, who, since her husband's death has managed the troupe alone; Douglas Rowland; Pendleton Harrison. A newcomer, Marjorie Jarecki, will play the famous Mrs. Malaprop.

Entertains At Birthday Party

Mrs. Clyde D. Hicks gave a surprise birthday party in honor of her husband, Mr. Clyde D. Hicks. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bonwill, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hicks, Mr. Clayton Hicks, Miss Louise Hicks, Mary and Chester Starr, Jimmy and Donald Hicks. All spent an enjoyable evening playing cards. Mr. Hicks received many useful presents.

COURT HOUSE PLAN APPROVED BY COMMISSIONERS

Work To Start When W. P. A. Labor Is Available

A detailed drawing of the Court House improvement, which is expected to start within the next few weeks, shows many changes and improvements.

On the left side of the building the present door to the Clerks office would be walled up and the entrance made at the foot of the stairway. The value in that office would be doubled in size and the size of the present office will remain the same. The continued extension down that side of the building would enlarge the Treasurer's office affording a vault for the safe and larger working space.

On the right side of the building the present door to the Register of Wills office will be walled up and a new entrance made opposite the new entrance to the Clerk's office. The vault in that office would be turned around and made to run across the entire rear of the office. This change, together with the widened extension on that side of the building will afford a ladies room, a private meeting room for the County Commissioners, a vault for the safe and the county records and also enlarge the working space of the present County Commissioners office.

The stairway to the second floor will be shortened and made in two flights with a platform. The present double stairway will go to the platform and then a wide single stairway made to the court room door.

On the second floor the men's and ladies rooms will be enlarged. The present Court room will be enlarged eleven feet on each side and a Judges retiring room will be built in the back right-hand corner of the extension. A back outside stairway leading to the rear of the court room will be constructed for the use of the judges entering the Court Room and also for the purpose of bringing prisoners to and from the jail.

Home Town Minstrel To Be Staged Tuesday Night

An old-time minstrel including some of the best black-face comedians in these parts is scheduled for next Tuesday night at the Old Lyceum when the Men's Club of Christ M. P. Church will put on their act.

Under the able guidance of Joe Wheatley, one of Chestertown's pioneer minstrel men, all of the old jokes, etc., streamlined to fit modern conditions, will be in the offing and although Joe will not appear on the stage he will be behind the scenes telling the boys when to laugh and when to cry.

Out in front and on the ends will be Phil Sewell, Alan Stradley, Lusby Elliott, Conlyn Noland, Pat Cushing and Price Rolph, Jr., while numbered among the soloists, chorus and sketch artists are C. C. Jones, C. F. Whealtey, John Farr, W. R. McMenamin, H. B. Nicholson, Charles Clift, Norman Lee, George French, Byard Coulter, Howard Wheatley, Ralph Usilton, Charles Wheatley, Jr., A. L. Sparks and T. D. Bowers.

In the afterpiece, "Good Morning Judge," Rol Baxter, as His Honor, will continue the merriment supported by a cast of 10.

Claimed To Be Victim Of Assailant

James Edmondson, local insurance collector claims to have been attacked robbed nad left unconscious near the Cannon Street entrance of Bartley's Alley about 9.30 p. m. last Saturday night.

Night officer Bennett found him lying in the alley apparently unconscious. He soon rallied and claimed he had been robbed of $63 which he had collected in insurance promiums. He could give no description of his assailants nor have the officers been able to find any trace of the money.

Investigating Holiday Turkey Market

Every Thanksgiving time the turkey is in the headlines but this season it has gained prominence as being the victim of what appears to be a racket.

In the south and middle west the price offered by buyers has been so low that growers have refused to sell and the agricultural departments in those states have requested an investigation by Federal authorities of what appears to be an organized wholesale buying racket.

Reports that there is a storage surplus and an overproduction of birds this year is denied by the growers who claim that the retail prices in the city market is above that of last year and that buyers have combined in an effort to secure a wide spread between wholesale and retail markets. Growers claim that the price offered is below the cost of production.

The price offered in Kent County has ranged between 18c and 20c in large quantities. A number of local growers have found a limited market in direct grower to consumer sale, but are holding most of their flocks for a higher price.

935 HUNTING LICENSES ISSUED HERE

Clerk of the Court, Robert A. Shallcross, has issued 935 county resident hunting licenses which is twenty more than was issued at this time last year.

The wild water-fowl season opens next Thursday.

MILK PRODUCERS REQUEST FEDERAL CONTROL OF MILK

Annual Meeting Held In Philadelphia This Week

The annual meeting of the Interstate Milk Producers Association, which is an association of producers in the Philadelphia milk shed, was held at Philadelphia on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Those who attended the meeting from this county as representatives of the various milk locals were Messrs. H. Stockton Startt, Charles Joiner, Walter Morris, Thomas Cruikshank, Edgar Lusby and Robert Wallace. Messrs. Howard Leaverton, Linwood Sutton and J. D. McVean also attended the meeting.

Probably the most important item of business transacted was a vote by the delegates urging officials of the Inter-State Asscoiation to do everything in their power to bring about Federal control in the Philadelphia Milk Shed.

Mr. John Carvel Sutton was re-elected a director of the association representing Kent County.

HI SPOTS FROM THE HI SCHOOL

By EMORY HINES

As a member of the journalism class at school here, we have just completed the majority of the unit on news writing. Looking over some of my old and now out-of-date columns, it is easy to discern the mistakes (?) according to newspaper ethics that I've made. All this boils down to the fact that I'll just have to watch myself doubally when writing if I don't want to have all my classmates telling me my mistakes. Well, I'll try to still satisfy them, (really it's only my readers that I am considering) and edit the "ins and outs" of the Chestertown High School news.

Where honor is, recognition should be given. And so it is with two groups ofhigh school participants here. Both the recent and successful County Fair and the Boy Scout Court of Honorare drawing members from here.

Congratulations go to Louis Anthony, Junior, who won or stole most of the honors at the armory during the fair. He "walked away with" one of the most important prizes, a sweepstakes first, that is given to the entrant who receives the most firsts from all classes. Louis also won the first blue ribbon for flower class for children. Several other students should undoubtedly be mentioned... Alan Eliason (Scarlet Fever seems to have possessed him now, but we all wish him a speed recovery) had the most firsts for photography entrants...his snap of clouds and sky was perfect...and we haven't forgotten Charlotte Russell, Editor-in-chief of the REFLECTOR, and her sister, Naomi, who came in for a second in the bicycle parade, and Howard Strong took thir dprize for the craft's section.

Of as great importance as the foregoing is the coming Court of Honor held by the Chestertown Boy Scouts. This Saturday, November 21, is going to be a gala event and promises to exceed all others. Guests of the local troop will be 350 Scouts and 25 Sea Scouts from all over the Eastern Shore. The court will be held in William Smith Hall, with Harry R. Poole, Scoutmaster, and John W. Martin and Richard W. Hall, Assistants, aiding in it preparation. The highest award in scouting is to be given to four Chestertown High boys...that of Eagle... and it goes to Gerson Bonnett, senior, Howard B. Strong, Jr., senior, Francis H. Mead, senior, and Milton Dorf, junior...It was hard work boys, but you all deserve it. Other pupils of here will receive Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, and Star awards for their work.

T Alan Goldsborough will present to about seventy-five newly registered scouts their registration cards and tenderfoot badges.

Today all boys of C. H. S. will be guests of the college here to see the Washington-Delaware football game, the peninsula classic, at Kibler Field. Also guests are the visiting and local scouts who will attend the game as a body in complete uniform. We thank a thousand times Dr. Mead for his indeed appreciated invitation.

The Debating Club has not of late heard from any outside schools which have been asked to be scheduled for interscholastic debates. However, the organization is going ahead strongly during its own activities period with two teams, affirmative, Gerson Bonnett and Wayne Pote, and negative, Sara Spiecher and Frances Kreeger, arguing last Friday, November 20th, on Resolved: A system of self-government should be introduced into Chestertown High School.

Points given by both sides were well planned and presented with each person fairly well convinced of his side's viewpoint. However, victorious was the affirmative side, who convinced the three judges that they were in the right.

It seems that everything that is well-planned never goes over the way it should, and that the shorter the notice, the better the outcome is. As least that is the result of the trip to the assembly plant of the Ford Motor Plant at Chester, Pa., who answered our request by saying that no visitors were allowed thru the plant till the early part of 1937. Better luck might follow us if someone merely announced that we were going somewhere, and we prepared to leave an hour later. Let's try sometime.

In case any of you wondered w that blank was in the bit of ne about the REFLECTOR typist, was meant to read that Virginia gue was appointed the extra as tant to Merritt Robinson and Mar Wessell. So sorry...

The new radio which I wrote ab several weeks ago has been purch ed from the profits of the stude magazine sales and is now insta in the assembly room here. B purchased from Dr. A. L. Sterl the model is a five tube Stewa Warner offering splendid recep Here, at last is a worthy additio the local high school.

Last but not least, should defin ly be mentioned something a "Campus Quarantine," the Footli and Fancies Production that wil given this Monday night at Smith Hall. Strong rehearsals in progress during this writing every effort being put forth by cast. Not waiting to editorialize last article, might I say that tic of twenty-five cents will be on at the door and that the curtain us at eight-fifteen P. M. I'll see ther,e and so long til next week

WASHINGTON DEL FOOTBALL GAME TODAY SATURDAY

Scouts and High School Seniors To Be Guests Of College

The Washington - Delaware foot ball game, which is scheduled for this afternoon promises to be the outstanding game of the football season. The athletic rivalry developed between these two peninsula schools is such that this game is the most important of the season for the two schools. Both colleges have been pointing for today's game and the record of the two teams promises an interesting and hard fought contest.

The Delaware student body is planning to come here strong and approximately one thousand scouts and high school senior boys from all parts of the peninsula will be guests of the college for the game. The largest attendance at any foot-ball game played in Chestertown is expected.
