"THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE" . . . .

The thundering hoofs that dashed across the pages of history to be immortalized by the unforgettable poem of Alfred Lord Tennyson—sound again through Warner Bros.' stupendous screen version of "The Charge of the Light Brigade," which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, February 22 and 23, with Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland in the featured roles.

Tennyson's verse deals only with the famous charge of the Light Brigade against the Russion artillery on the heights of Balaelava during the Crimean war—an action which forms only the terrific climax of the film story that is replete with thrills from start to finish, and presents a glamorous romance in which two brothers are rivals for the love of a beautiful girl.

The picture, heralded as one of the biggest productions ever filmed by Warner Bros., has an all-star cast of 20 noted actors in the important roles, and over fifteen thousand extra people. Scenes are said to be spectacular in the extreme, with border skirmishes, hand-to-hand fighting, and the soul-stirring charge of the Light Brigade. Seenes depict colorful interiors of the palace of Surat Khan, Amir of Suristan, with his Nautch dancing girls and slaves—as well as mammoth exteriors of British walled towns.

Errol Flynn has the role of a young English Army officer stationed in India, who is betrothed to the daughter of his superior officer. During his absence, fighting on the frontier, however, his younger brother steals the love of his sweetheart and finally appraises him of the fact.

It is not until the eve of his departure to the Crimson War that his fiancee—a role played by Olivia de Havilland—tells him of her love for his brother—and her fear that the latter will be killed. His life wrecked, the young officer promises that his brother shall not be submitted to danger, and leaves for the Crimea, with only the thought of vengeance against Surat Khan—who has been responsible for the massacre of British men, women and children.

Others in the distinguished cast are Patric Knowles, Henry Stephenson, Nigel Bruce, Donald Crisp, David Niven, C. Henry Gordon, G. P. Huntley, Jr., Robert Barrat, Spring Byington, E. E. Clive, J. Carroll Naish, Lumsden Hare, Walter Holbrook, Princess Baigum, Charles Sedgwick, Scotty Beckett, George Regas, Colin Kenny, Gordon Hart and Helen Sanborn. Michael Curtiz directed.

"THE GREAT O'MALLEY" . . . .

One of those intensely human and altogether believable movie stories about which you say "it might have happened right here in our own neighborhood," will come to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, February 24 and 25, when "The Great O'Malley" with Pat O'Brien and Humphrey Bogart in the stellar roles, will begin its first local showing.

In the supporting cast are Ann Sheridan, new read-headed leading woman from Texas; Frieda Inescort, Donald Crisp, little Sybil Jason, Henry O'Neill and others.

"The Great O'Malley" is a tale of conflict between Pat O'Brien, a hard-boiled cop, and Bogart, the toughest bad man of the screen.

The story presents Pat O'Brien as Officer James Aloysius O'Malley, a hard-boiled cop who lives by his rule-book, and doesn't let his heart sway him toward sympathy with offenders against the rules, no matter how slight their offenses may be.

The rule book says that a cart should carry no more than two bells, so he arrests a poor peddler whose cart carries six. Awnings should not extend more than six feet beyond building line, says the book, and Pat arrests a tailor whose awning comes out seven feet.

When his excess zeal brings ridicule of the force from the newspapers, he's transferred to a school-crossing, as a punishment. There his heart begins to be touched, first by a little lame pupil, played by Sybil Jason, and then by her charming teacher, whom Ann Sheridan portrays.

O'Malley still goes by the book, however. He causes the arrest and imprisonment—ignorant of the man's identity—of the little girl's father, who is Humphrey Bogart. And thus he earns the scorn of the child's mother, Frieda Inescort, and of the school teacher he loves.

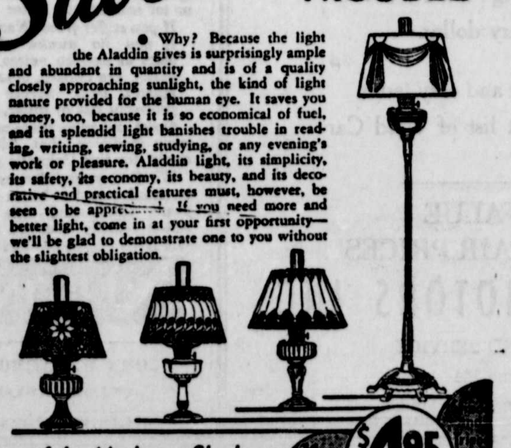

Regret, and an increasing regard for all humanity (begin to soften up the hard heart of the cop. He makes what amends he can for his injuries to these other folk—has a specialist cure the lameness of little Sybil; gets a parole and a job for the father, who is turn saves O'Malley's life with a blood transfusion.

One of Warner Bros.' very best directors, William Dieterle, guided the making of this picture. Other fine examples of Dieterle's work were "The Story of Louis Pasteur" and "White Angel."

THE Aladdin
KEROSENE MANTLE LAMP COAL OIL

Saves EYESIGHT MONEY TROUBLE

● Why? Because the light the Aladdin gives is surprisingly ample and abundant in quantity and is of a quality closely approaching sunlight, the kind of light nature provided for the human eye. It saves you money, too, because it is so economical of fuel, and its splendid light banishes trouble in reading, writing, sewing, studying, or any evening's work or pleasure. Aladdin light, its simplicity, its safety, its economy, its beauty, and its decorative and practical features must, however, be seen to be appreciated. If you need more and better light, come in at your first opportunity—we'll be glad to demonstrate one to you without the slightest obligation.
