Shakespeare Club To Present "Taming Of The Shrew"

The Taming of the Shrew, one of the youthful Shakespeare's earliest comedies, a roaring, slapstick piece, will be this year's contribution of the Shakespeare Club of Washington College. The date set is Friday, March 19.

The themes of the play are as old as comedy itself, a lover courting his lady under a disguise intended to deceive her father; and a self-willed, sharp-tongued, but essentially sound and sweet maid waitnig only her master, and by her temper staving off unworthy lovers. The "taming" of the so-called scold by an assumed violence greater than her own is alone enough to provide Shakespeare with material for an evening's fun.

Mrs. Annie Grant

Mrs. Annie Grant, 88, died in Philadelphia last week where she had made her home for the past six years with a son, James Grant. A resident of Rock Hall, her husband died 12 years ago.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Piney Neck M. E. Church with Rev. O. B. Rice, officiating. Interment was in the Ashley Burial grounds. W. T. Hicks undertaker.

Mrs. Joseph Hynson

Ill but a few days, Mrs. Joseph Hynson, 94, died at her home on The Haven, Rock Hall, Saturday following an illness of a few days. Funeral services were held Tuesday with interment at Wesley Chapel.

She is survived by her husband, a Civil War veteran, who is nearing his 98th year, they having celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary last year. Several children also survive as do the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Mary C. Ashley, Thomas Ayres, Daniel Ayres, David Ayres and George Ayres.

Henry D. Kendall

Burial rites were held Monday at 2.30 p. m. for Henry Dradge Kendall, son of the late Assa Kendall and formerly of Piney Neck. The deceased was 62 years old and had lived in Newark, Del., the past 22 years. He died there Friday, March 5th, 1937, leaving a wife, the former Miss Margaret L. Apsley, two sons, Walter Owen and Philip, several grandchildren and a brother, Ralph Kendall, of Newark.

Funeral services were held at Wesley Chapel conducted by Rev. Leonard White of Newark assisted by Rev. F. C. Louhoff, of the Rock Hall M. E. Church.

Mrs. Delma Draper

Funeral services for Mrs. Delma Draper, 74, who died Monday in a Baltimore hospital following an illness of pneumonia, were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the Usilton Funeral Home. The Rev. Paul E. Reynolds officiated and interment was made in Chester cemetery.

She was the daughter of the late John and Isabella Bordley and is survived by two sons, Tom D. Dyott, of Baltimore and Howard Dyott, of Oklahoma City; also two grandchildren. A sister, Miss Nannie R. Bordley, and two cousins, Mrs. Belle P. Smith and Charles R. Pippin, survive in Chestertown.

JURORS FOR APRIL COURT CHOSEN

Court Session Planned In Old Lyceum Theatre

Judge Thomas Keating this week drew the Jurors for service during the April term of Court which convenes April 19th.

Under present plans the Court session will be held in the Old Lyceum Theatre although there are many obstacles yet to overcome. Plans include the Judge's bench and lawyers tables on the stage which is not particularly pleasing and the question of Jury rooms is yet to be worked out. A suggestion has been made that the Clerk's office be re-arranged so that Court can be held there.

Those chosen for Jury duty are:

First District—William A. Hyland, Norman E. Ford, W. Holt Woodall, W. Leo Gale, William D. LeCates, John Mullen, Robert M. Logan, Emory H. Camp.

Second District—Roy Mitchell, James H. Groves, Howard Toulson, Harry D. Hendrickson, G. Lloyd Kennedy, Ralph E. Miller, Edmund S. Hurtt, Nicholas V. Walters.

Third District—Harvey E. Smith, George E. Bramble, W. Sutton Tarbutton, Clarence Newsome, Harvey B. Moore, Ernest D. Briscoe.

Fourth District—A. Sydney Turner, James G. Metcalfe, David B. Ford, Thomas W. Eliason, Charles N. Satterfield, Richard H. Collins, Jr., L. Bates Russell, Jr., William B. Usilton, 3d.

Fifth District—J. Abner Bryden, Charles H. Hudson, Arnold Bryden, Percy M. Hepbron, Preston J. Shallcross, William C. Francis, Joseph D. Hynson, A. Carroll Willson.

Sixth District—J. Frank Leaverton, Charles H. Skirven, Clifford M. Newsome, William M. Shriley, Albert B. Groves.

Seventh District—William H. Toulson, Elwood P. Vansant, A. Leon Brown, Edward M. Wilkins, Harold M. Baker.

Do You Remember Back In '89?

The following social items were taken from the 1889 Files of the Transcript by Mr. C. C. Hopper, of Baltimore.

It was during January of 1889, that Frank M. Miller and Miss Emma Lambert daughter of Mr. W. H. Lambert were married. Rev. J. S. Kemp officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Vickers were entertaining Miss Elliott of Baltimore.

Miss Bessie Keating of Centreville, was the guest of Mrs. W. Harper McFeely; Miss Nina Quinlan, of Baltimore, was visiting Miss Lillie Hynson on Queen St.; Miss Mary L. Chapman was the guest of Miss Mary Colescott, of Camden, N. J.

Believe it or not, Prof. (now Dr.) E. J. Clark of the Washington College Staff brought suit against the P. W. & B. R. R. for damages of one hundred dollars. The Railroad lost in the amount of $15.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cordray Loud celebrated their tin wedding at their home, Hill Top. Among those present were: Mr. John A. Groves, father of Mrs. Loud, Rev. Mr. Reese and family, Mrs. James H. Baker and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Shafer of Baltimore, James M. J. Boon and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Trew, Charles Beck and wife, Victor Hendrickson and wife, Henry Brown and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Bartus Trew, Mr. and Mrs. Shuster and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Carvill Maslin, Mr. Richard Groves, Mr. and Mrs. James Groves, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Loud, Miss Loud and brothers, Bert Groves, Richard Baker, Henry Redue, William Scoones, Thomas G. Wroth and Charles S. Dodd, Miss Katie Trew delighted the company by her representation of the Sedate Judge.

On Jan. 10, 1889, Mr. Frederick Fountain and Miss Henrietta Brice were married at "Mount Pleasant," the Country home of the father of the bride, Mr. John Brice near Lankford.

Mrs. Thomas W. Skirven played the wedding march, accompanied by Prof. Eugene Wilson on the violin.

Rev. William Mumford, rector of St. Paul's Church officiated. The bride was attired in a beautiful suit of Stone-Colored broadcloth trimmed with silk braid, diamond ear rings and breast pin (a bridal gift.)

Stocks of wheat in Maryland mills and elevators on January 1 were estimated at 1,200,000 bushels, according to the State Crop Reporting Service. This compares with 1,300,000 bushels on January 1 a year ago.

Fire Company Dance Next Wednesday

The active fire fighters of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company will stage a dance in the Chestertown Armory next Wednesday St. Patrick's Day, March 17th.

This is the first dance to be staged by this organization and a large crowd is expected.

MAYOR ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB

Mames Improvements Planned For Year

Mayor Philip G. Wilmer, in an address before the Chestertown Rotary Club, outlined the program of improvements for Chestertown for the coming year.

In speaking of the town's financial condition he stated that the annual income to Chestertown from all sources including the State and County moneys for streets amounted to $25,000. The fixed charges for expenses including payment of bonds and interest amounted to $22,500 leaving an annual balance of $2500 for improvements. Following the policy of "pay as you go" the following program of improvements for this year provided a W. P. A. project is approved for the program includes three major projects as follows:

Sidewalk on West side of Washington Avenue from the corner of Kent Circle to the top of Eliason Hill.

Curb and gutter and sidewalk on Mill street from High to Cannon St.

Sidewalks, curb and gutter on Cannon street from Cross to Queen St.

Other minor improvements are planned in the program.

Offers Employment Service To Public

At this season of the year there is an increasing demand for workers in most lines of business.

Almost all the people seeking work in this community are registered at the National Reemployment Service office. They have been carefully and thoroughly interviewed and classified on an occupational basis. Thus when employers call on the NRS for workers of certain occupational skill and experience selection is made of the best of those classified in the particular occupation and they are referred. The final choice, of course, rests entirely with the employer. As many or as few qualified workers are referred as the prospective employer thinks necessary.

For example if a farm hand or a stenographer is needed the NRS will not send a person who has not satisfied the interviewer of his or her qualifications. Only those who have demonstrated their ability under actual working conditions will be referred. If the employer wishes to interview three applicants for the job, three persons will be sent, any one of whom can satisfactorily perform the work.

No fees or charges of any kind for this specialized personnel service are made either to the employer or the employee. The Employment Service is supported wholly by public funds. It is a community enterprise and the more employers and workers use it, the more effectively it can serve the community.

In order to save time in securing workers it is suggested that employers get in touch with the NRS office which will assist with the entire problem of securing qualified workers promptly and without payment of fees.

The Employment Service performs an important community function. Without it, unemployment workers are unaware of numbers of job openings, and can make only the most haphazard efforts to find them by calling on concern after concern. Employers, too, are without knowledge of many qualified workers and depend entirely on applicants who chance their way. As an experienced go-between in this situation—a clearing house for jobs and workers—the Employment Service helps to find the right man for the right job.

The Employment Service is ready and eager to serve. Employers are asked to call the Easton Office, telephone Easton 301, or contact the representatives who spend Thursday morning from 10 a. m. to 12 noon in a room in the Chestertown Welfare office, while the Court House, where the representativess have been heretofor, is under repair.

TOWN ELECTION TO BE HELD MONDAY

Fire House Bond Issue To Be Decided At That Time

The bi-annual election of a Mayor and two Councilmen for Chestertown will be held next Monday, March 15.

The vacancies at this election are the Mayor which is voted for in all four wards and a councilmen from each of the first and third wards. The candidates for election who are unopposed are Mayor Wilmer, whose name will appear on the ballot for all four Wards, Councilman R. H. Rogers whose name will appear on the ballot for the first Ward only, and Virgil Kendall, whose name will appear only on the third Ward ballots.

Fire House Bond Issue

The bond issue ballot which will be handed to the voters as a separate ballot will be voted by all four Wards, includes a proposal to bond Chestertown for $10,000 as the sponsor's share of the cost of a new proposed fire house which would be located on the Stafford property on the west side of Cross Street mid-way of the Rockwell House and the corner property owned by Mr. J. W. Kirby.

According to a statement made by Mayor Wilmer and members of the Council, financial arrangements have been made whereby the bond issue, if passed, will not cause a raise in taxes above the present rate of 75 cents and the town's share will not exceed the amount of the bond isssue of $10,000.

The temporary design of the building, a picture of which is on page three of this issue, includes large fire equipment quarters, offices for the Mayor and Council, large meeting hall, bunk rooms for resident firemen and lounge and game rooms for the use of members of the fire company.

The provisions of the bond issue are that the bonds will not be sold unless the building comes under a W. P. A. project and unless the building is built.

Dr. Sexsmith To Preach Here

DR. SEXSMITH TO PREACH

Rev. E. A. Sexsmith, D. D., former pastor of Christ M. P. Church, and now president of the Maryland Annual Conference, will return to his old pulpit here tomorrow, Sunday. Mrs. Sexsmith will accompany him to Chestertown.

Dr. Sexsmith was elected Conference president while a pastor of Christ M. P. Church and his former parishioners will welcome him and Mrs. Sexsmith here tomorrow.

Paul Flicke, 82, Dies Here

Mr. Paul Flicke, age 82 years, died at his home on East High St., Sunday following a short illness. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. J. D. Corrington, of Chestertown.

Mr. Flicke was born in Germany and graduated from the University of Heidelmurg, Germany, before coming to America. He with his wife moved here last summer and have occupied the Sewart home on High St. since that time. Funeral services were hel dat the home Tuesday morning conducted by Rev. C. L. Atwater. Interment was made in Philadelphia.

Performing In Chorus Roll

Edmond T. Johnson, son of Mrs. James Nicklin, of Quaker Neck, is playing the part of a chorus girl in the Varieties being staged by the McDonogh School boys at a Baltimore theatre this week-end.

Philip M. Brooks, Jr., also of that school, while not in the show is in charge of the conduct of the 250 boys back stage.

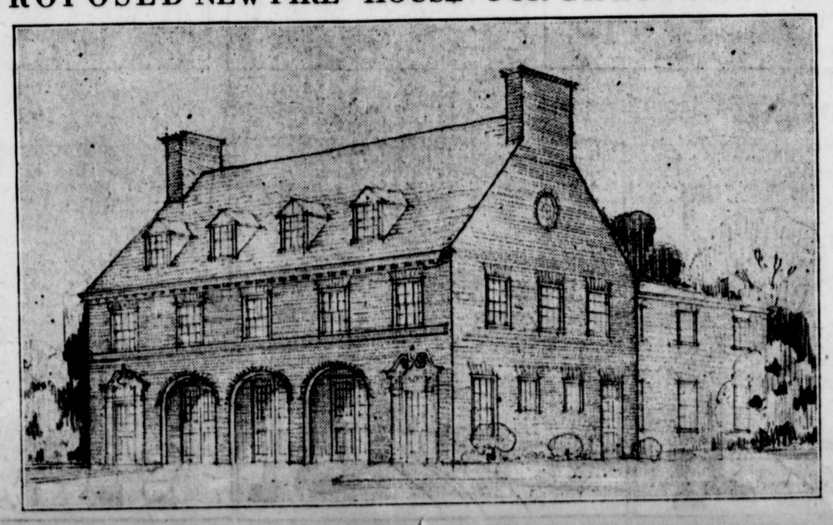

Mt. Zion M. E. Church, Cecilton
Rev. Charles E. Davis, pastor.

The Rev. Robert Fraser, radio evangelist of Philadlephia, Pa., will be at Zion M. E. Church, Cecilton, Md., on Sunday, March 14th at 2.30 P. M. and 7 P. M.

His choir will sing and he will bring the messages of the day.

Acid helps to keep red color in vegetables, such as red onions, red cabbage, and beets, so vinegar may be added to the cooking water or the vegetables may be served with a sour sauce to bring the color back. To keep beets from losing color by "blooding," cook with skins on and about one inch of the tops, says Miss Margaret McPheeters, nutrition specialist for the University of Maryland.

PROPOSED NEW FIRE HOUSE FOR CHESTERTOWN

COMMUNICATED

Next Monday, March 15th, the Tax Payers of Chestertown are called on to approve a Bond Issue. The proceeds of this Issue are to be used for the proposed new Fire House that is much needed.

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company has the co-operation of the United States Government, the Town Council, and the County at large; and why should not the property owners of Chestertown go to the polls next Monday and put themselves on record 100% in favor of this Issue.

The members of this wonderful organization have given their time and money and are continuing to do so, taking all kinds of chances for the protection of your property, saving you, Mr. Taxpayer, hundreds of dollars in reduced insurance rates, and we can look forward to further reduction with a new Fire House necessary to accomodate any additional equipment.

I have learned from good authority that this Bond Issue will in no way increase the tax rate.

The organization is giving you the service, the protection, and a reduced fire rate by one-half; and under these conditions, I feel the Bond Issue should have the taxpayers' support.

EBEN F. PERKINS.

BUDGET INCLUDES TEACHER PAY RAISE

Legislative Committees Approve Restoration Of Pay Cuts

The Senate Finance Committee and the Ways and Means Committee of the House have included a full restoration of the teachers pay cut in the revised Governor's budget and it is now before the Senate and House for approval.

At a recent meeting a large delegation from all parts of the State met before these committee urging full restoration but at that time it was thought that only a part restoration was in sight.

While full restoration of the pay cut is by no means settled, the approval by the two committees is at least a forward step in that direction.

The additional teacher's pay would come directly from the State and would mean that Kent County's present share of the State equalization fund would be increased from $5,810 which is the 1937 quota to $20,598 in 1938 and $21,295 in 1939.

In 1933 all teachers in the county received a cut of approximately 12 per cent during the emergency which existed at that time. In 1935 one fourth of the cut was restored and the present plan at Annapolis would restore the remaining seventy-five per cent.

Employers Must File Returns

According to an advertisement appearing on page four of this issue all employers, regardless of the number of employees, must fill out unemployment compnsation form U. C. 1, "Report to Determine Liability". Employers subject to the tax must fill out form U. C. 2.

Yachting Pictures At Club Next Friday

Interesting yachting pictures covering speed-boat and sailing races in many of the regattas on the Atlantic Seaboard will be shown at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club next Friday evening, March 19.

The moving pictures will also include the last international yacht race between American and English interests and will be exhibited by Mr. Moore, a yachting enthusiast. Mr. Moore is an official of the Gulf Refining Company.

All those interested in yachting and boat races are invited to attend the showing of these pictures next Friday. The show is being sponsored by Commodore I. Price Ewing and the regatta committee of the club.

Kent Boy Writes From Hawaii

Word has been received from Frank Hadaway, Jr., who has spent the past eighteen months in Honolulu, Hawaii, that he contemplates a visit home next fall.

During his stay in Hawaii, Frank has visited many points of interest. His experiences have been varied, and he has acquired quite a fund of information according to his present plans he will leave Honolulu July 15, 1937. The ship makes several stops enroute to New York, touching at San Francisco, two ports on Panamo, and finally after a journey of 168 days is booked to dock in New York harbor, Frank Hadaway, Jr., son of Mr. Frank Hadaway, of Quaker Neck made good, s aa 4-H Club member, having enjoyed several short courses at College Park. After leaving High School he joined the C C C at Green Ridge, near Cumberland, Md., where he did some out-standing work and contributed toward the making up of the camp paper. The Army personal which he joined in June, 1935, made up wholly of college graduates and accredited High School Students. They were all aboard as soldiers of fortune, enroute to Hawaii.

Frank's record with the coast artillery at Fort Shafter, Hawaii is excellent, and in his various examinations, he lacked only one point to score a perfect mark. The climate of Hawaii is pleasant and, with the tropical fruits, trees and balmy air is continually backoning tourists to its shores.

The will of the late Hylnad Crew was probated htis week. The will leaves $500 to his sister, Mrs. George Rash and $500 to his brother, Alfred A. Crew. The residue of the estate was left to Miss Annie Copper who was named executrix.

The will of the late Frank Simpers named his wife [illegible] executrix of his estate.

HIGH SPOTS FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL

The biggest news this week, at least in the minds of those who participated, was the long look-forward-to trip to the assembly plant of the Ford Motor Company in Chester, Pa. Until Thursday morning, no word was heard from the plant as to whether the economics class could go thru or not. However, the enlightening answer came thru around ten o'clock, finding five or six cars anxiously waiting to leave by twelve-thirty.

That the trip was advantagous to all, certainly goes without saying. Since the majority had never experienced such an educational venture, the facts learned were indeed helpful. Unusual questions were gladly answered by the two guides that were sent thru with us. It seems interesting to know that: the plant covered over a four block square—that over five thousand men are there at work—that about three thousand five hundred men have some direct duty in assembling the car—that blue neon lights are used thruout the factory to reduce glare—that one car emerges from the finishing line every minute-fifteen seconds—a—nd that the precision timed machinery, carried thru the air on endless belts, always reached the right body at the right time. Probably the most noted of all the processes were the putting together of the steel parts to make a unified body, and the junction of the completed body with the completed chasis to complete the car.

It is needless to say that everyone of the thirty students that went enjoyed the venture to a tee, but it is with great hope that we give the present Junior class that they too, next yera, may have the same advantage of seeing large scale production.

Rehearsal for the Senior play the Charm School began just last week, with the first cat being delivered into, combed, and being made perfect. With the casting finished, Miss Bryan is now busy coordinating all the parts, planning scenery, and directing publimity for an event that is always memorable in the yearly outgoing classes. I did drop downstairs a day this week to see rehearsals and the parts of the world-be dramatists are being characterized well. While the tentative date for the presentation of the production is April 16, the fact has not been definately established. But, keep that night open for gay and vivacious entertainment, though, and "I'll see you when the curtain goes up!"

We wonder if any visitors happened to be peeking in on the English V class in dramatics recently and saw the practices we were having in pantimine. The characterizations given thus were more than helpful, and might I say, entertaining as well. But the act that caught mosts of our eyes was the portrayal of "an idiot receiving a present". My, how well all the boys did.

Work on the Dragon is now well under way, and its production schedule calls for completion of all pictures and writings by March 25. The contract this year was awarded to the lowest bidder, H. G. Roebuck & Son, of Baltimore, Maryland, and the annual will be published and in the hands of its subscribers by the first week in June.

This year the Dragon is being dedicated to Miss Bryan, and her help with youth and dramatics. The theme of drama will be carried thruout the publication.

The most recent honor rolls that I have dug up of late is that for the first semester—from September to the end of January. All those whose names appear have received A's and B's during that whole period:

Poultry Hatchings Reported Smaller

Increasing evidence that poultry hatchings will be smaller this year than last was reported today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its current summary of the poultry and egg situation.

The principal factor was said to be the high price of feed in relation to prices received by farmers for their eggs.

Farm prices of eggs this spring—influenced in part by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration egg-buying program—are expected to average no lower than in the spring of 1936.

A less than average seasonal decline in prices of poultry after May was forecast on the basis of the prospective decrease in poultry production and marketings.

The lighter hatch and smaller laying flocks point toward reduced marketings of eggs next fall and winter, the Bureau said.
