THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

May flowers ought to be abundant if the adage of April showers being responsible for them be true. Hardly a day passes that a sprinkle doesn't appear, and so better keep the hand screen in a convenient corner.

Two weddings of interest here have taken place within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bell have announced the marriage of their daughter, Ann Elizabeth, to Mr. Harry Oliver Truitt, of Wilmington, Del. The wedding took place at noon on Saturday, April 10 at the home of the bride's parents here.

The Rev. Charles L. Atwater, rector of Emmanuel P. E. Church was the officiating minister.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a suit of French blue crepe with hat to match and with contrasting accessories. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Margaret Crow Bell, the bride's only attendant, wore a simple frock of rose crepe and carried blue delphiniums. Mr. Winfield Ashbridge, of Wilmington, was the groom's best man.

A wedding luncheon for the immediate families followed the ceremony.

After April 24 Mr. and Mrs. Truitt will be at home at 123 West 17th St., Wilmington, Del.

The other one, that of Mrs. Elba R. White and Dr. E. Clarke Fontaine took place on Thursday at noon at the bride's home in Harrisburg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dorsey N. Miller. The bride was gowned in a gray three piece suit with navy blue accessories, and wore a corsage of gardenias.

Following a dinner party in the Rose Room at the Emerson Hotel, in Baltimore, Thursday evening, Dr. and Mrs. Fontaine left on Friday for a wedding trip to New York. They will return to Chestertown next week and be "at home" on Front St. after May 1st.

Garden Club Meets

This week has been a flowery one. "Our Garden Club" which met at the home of Mrs. Howard Dana on Tuesday was very delightful. After a short business meeting, at which it was decided to plant flowers in the waterless fountain in the park, and an announcement of the Club's flower show on May 20 in the parish house of Emmanuel P. E. Church, Mrs. Heyward Boyce gave an interesting talk on the Federated Garden Clubs, and their work. During the business meeting, Mrs. Boyce and Mrs. McMillan of Baltimore judged the Daffodil arrangements which each member had brought.

Prizes were awarded to the following, there being three classes in which to enter:

Class I—Arrangement for an informal dinner table:
1st prize—Mrs. Jesse D. Maxwell.
2nd prize—Mrs. William T. Dixon.
3rd prize—Mrs. D. W. Ingersoll.

Class II—Arrangement of yellow flowers in a yellow container:
1st prize—Mrs. Earle Nicholson.
2nd prize—Mrs. J. Thos. Kibler.
3rd prize— Miss Miriam Leaverton.
Honorable Mention—Mrs. Richard H. Collins, Jr.

Class III—Living room arrangement of any combination of daffodils, narcissus and jonquils:
1st prize—Mrs. Samuel Emory.
2nd prize—Mrs. Charles Eshman.
3rd prize—Mrs. H. Clay Brown.
Honorable Mention—Mrs. Jesse D. Maxwell.

At the bridge-luncheon on Wednesday, given by Mrs. H. G. Metcalfe at her home in Sudlersville, at which a large number of ladies from Chestertown were present, the decorations were of Narcissus and all of the prizes were plants in artistic pots. So the breath of Spring is surrounding us at every turn.

Guests here—Guests There

The rest of my chat is devoted to the wanderings in and out of all of us and our friends. If you are not in the list, why not? I said last week, this is the time to take a trip, even for over night. You'll be surprised how much good it will do you to see some new faces, new trees, new houses. And so to avoid being a preacher and not a practicer, I'm going to turn on the switch and step on the gas this week-end to see what I can see. But let's take a glance and find out who else has been doing likewise.

Last week-end, Mr. and Mrs. W. Belt Townshend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. C. Waddell in Richmond.

Mrs. James W. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs Vernon Kirby and Mrs M. R. McIntire were guests in Baltimore last week-end, Mrs. McIntire remaining there to be the guest of Miss Mary Scott.

Mrs. John Clendaniel is spending two weeks in New York City as the guest of her daughter, Miss Cynthia Clendaniel.

Miss Mary Lillian Knotts attended the "Spring house party" at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., last week-end.

Mr. Horace Beck and Mrs. C. Beck Jones motored to Wilmington on Wednesday and were guests over night of Mrs. Roger Wilson and her daughter, Miss Mary Hynson.

Mrs. James G. Beck has been spending the past week in Cynwyd, Pa., as the guest of Mrs. Rudolph Tull. She will return here to-day.

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Dick and Mr. and Mrs. Eben Perkins were guests in Baltimore over Thursday night.

Now, let's look over who's been here.

Mrs. William T. Dixon has returned from Savannah, Ga., and reopened her home at Green Point Farm. She was accompanied here by her sister, Mrs. Spencer Conneratt, who remained a few days, and her brother, Mr. George Crisfield, who will remain for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Johnston, of Detroit and Miami, were week-end guests of Mrs. Thomas Massey.

Mrs. Henry Catlin, of New York, who has recently returned from England, was the week-end guest of Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Whaland. Mrs. Catlin expects to return to England shortly and will attend the Coronation celebration in London.

Mrs. Benjamin Cockey, of Queenstown, has been the guest of Miss Martha Eareckson for the past week.

Mrs. Spencer Harris, of Baltimore, is the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Allan A. Harris.

Miss Janet Atwater and her fiance, Rev. Harry Paff, of New York, are guests this week of Rev. and Mrs. Chas. L. Atwater at the rectory. Mr. Paff has unfortunately been ill during his visit, having rceently undergone a tonsil operation, and was forced to be a patient at the local hospital as a result, for part of this week. He is now improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Cole, of Philadelphia will be week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines.

But now I must pack my bag and be off.

Yours for a fling,

THE WANDERER

HIGH SPOTS FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL

By EMORY M. HINES, JR.

Reorganized and again at duty is the Safety Patrol under the direction of Mr. Owen C. Blades. Having faded out recently, the boys have started anew at their work of keeping safety personified in the minds of the students and the traffic. Although the patrol is certainly worthwhile and helpful to all concerned, it cannot carry out its work successfully without the cooperation of students and automobiles. The deplorable fashion that exists during the noon hour when five and even six pupils walk down, not the sidewalks, but the street more than invites danger and places uncomplimentary ideas in the heads of the drivers of passing autos. Should stricter measures be adopted to prevent this condition, the offenders would more than likely "set up an enormous howl", but only by such action can the school safety program be carried out. Needless to say, polite and urging attempts to remedy the act that have been tired repeatedly are useless. Perhaps the measures of "giving tickets" to pedestrians as well as to drivers for disobedience of laws would make these frivolous folks remember the "right and the wrong".

Tickets for reserved seats can at this time be secured at Stam's Drug Store for the Senior Class Play, "Charm School", to be given at William Smith Hall on the twenty-third of this month. And judging from the sale of seats to date, the old adage of "first come, first served" will apply to all those expecting to see the production.

The coming April 26 will find a meeting being held in Miss Riches's room after school to determine the 1937-38 staff of the Reflector that will possibly issue the June issue of the publication. The future staff is selected by the active staff of the paper from a list of pepole that have signified their desire to fill some position. The addition of three associate editors rather than the one assistant editor considerably increases the ordeal of making selections, at the same time aiding it. For from the two Junior associates of this year the Senior one is chosen. With the firm financial corner-stone that the Reflector has secured thru the activities fee the paper has broadened in all phases, and many yees are being turned towards the date of the twenty-sixth to see into whose hands the continued direction will fall.

The Commencement music has been picked and already ordered and received by Miss Russell, who is in charge, and it included one very well-known selection, made famous years and years ago, and also brought back recently to be hummed by even the younger generation thru the cinamasical, "Champagne Waltz", and the inviting interpetation as recorded by Ray Noble and his sophisticated music, "The Blue Danube" with the lyric addition, will be sung by the graduates. The other much shorter selection is entitled "Moon Magic."

In true Wincheloean style, let me now send "orchids" to Ruth Adams and Madeline Thrift for their essays on "Alcohol and Its Effect On Man" that won the girls prizes in the late W. C. T. U. contest open to all county high school students. To Miss Adams went the first prize of $5.00; while Miss Thrift placed third for the prize of $1.00. Second prize of $3 was won by Miss Myers, of Millington. The winning essay will be read by its writer at the annual conference this year to be held at Rock Hall.

"Love five—love thirty—your add". Right, you guessed it! Into full swing already is the Tennis Club that held its first spring meeting last week. With its officers that were elected in the fall still holding over, Doug Moore, President, Tommy Eliason, Vice-President, and Mary Liz Humphreys, Secretary, the racket-and-ball organization has already gotten its current matches scheduled. The winner of this school session will have battled his way to glory before the graduation exercises are held, it is thought, because of the early start.

Tentative dates for the graduation exercises have been set at June 9, June 11, the determining decision being held by the State Meet officials. For, if the yearly athletic meet takes place on Friday of the 11, the alternate date will be set here; whereas if it occurs the previous week end, the end-of-the-week date will be set. A definite annuoncement is expected to be made sometime next month.

The athletic managers for the coming Rally Day field events were elected at the last Girls' Athletic Association meeting in the assembly hall. Volley ball will be officiated over by Margaret Groves; hitball, by Margaret Anne Brice; and touch down pass, by Helen Marie Culver. Miss Bryan continues as coach.

Dubbing myself the "Inquisitive Inquirer" the other day, I decided to add a more personal attitude to my column by interviewing several people in the school on currently discussed topic. With the idea that the Senior play created in mind, I applied the plot locally and asked students "What they would think of a Charm School opening in Chestertown?" Helen Culver, sophomore, said, "I think it would be full" and Ann Turner immediately asked, retorically, "Who's going to do it?". Such an institution was termed as "An excellent idea" by Miss Riches, and a "Charming one" by Joe Weer. Nellie Bexley tells me that it would be fun to go; while Naomi Russell says that she is dubious as to her attendance. To say the least, it would be a novel idea. Next week I'll inquire about the Seniors to find out why they are looking forward to graduation.

Candid glimpses this week show: quarterly exams quite the vogue, with most of them completed by this time of writing—the lawn mower out on the grass last Wednesday giving his premier performance of the season—the arrival of the material, an attractive maroon color, for the stage curtains—Seniors writing for college catalogues, mindful now of the fact that time passes very rapidly—a poster contest sponsered by the committee on publicity for the New York World's Fair of 1939 attracting attention to aspiring artists of the school—the "coming out" of the white sport shoes, especially with the boys— the class in Drama obtaining infinite value from their study of voice and diction that they are still indulging in—the "false alarms" the telephone bell gives to Mr. Poole's Seniors who mistake it for the change bell—and—well, the continued discussion of rain or no rain—or just the weather in general.
