HI SPOTS FROM THE HI SCHOOL

By EMORY M. HINES, JR.

Perhaps the greatest amount of interest in high school this past week was paid to the Senior play cast and their untiring and constant rehearsals. Their play was presented to an enthusiastic audience last night, Friday the twenty-third, ran smoothly, and met with abundant applause. The hours of ceaseless work that were put in by the graduating thespians was indeed evident in the skillfully handled and directed comedy, "The Charm School". The play carried a cast of seventeen, and every individual deserves credit for his part towards the combined success of the production. Mention, no doubt, should also be made to Director Marie D. Bryan, Mr. Harry Poole, who had charge of publicity, and Mr. John Martin, managing stage technician. All three faculty members were active in their help with the annual event.

A week ago last Saturday found our six representative students that participated in the Goldey Spelling Match in Wilmington. Their standing, compared with other Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey high schools, was high, and deserves praise. Four of the six will receive honorary certificates of proficiency, having spelled correctly over ninety words, from a list of one hundred, in a written contest. These students are Gerson Bonnett, Harry Hendrickson, George Ruppert, and Elizabeth Wheatley.

The oral finals found Elizabeth ranking high, and it was she who participated in the oral match broadcasted over Station W. D. E. L. Her final position was eighth as compared with the 200 entered students.

Plans are rapidly under way for the forecoming Dramatic Club Party to be held this April the twenty-ninth. A great success for the past few years, the affair will be attended by all Footlights and Fancies' members, who are allowed to bring one guest apiece. Entertainment is being taken care of by your correspondent; refreshments, by Charlotte Russell.

The last meeting of the Press Club found the annually elected-at-large pin committeeman chosen. With myself receiving the position, I will aid Charlotte Russell, Feflector editor, Gerson Bonnett, president of the organization, and Miss Riches, faculty advisor, to select the six club members who have done the greatest work during their membership. From these six, the club will later choose by closed ballot the four they consider best. With the awards being made now for the past two years, the outcome of the final election will prove of interest.

The movie program of the week included the six reel feature entitled "Hurricane Rider" and several shorts. It was shown in the assembly hall last Tuesday; the lower classmen attended in the morning, and the upper, in the afternoon.

Principal W. J. Stenger will be one of the speakers at a meeting of high school prinicipals and county superintendents to be held at Cambridge the coming Monday, April 26. His talk will concern "what is being done in my own school, and what in my judgment can be done to diagnose reading difficulties and weaknesses and develop ability of pupils to read with understanding and intelligence text-book and collateral reading material in the various high school subjects". Dr. E. Clarke Fontaine, state high school supervisor, heads the conference.

This past April 20 found all students entering the yearly declamation contest prepared with a subject and well onto concentration in memorizing it. The affair is under the supervision of Mr. Poole, Miss Russell, Mrs. Brice, who will act as coaches to the oratory contestants.

Carefully packing, in a specially constructed box, his unique model of the "Queen Mary," Howard Strong, Jr., this week sent the fourteen inch model ship to the contest headquarters in New York City where it will be judged with other national entries. With a period of over six months behind the final completion, friends wish Howard the best of novel launchings in the boat's bid to fame.

Just received by the Reflector staff from the National Scholastic Press Association has been the paper's national honor rating and critical comments. The monthly high school publication ranks as a Second Class Paper, corresponding to "good". The paper's rating last year was Third Place, so the present staff feels that their efforts for improvement have not been in vain.
