HIGH SPOTS FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL

By EMORY M. HINES, JR.

Flash, flash, flash! At last comes a news event that warrants such a startling start. The last Monday meeting of the Press Club found the members carefully voting by secret ballot on their selection of people to receive the four annually awarded press club pins. Upon tabulation of the votes, it was found that John Eliason, Neal Truslow, Nellie Bexley, and Kitty Bringman were to receive the high honors.

All four have been constantly active in their work on school publications and in participation during the club meetings. Eliason turned in a perfect job as assistant to Gerson Bonnett on the Business work of the REFLECTOR. He is going, as you already know, to fill the position of manager on the paper for the 1937-38 year. Truslow has lent a helping hand to two projects—the DRAGON and the REFLECTOR. On the former he ably acted as the staff's dramatic editor, while on the latter, although not holding a definite position, he did work that was not to be excelled in feature stories and news articles.

Miss Bexley proved invaluable, as did Neal, in the school's two journalistic outputs. Her feature story writing and covering of news events for the paper was constant, and the time and effort that she spent in "digging up" and "recording" an accurate history of our alma mater for the annual is inestimatable. Last, but certainly not least, Kitty Bringman's neat and accurate action as secretary for the year to the club and as photography editor for the yearbook were indispensible.

Not too fresh laurels, and very green ones at that, should be placed upon each of their foreheads; they more than deserve them.

Th program for Class Night, to be held in William Smith Hall on June seventh, is going ahead with great rapidity at this time. Under the faculty advisorship of Mr. Harry R. Poole and Mr. John W. Martin, a varied and interesting evening's entertainment is being planned. It is expected that every student in the graduatnig class will participate. Tickets will sell for thirty-five cents, the money being used to further pay hte expenses of announcements, and other June week costs.

For their final examination, the Drama Class will enact three short one act plays in the assembly hall Thursday night of May 27. The interpetation that the cast give their respective roles, combined with the diction and pantomine required, will enable Miss Bryan, teacher of the course, to find the benefits the class has derived. Since the majority of the half-year subject has been correct speech, action, and interpetation, such a procedure is necessary. Every one in the class is allowed to invite five guests to see the skits of the amateur thespians.

The preliminary elimination contests for the senior declamors will be held this week. Four girls and two boys are competing and one must be dropped. The remaining four will then present their speeched to an audience during June Week to determine the two medal winners.

Certainly noticed by all this week has been: the daily morning trip past the school, with horns blowing full, of Eddie Johnson in his recently painted yellow roadster. And Junie Strong's after school work on his "Pit-Pat", a lark sailboat, at the country club wharf. And the fights for the rights to the tennis courts in order that the early singles of those vying for school championship may be played off. And the interest everyone had in "Romeo and Juliett" when it appeared on the screen over at Centreville last week. Kemp Bordley's recent indulgence in surrealist art.
