THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

@ The season is approaching its height, and activtiies of the social whirl from now on are spinning faster and faster after somewhat of a lull following the Easter holidays.

Everyone by now is fully aware of the success of last Saturday's project, the enthusiasm created not only by those of Chestertown but of our visitors from afar. Aside from the interest, the beauty and wonder of all exhibited homes, relics and so on, one was constantly meeting up with friends they hadn't seen in ages. In fact there was so much to see, so much conversation with the "I haven't seen you since" that the day was spent long before we were ready for its end. The thunderstorm obligingly held itself off till 5.30, but when it came, the time in abeyance was made up for, and sounded the knell of the day. Here's to Old Chestertown Day—age 1, may she live for many, many years and always give as much happiness to so many people as on the 1st birthday.

Many of the visitors remained for the week-end. Among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Austin Shure, of Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaeffer, of Westfield, N. J., who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Westcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Armstrong, of Mount Washington, Baltimore, were week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Hughes All were dinner guests of Mr and Mrs. Charles E. Eshman on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs H. J. Irwin and Miss Virginia Jones, of Baltimore, were guests over the week-end of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. W. Jones.

Miss Patsy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, entertained a number of girl friends from Philadelphia and vicinity at a house party at the Wilson summer home on Fox Point, Broad Neck, last week end.

Mrs. Mary Woodruff, of Philadelphia, was the week end guest of her sister, Mrs. William H. Elliott.

Mr. James L. Bacchus, of New York, was the guest of his parents for the week-end, and on Sunday, his mother, Mrs. James D. Bacchus, returned with him for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. McCauley opened their cottage at Betterton last week and guests over the week end included Mr. and Mrs. William Belt Townshend.

Miss Mary Jo Wheatley was the week end guest of Miss Betty Randall, of Clarkesville, Maryland. They attended the Doughoregan Manor Horse Show and the Howard County Cotillion. Miss Randall entertained at a cocktail party before the dance.

Some people say, it's always something to give to, something to work for. Certainly! That keeps us alive and growing. I've always heard that a church that had no debt soon died, 'twas unhealthy. If your house never became dusty, you'd soon forget how to dust, if you ate tablets for meals, where your art of cookery would fly, if your clothes never needed mending how quickly your neat darning and patches would be a prided labor, now forgotten. Oh yes, to grow means work, planning, and building, constantly. And now that we have the Library aided for awhile, the Firemen benefited, the Hospital comes along once more. The tea and fashion show, I spoke of last week, is to be on Tuesday, at 4 o'clock in the beautiful gardens of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bacchus. In case of rain, the affair will be on Wednesday at the same time. Don your prettiest spring frock and bonnet and come by all means. How could you spend a more pleasant afternoon for a quarter? At the same time, if you are too busy, then tuck your money away, and go to the barn dance next Friday night, for the same cause.

In the meantime, many out-of-town guests will be here over this Memorial Day week-end, and a large crowd is expected at the dance tonight at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, of Lansdowne, Pa., will entertain a house party for the week-end and with their guests will attend the party at the Club.

Among those who will entertain at dinner prior to the dance are the Misses Betty and Theresa Boericke at their home, Cackaway, in Broad Neck.

Mrs. H. Clay Brown will have as her house guests, Dr. Eldridge Eliason and Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin Brown of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Hines will be hosts to Miss Alice Stewart, of New York, for the week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Clarke Fontaine will entertain a large number of guests, the men enjoying the golf tournament and dinner at the Club prior to the dance. Their visitors include, Dr. Albert S. Cook, head of the Maryland State Department of Education, Mr. and Mrs. William Anthony, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rice, of Cumberland, and Mrs. Fontaine's two sisters from Harrisburg, Mrs. Walter W. Eshleman and Miss Margaret Romberger.

Miss Anne Boardman and Mr. Holliday Riepe of Baltimore, will be week-end guests, of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Collins, Jr.

Other guests who have been here during the week, included Miss Janet Sterling, of Wilmington, Del., who visited Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Dick and later in the week, Mrs. Paul Daugherty, of Houston, Texas, who was matron of honor at Dr and Mrs. Dick's wedding last November.

Mrs. Dick leaves to-day for Hollins, Va., to attend the commencement week festivities at Hollins College, her Alma Mater.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Miller, of Oakland, California, were guests of Mrs. R. H. Collins, Sr., this week.

Mrs. Clarence Fox, of Baltimore, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barnett here.

Mrs. H. C. D Wilkinson, of Baltimore, is the guest of her father, Mr. John W. Barnes.

Mrs Rolph Townshend returned to her home here on Sunday after being away for several weeks, during which time she underwent an operation in a Baltimore hospital and recuperated at the home of her father, in Howard county.

Miss Elnior Rolph is much improved since her return from Johns Hopkins hospital.

Miss Nancy Jean Usilton, of Washington, D. C., is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Usilton, here, confined to her bed for a period of rest.

Mrs. James G. Metcalfe will spend this week-end attending the annual and famous Bach festival, which takes place in Bethlehem, Pa. Mrs. Metcalfe will visit in Pottsville, Pa., which is in easy motoring distance of the great musical center.

Mrs. William B. Usilton, III, plans to leave the 10th fo June for a six weeks' visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hover Perry at their home in Ventura, California.

Mrs. Don T. Falls, Jr., is enjoying a visit with relatives and friends in Virginia, Washington and Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Norris, of Still Pond, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Cornelius, to Dr. Richard S. Owens, Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Owens, of Roanoke, Va. The wedding will take place on June 7 here.

And now, although lacking a crystal ball, and pretending no powers of a medium, I have told you of the past, present and future. You didn't have to pay a dollar either, nor be scared to death by dim lights and heavy draperies. Pay me by sending me some news, each week. Those who do, I thank and to those who will, I shall also express gratitude.

Yours waiting,

THE WANDERER

FARM BUREAU PLANS SERIES OF MEETINGS

Shore Sessions At Denton And Salisbury

Farm Bureau and cooperative farm organization leaders in all sections of Maryland will gather at their annual series of early summer meetings starting next Monday. Announcement of the schedule of meetings has just been made by President Harry H. Nuttle, o fthe Maryland Farm Bureau to include six sectional gatherings.

The meetings are arranged primarily to review the growth of cooperative insurance in the state, according to Mr. Nuttle's announcement, but will include discussions of all cooperative development. A similar series has been held annually for several years, preceding an annual June competition among cooperative agents of the farm bureau throughout the state. The schedule of meetings include the following, all of which will start with an evening dinner:

Monday, May 31, Patterson Hotel, Hagerstown.

Tuesday, June 1, Odd Fellows Hall, Mt. Airy.

Wednesday, June 2, Marlboro Hotel, Upper Marlboro.

Thursday, June 3, Korner Restaurant, Bel Air.

Friday, June 4, Community Hall, Denton.

Monday, June 7, Chantry House, Salisbury.

President Nuttle, Secretary C. E. Wise, Jr., of the farm bureau, and Zach Turner, Jr., M. J. Morrison, William Lowe, and others from the cooperative insurance department of the farm bureau, as well as local farm bureau leaders will speak at the various meetings. Last year meetings of the series averaged nearly sixty in attendance.

The meetings are held, according to Mr. Nuttle, to arrange closer correlation of various cooperative and farm organization activities in the State of Maryland.
