WIND STORM DOES DAMAGE HERE

Damaged Power Lines Causes Fire Alarm

A heavy wind storm hit Kent County at 5 p. m. Tuesday damaging a number of farm buildings and breaking off trees in all parts of the county.

Among the outbuildings damaged were a roof on the cow stable on the farm of Mr. Robert Wallis in Morgneck and outbuildings on the farm of Mr. Carl Myers.

In Chestertown a large tree on South Princess street was blown over on a colored house which was on the opposite side of the street. The tree mashed the high voltage lines going into Quaker Neck down on the corugated iron roof causing a short circuit which turned out the fire department. Due to the high voltage on the line and the iron roof firemen did not use any water but stood by and waited until the lines could be cut. The roof of the house was damaged by the falling tree.

STATE TRAFFIC TOLL INCREASING

May Report Shows Faulty Driving Causes Most Deaths

The total numbr eof fatal accidents for the State of Maryland for the first five (5) months of 1937 has increased to 40.7 percent over the corresponding period of 1936 as the tabulation by months will show:

	1936	1937
January	26	67
February	28	37
March	20	45
Aprli	40	29
May	31	36
Total:	145	214

The most revealing and important FACT that the report for May discloses is that (15) or 42 percent of the persons killed were Operators of the vehicles involved in these accidents, (12) or 33 percent were Pedestrians, and (9) or 25 25 percent were passengers, thus, you can readily see that the operators themselves paid with their lives to help swell this ever amounting total.

So far this year 25 children under fourteen years of age have lost their lives due to motor vehicle accidents. Vacation time for school children is very nearly at hand, and Walter R. Rudy, Commissioner of Motor Vehicle comments as follows: "I would impress again upon every motorist to do his part by being more on the alert and to slow down when he sees children at play, and to impress upon the teachers and the parents of our future generation the necessity of playing safe as well as picking a safe place to play somewhere other than on our busy streets and highways."

Another important fact brought out in the May report is that the large majority of fatal accidents occured on straight dry roads which brings out strongly the responsibility of the driver or pedestrian and can not be blamed in slippery roads or blinding rain.

The report shows that there were an equal number of fatal accidents during the day-light as during the night. Of the 36 deaths 24 were in automobiles and 12 were pedestrians. Of the 24 motorists killed 15 were driving at the time of the accident.

Fatal accidents on Sundays lead with 9 deaths although Thursdays come a close second with 7. The hours of the day during which these accdinets occur is fairly evenly distributed although from 5 to 6 p. m. lead with 5 deaths.

There is little question but that the placing of haste above injury and death on the part of motorists and pedestrians is responsible for the continually growing death rate from automobile accidents.

To quality for old-age benefits a worker need not be employed continuously. The wages received during his monthly benefits check, which each period of employment from each will go to him as a matter of right when he becomes eligible.

"The youthfulness of a worker does not enter into the question. Nor does it matter that a job may be a temporary one, or an extra job, 'on the side'. Unless the employment is specifically excepted in the Social Scurity Act the worker have a Social Security Account Number and his employer is liable for payment of the taxes levied in the Act.
