KENT COUNTY TO BID FOR FISHING FAIR NEXT SUMMER AT ROCK HALL

County-Wide Popularity Contest Planned To Finance Promotional Activities

Doc Brinsfield To Broadcast Next Tuesday, Aug. 3

Efforts are being made to bring the annual Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair to Kent County in 1938. This annual affair attracts hundreds of sport fishermen from many neighboring States and is considered one of the outstanding sporting events on the bay.

The fishing fair this year will be held of Solomon's Island on September 18th and 19th and the promotors of the effort to bring it to Kent County next year are planning to conduct the campaign at that time. Plans call for chartering a boat, equipped with a loud speaker and a stringed band to held the promotional activities. Dr. W. S. Brinsfield, of Rock Hall, an official of the Fishing Fair Association will head the Kent County committee.

In order to help finance the work of the committee, a county-wide popularity contest and although if the fair comes here next year it will be held at Rock Hall, it will be of county interest and the cooperation of the entire county is expected.

A series of broadcasts are being arranged to promote the interest in the Fishing Fair this year and next Tuesday Doc Birnsfield will be the broadcasting artist. Doc will talk over W F B R, Baltimore at 6.35 p. m., Eastern standard time, on the subject of "Chesapeake Bay Guides, Trophies and Prizes."

BIRTHS EXCEED DEATHS IN MD.

Semi-Annual Health Report Submitted

The semi-annual report prepared by the Bureau of Vintal Statistics of the State Department of Health shows that there were over 1,700 more births than deaths reported in the State during the first six months of this year. There were 13,438 births reported and 11,705 deaths, in comparison with 13,553 births and 11,534 deaths during the first six months of 1936.

The distribution for the six months in 1937 was as follows: Births: Baltimore City, 5,947; the Counties, 7,491. Deaths: 6,059 in Baltimore City and 5,646 in the Counties. Considered in relations to population, there were 13 deaths which were offset by 15 births in each thousand of the total population.

More than half of the deaths 6,334 or 54 per cent of the total number recorded, were due to what are known as the degenerative diseases of middle life and old age. Heart disease led the group with 2,765 deaths; nephritis came next with 1,268 deaths; cancer was third with 1,096 deaths. There were 979 deaths from cerebral hemorrhage, and 226 from diabetes.

The pneumonias and tuberculosis were responsible for 2,163 deaths—pneumonia for 1,427 and tuberculosis for 736 or 18 per cent of the total.

One death in every sixteen 6 per cent of the total, was due to accidents of some sort. Motor vehicle accidents were responsible for 243 deaths. Nearly twice as many 478 were due to injuries incurred in some other way. Deaths from the causes mentioned above, the degenerative diseases, the pneumonias, tuberculosis, and accidents—constituted over three fourths of the deaths from all causes and at all ages in the State.

The semi-annual record of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases shows that 39,523 cases of notifiable diseases were reported to the Department during the first six months of 1937, 25,394 from Baltimore City and 14,129 from the Counties, in comparison with 28,563 for the first half of 1936 when 17,349 cases were reported from Baltimore City and 11,214 from the Counties. The increase in the current year was due largely to increases in measles of which 12,069 cases were reported from the State within the past six months, in comparison with 6,373 cases during the corresponding period of 1936, and to increases in whooping cough and chickenpox.

The venereal diseases, syphilis with 4,631 cases and gonorrhea, with 1,586 cases; influenza, with 3,284, the pneumonias with 2,426 cases and tuberculosis, with 1,659 cases, were charged with one third of the sickness from notifiable diseases reported during the first half of the current year. The 12,069 cases of measles reported and scarlet fever, of which 1,159 cases were reported, added another third. The remainder was scattered among the other reportable diseases.

Included in the total were 116 cases of Vincent's angina, 9 of pellagra, 7 of malaria, 9 of tularemia (rabbit fever), 12 of Rocky Mountain spotted fever (tick bite fever), and 14 of undulant fever. Only one case of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) was reported during the six months.

Celebrates 70th Birthday

Mr. T. R. Starr, of Pomona, celebrated his 70th birthday, July 19th. Seven of his 8 children and eleven of his seventeen grandchildren gathered to surprise him, after dinenr. Cake and ice cream was served to the following, who wished him 70 more summers. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Starr and two children and niece, Helen Frederick, Mr. Sherman Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Star and son, Mr. and Mrs. George Grussing and 3 children, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starr and 2 sons, Mrs. Rose McMullen and 2 children and Miss Daisy Starr.

Literally, millions of workers will be used at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. They will work a 24-hour shift without pay. They are microbes which when placed in the proper medium will transform waste into useful articles, such as medicine, fabrics, explosives and perfumes.

SAYS NYA PROJECT VALUABLE ASSET

Youth Training Project In Effect Here

County Agent, J. D. McVean, states that the National Youth Administration Project, under which he has the services of htree girls, is of great value to him and to the girls.

The project is designed to give training and experience to unskilled, unemployed youth between the ages of 18 and 25 years to the end that they may qualify for regular employment when positions are available.

In the Kent Project, the girls render clerical assistance in many lines thus enabling the office to keep abreast of its many activities.

The girls have been busy as bees with worthwhile activities in connection with the Aerial Survey pictures, the Agricultural Conservation program, and phases of County Agent work which would never be completed without their help. The girls learn to operate office equipment, such as addressograph machinefi mineograph, adding machine, cut stencils, do copying, typing, take dictation, compile and tabulate data, check mailing lists, compiled a directory of farmers in which a farm numbering system is used as the equvalent of house numbers. They have assembled many aerial photographs to make an aerial map of Kent County. On this may the farm numbers and the boundaries of each farm are recorded. A cross index has been compiled on which the names of people associated with farming, the farm numbers and the serial numbers which identify participants in the Agricultural Conservation program are recorded. These supplemental services are of much value in facilitating action in this very busy office.

Mr. McVean is very complimentary in regard the morale and interest shown by these girls, the quality and quantity of the work done. The small wage the girls receive is incidental as compared with the value of the training and experience they receive. They will be ready for regular full-time jobs when opportunity presents. The NYA is a godsend to such worthy unemployed youngsters.

PLANNING TEN TON TOMATO CONTEST

Entries Should Be Made Soon—Kent Farmers May Enroll

The enrollment date for the tenth annual Maryland Ten-Ton Tomato Club Contest has been extended until August 15 and any growers desiring to enroll should notify their respective county agents before that date, according to Herman A. Hunter, canning crops specialist for the University of Maryland Extension Service. The Contest is sponsored by the Extension Service in cooperation with the Tri-State Packers' Association and is open to all growers in Maryland. Two acres is the minimum that may be entered by any one grower in the contest.

Th contest will be divided into two parts; the first part being devoted to growers having from two to five acres, and the second part, to growers having in excess of five acres. Prizes of gold watches and fertilizer will be awarded the growers making the highest yields in each group and all growers producing 10 or more tons of tomatoes to the acre will receive certificates of membership in the Ten-Ton Tomato Club. All growers entering the contest are urged to keep careful receipts of all tomatoes sold. The yields are determined from these receipts and acreage measurements and no credit can be given if these are not available.

The object of the Ten-Ton Tomato Club is to encourage production of higher yields of tomatoes per acre, according to Mr. Hunter. He points out that in general a higher yield means better quality tomatoes, resulting in increased profits for the grower.

Kent farmers desiring to compete should send their name to the County Agent. Last year, John W. Biggers and William Edward Greenwood made splendid yields but were not among the prize winners.

PASSENGER BOAT BURNS IN BAY

Rock Hall Watermen Cross Bay To Aid

A number of boats from Rock Hall manned by watermen from that town went across the bay Thursday evening to aid in the rescue of passengers on the Old Bay Line boat "City of Baltimore" which burned near Seven Foot Knoll light. Mr. William Blakeney, of Chestertown, was fishing, near Rock Hall when he saw the flames. The party he was with came ashore, got a larger boat due to the heavy seas, and went across the bay.

Mr. Blakney stated that when they arrived the steamer was burned to the water's edge and fire boats were battling the flames. He said that there were a large number of small boats and a fw large boats standing by. A heavy sea was running at the time. Passengers in other boats from Rock Hall told the same story as by the time they made the run across the bay all the passengers had been picked up.

A description by passengers on the bay liner stated that after donning life preservers they were compelled to jump overboard. The list of casualties was not complete at the time of going to press. The boat carried a crew of 53 and had 100 passengers aboard.
