THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

Well, how do you do? Yes, your old friend The Wanderer is back home and the day after her return, here at her desk trying to settle down to routine once again. It's not so easy either, for having forgotten all care for ten days in the heart of the Berkshires, to overnight get into harness and assume all duties, gives one a slight jolt.

I've been hearing of all your big doings last week-end and it sounds as if the Regatta and its accompanying festivities was the best yet. You were at the dances, so I am sure you can tell me more about them than I can tell you. Therefore, I'll relate the items I've heard in these past 18 hours since my arrival, and if you already know about them, skip it.

Parties on the side were much in evidence, it seems. Mrs. Morton Cole, of Philadelphia, entertained at luncheon, on Saturday, about forty-five guests aboard her yacht, which was here for the week-end. Half of the guests were from town, while the others were from visiting yachts.

Miss Margaret Jefferson was hostess at a dinner party Friday evening at the Lotus Inn before the dance at the Country Club.

Col. and Mrs. I. Price Ewing entertained yachting officials at their home following the completion of the races of the regatta on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wroth Stavely entertained at their home in Lynch, Saturday evening, prior to the dance.

Miss Helen Simpers was hostess to a number of friends at a party before the Saturday evening dance, at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Simpers.

Miss Frederica Metcalfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Metcalfe, entertained at a buffet supper last Friday evening for a party of about twenty.

That about winds up those of the week-end, but while I am on the subject of parties, I might as well tell you of the three this week. The largest was a most beautiful tea given by Mr. and Mrs. William Clarke Grieb on Wednesday from 4 until 6 to meet Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Watson, who have recently purchased the former Baker estate. Everyone has told me how charming they were and I'm sorry I was a few hours too late to go.

On Thursday, Mrs. William Paca entertained at the second of a series of luncheon at the Lotus Inn. Miss Dorothy Paca, well-konwn concert artist, is the guest of her mother and father.

That same afternoon Miss Fannie Hartman, Mrs. Ives Leonard, and Mrs. Alice Holmes. Entertained at tea in honor of Mrs. J. B. Whitworth.

On Friday, Mrs. Dorsey Hines was hostess at a luncheon at her home, Riverside.

Saturday, to-day, is the wedding day of Miss Mary Jo Wheatley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wheatley, and Mr. Thomas Fritz Moyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tilghman H. Moyer. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of white satin, a veille of tulle and will carry a corsage of gardenias. The Maid of Honor, Miss Elizabeth Wheatley, will wear a gown of apricot chiffon and carry delphinium and blue orchids. The four bridesmaids who will be gowned in powder blue chiffon carrying talismen roses include: Miss Lois Baxter, Miss Anna Brown, Miss Margaret Wanderer, and Miss Miriam Ford.

Mr. Moyer will have his brother, Mr. Tilghman Moyer, Jr., as his bestman and his ushers will be: Messrs. Don Kidd, of Montclair, N. J., Edward Conklin, of New York, Howard Drew, of Baltimore, and Charles F. Wheatley, Jr., brother of the bride.

The flower girl will be little Mary Harris, of Gloucester Pt., Va., who will wear a peach colored dress carrying a basket of roses and delphinuim.

The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock at Chirst M. P. Church with the Rev. Doc. Leonard B. Smith, pastor of Edmondson Avenue M. P. Church, Baltimore, assisted by the Rev. W. P. Roberts, (followed by a reception, etc.)

Now, let's look around the town and see who's here and who is not. The trend seems to hover North, quite naturally, and motor trips the ideal way to go.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Kibler, Mrs. Phil G. Wilmer and Mrs. James G. Metcalfe left on Monday, motoring to Canada, stopping at Lake Champlayne to visit Jack Kibler, who is in camp there.

Mrs. J. D. Bacchus and Mrs. Karl Melamet are touring the New England States and will visit on their trip, Karl Melamet at Camp Red Cloud in New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Perkins are spending a fortnight in Pittsfield, Mass., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Stone. I left them well and happy.

Mrs. Frank B. Hines left on Friday for Ridgefield, Conn., to be the guest for a week or more of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Curry.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Strong and son, are on a motor trip to Maine and other New England states.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huey and Mr. and Mrs. Rollison Baxter left Sunday on a motor trip to Lake George and Lake Placid.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones and daughter left this week for a motor vacation, touring in the New England States.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Roberts will leave Monday for Lake George where they will spend a week.

Mrs. Ida Skipper Holden has been visiting relatives in Baltimore.

Enough, enough, it makes me want to go back. So turning to those at hand we have or have had as visitors within the past week, Mrs. Alland B. Harris, of Beverly Hills, California, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Allan A. Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas, of Hartford, Conn., who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thomas; Miss Ellne Skinner, of Bronxville, N. Y., who will remain here this month, visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Metcalfe; Mr. Eric H. Wood, of New York, a guest last week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Usilton; Mr. Louis L. Goldstein, of Prince Frederick, Md., a guest of S. Scott Beck, last week-end; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dent, of New York, week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John B. DeCoursey; and Mr. and Mrs. McGrath, of East Orange, N. J., guest of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Mead. (Mr. McGrath, by the way is the artist of the portraits in Hodson Hall.)

If I thought some more, I could go on and on, but bags must be unpacked, and all the uninteresting chores that encircle the return home take precedence this time.

Yours at work,

THE WANDERER

An Essay On Success

(By Jocelyn Branham)

Of all the irritating splinters that go to build the social cross there is none I resent more than the complacent phrases, "The world owes me a living," and "I've a right—." It is jargon. It s 'a tale told by an idiot, signifying nothing.' Countless times I have heard, "I did not ask to be born; now I am here the world owes me occupation—a job and a good time." Does not the inanity of the phrase strke even the fool who says it? "I am twenty-one. I have a right to do as I please."..... I grit my teeth.

How can the world, an inanimate term, have a debt? How can the personification of a senseless force be held up for a job? It cannot, yet numberless men and women are miserable in their self-pity because the world has not swung from its orbit to present them occupation, wrapped in cellephane. And as for the assumption of a right—it is meaningless. One who assumes a right assumes with it a position in the society of the world, for rights belong only to him who is self-supporting and sane. The assumption of that position is imaginary, therefore the assumption of a right is nil. Yet the man or woman who states that fact is firm in his belief that he has a right to do as he pleases—not because he has earned it, not because he has worked for it—oh, no, but mrely because he has been born!

It is an inbred laziness that has initiataed these ageless, senseless questions. The fools sit back and wait for the world to come to them. They perhaps in that scource of brilliant take on the heavy burden of their ideas—the bathtub. The thief who rights in a moment of inspiration—steals a thousand dollars has more nerve, more common sense than the man who asserts he has a right to it. The robber at least realizes the platitude of the assertion. Think of the man who lies on his couch with a particularly absorbing detective story and says, "Something will turn up." Stupid, you say? Why, the man's a moron! Does he—can he possibily—expect opportunity to sift gently through the pages of his book?

Society has nothing more to offer than opportunity—which is sufficient. Its members have given life and the essentials for the preservations of that lif. To the fool who has leaped from his bath to assume his rights I say, "WORK! Through that medium, and that medium only, can you obtain any rights, any position in society. Who cares if you get blisters on your hands? There is need for men in the world. Get up, and try to fill the order!"

ROCK HALL

Wesley Chapel Sunday School had a fine attendance last Sunday morning. There was a very pretty solo by Mrs. Cary Thumblert. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Lynch and was followed by the Administration of Holy Communion.

Mr. Edward Stevens had charge of the evening service. The topic, "The Universe God Made," was discussed by Mrs. A. N. Stubblebine, Mr. Stevens and Mr. Ralph Bean. Rev. Lynch gave an address on "Who Made God?" There was scripture reading by Miss Louise Coleman, a piano solo by Miss Evelyn Townsend, accordian solo, "Sunrise by, Jesse Downey; A duet by Jean Bean and Roberta Townshend, Mrs. Edward Stevens read a poem.

Among the many present at Rock Hall M. E. Church Sunday morning was his Excellency Harry W. Nice, Governor of Maryland, Mrs. Nice, their son, Mr. Harry Clay Nice, a sister, Miss Mae Nice, and a nephew, Mr. Deely K. Nice, also the Governor's Aide Sergeant M. Katz, Capt. Creighton and a party of personal friends. There was a fine sermon delivered by Rev. George Newton, on "New Standards' of Life Brought By Jesus." The choir rendered "Praise The Lord." Mrs. Irving Crouch and Mrs. Elwood Taylor sang "A Dream of Paradise."

The evening service was in charge of Mrs. Irving Crouch's class. The program was read by Mamie Rodney, a duet by Mrs. William Edwards and daughter, Miss Ella, entitled "Jesus Remember Me," prayer, by Mr. Stanly Grant, a trio "Let The Lower Lights Be Burning," by the Parson's brothers, Scripture by Betty Jacob and a solo "In The Garden" by Gladys Crowding were all enjoyed.

Rev. W. A. Donnaway, of Delmar, visited many friends in the community Monday. He brought his wife and son to Tolchester enroute to Westminister where Walter Jr., will attend the Young People's Conference of the M. P. Church.

Capt. and Mrs. Frank Akers had as a guest last week, Mr. Charles Rodenli, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Carrie Randall and daughter, Dorothy, of Philadelphia, visited Mrs. Orin Downey and Mrs. Frank Satterfield recently.

Mr. James Taylor has been quite sick at his home here.

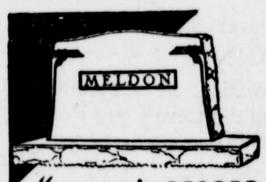

Mr. and Mrs. John Diekel and daughter are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coleman are entertaining Mrs. Walter Dashiell and three children of Baltimore.

Miss Thelma Jones, of Broad Neck, was week end guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elburn.

Mrs. Susie Jones has returned from Baltimore where she spent several weeks. While there she underwent an operation for Cataract on an eye. We are glad to hear that she is much improved.

Miss Geraldine Hammacker, of Baltimore, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hogans and family.
